The Labour Party in Poplar.

Founded and Edited by SYLVIA PANKHURST

VOL. VIII. No. 14.

SATURDAY, JUNE 18TH, 1921.

[WEEKLY.] PRICE TWOPENCE.

BUILDING THE CITY OF TO-MORROW.

(An Extract from "Monsieur Bergeret a Paris," by Anatole France of the French Academy and an adherent to the Communist International.)

Mr. Bergeret said to his daughter: "I have just committed a sin: I have given alms. In giving a penny to Clopinel, I have tasted the shameful joy of humiliating my kind. I have assented to the odious pact which assures to the strong their power and their weakness to the weak; I have sealed with my seal the ancient iniquity; I have contributed to that which has left this man with but half his soul."

"You have done all that, father?" asked Pauline incredulously.

"Almost all that," replied Mr. Bergeret. "I have sold fraternity to my brother Clopinel by false measure. I have humiliated myself in having humiliated him; for almsgiving degrades equally he who receives and he who gives. 1 have done wrong."

"I don't think so," said Pauline.

"You don't think so," replied Mr. Bergeret, "because you have no phlosophy, and you do not know how to draw from an action, which is innocent in appearance, the infinite consequences it imports. This Clopinnel has induced me to give alms. I have not been able to resist the importunity of his complaining voice. I have pitied his thin neck without a collar; his knees, that the trousers strained by too long usage, have rendered like the knees of a camel; his feet, at the end of which the shoes go with open beaks, like a couple of ducks. Seducer! O dangerous clopinel! Delicious Clopinel! Through thee my halfpenny produces a little baseness, a little shame. Through thee, by means of a halfpenny, I have constituted a particle of evilness and ugline ness. In transmitting to thee this little symbol sit of wealth and power, I have ironically made thee a capitalist and have brought thee as a guest without honour to the banquet of society, to the festivals of civilisation. And immediately I felt I was myself one of the powerful ones of this world; one of the rich, in comparison with thee; amiable Clopinel, exquisite mendicant, flatterer! I am rejoiced, I am puffed up with pride, I am complaisant in my opulence and my grandeur. See, O Clopinel!"

"Execrable practice of almsgiving! Barbarous

Ancient error of the bourgeois, who gives a halfpenny and thinks he does good, and who then believes himself quit in relation to all his brothers, by the most miserable, the most clumsy, the most ridiculous, and the stupidest, meanest act of all that are possible of accomplishment from the point of view of an improved distribution of wealth. This custom of giving alms is incompatible with beneficence and an abomination to

"Is it so?" asked Pauline eagerly.

"The giving of alms," pursued Mr. Bergeret, "is no more comparable to beneficence than the grinning of a monkey resembles the smile of La Gioconda. Beneficence is as ingenious as almsgiving is inept. Beneficence is wigilant, and proportions its effort to the need. It is precisely this that I have not done towards my brother Clopinel. The very name of beneheence awakened the gentlest thoughts in the tender souls of the century of philosophers. It has been thought that this epithet was created by the good Abbot of St. Peter's. But it has an earlier origin, as it is already found in the works of old Balzac. . . . I admit that I do not find in this word 'beneficence' its original beauty; it has been spoilt by the Pharisees, who have used it too much. We have in our presentday society, many establishments of beneficencepawnbrokers,* insurance societies, mutual benefit clubs. Some few are useful and render service. Their common vice is that of arising from the social iniquity they are appointed to reform; that of being contaminated medicaments. The universal benificence is that each one lives by his work, and not by the work of others. Apart from mutual co-operation and solidarity, all is vile, shameful and barren. Human charity is the joining of all mankind in the production and sharing of the fruit of toil.

AMRITSAR THE SECOND.

"It is justice; it is love, and the poor are more apt in its practice than the rich. What rich men ever exercised the charity of the human race as fully as Epictetus or Bernard Malon?† True charity is the gift to all of the labour of each one, it is the harmonious gesture of the soul, that empties itself, like a vase full of spikenard, and pours itself out in good deeds; it is Michael Angelo painting the Sistine Chapel; it is the Members of the National Assembly, on the night of August 4th; it is the gift, overflowing in its happy abundance, the money running pell-mell with love and thoughtfulness. Nothing is ours but ourselves. One gives truly only when one gives one's work, ones soul, one's genius. And this magnificent offering of his whole self to all mankind enriches the giver as much as the community."

"But," objected Pauline, "you could not give love and beauty to Clopinel. You have given him what was more suitable to him."

"It is true that Clopinel has become a degraded creature. Of all the good things that may give pleasure to a man, he has a taste for none but alcohol. I knew it by his smell of brandy when he approached me. But such as he is, he is our creation. Our pride was his father; our iniquity his mother. He is the evil fruit of our vices. Everyone in society ought to give and to receive. This one has not given enough, undoubtedly because he has not received enough."

"He is lazy, perhaps," said Pauline. "What, indeed, shall we do, that there may no longer be the poor, the weak and the lazy? Do you believer that people are naturally good, and that it is society which makes them bad?"

"No, I do not think that men are naturally good," replied Mr. Bergeret. "I see, rather, that they arise painfully, and little by little. from original barbarism, and that they organise, only at the expense of great effort, a justice uncertain and a precarious good. The time is still far off when they will be kind and beneficent towards each other. The day is distant when they will make no more war between themselves, and when pictures of battles will be hidden from sight as immoral and offering a shameful spectacle. I believe that the reign of violence will endure a long time yet, and that still for long will the peoples rend each other for trivial reasons; for long will the citizens of the same nation furiously snatch from each other the means of existence, instead of sharing them equitably. But I also believe that people are less ferocious when they are less miserable; that the development of industry produces, in the long run, some softening in manners, and I have learnt from the botanist, that the hawthorn, transplanted from a harsh to a fertile soil, changes its thorns into flowers."

"There you are! You are an optimist, father! I always knew you were!" cried Pauline, stopping in the middle of the pavement to fix for a moment upon her father the regard of her dawngrey eyes, full of soft light and morning freshness. "You are an optimist; you work with enthusiasm to build the city of the future. That is just what you do. It is beautiful to construct, together with the people of goodwill, the new republic."

Mr. Bergeret smiled at this word of hope, at those eyes of dawn.

"Yes," said he, "it would be beautiful to establish the new society, where each one would receive the price of his toil."

"That will come, will it not. . . But when?" asked Pauline, not without simplicity.

And Mr. Bergeret answered, with a tone of gentleness and sadness in his voice.

"Do not ask me to prophecy, my child. It was not without reason that the ancients considered the power of seeing into the future to be the most fatal gift that a man could receive. If it were possible to us to foresee what will happen, there would be nothing left to us but to die, and perhaps we should succumb, struck down by misery and fear. One must build up the future as the weavers do their tapestry-without seeing * Run by the French Government. They are supposed to benefit the poor. They provide revenue for the State.

+ Benoit Malon, a printer's apprentice at the time of the Paris Commune, in which he suffered. He became one of the ablest Social writers of his time, published several books and started a Socialist they went. Before the square of the Rue de body deprived of intelligence. Very well: Sèvres, they met a beggar solidly planted on the if he is the mind, let it be contented with that pavement.

"I have no more money," said Mr. Bergeret. "Have you sixpence to give me, Pauline? This hand bars my path. Even in the great expanse of the Place de la Concord this hand would stop me. The outstretched arm of an unfortunate is a barrier that I do not know how to pass. is a weakness that I cannot vanquish. Give something to this vagrant. It is pardonable to do so. One must not exaggerate the harm one can do by it.'

"Father, I am anxious to know what you will do with Clopinel, in the new republic; for you do not imagine that he will live by the fruits of his toil?"

"My daughter," replied Mr. Bergeret, "1 body." think that he will consent to disappear. He is already much diminished. Idleness and the love said Pauline quietly. of rest dispose him for the final fading away. He will easily return into nothingness."

"I think, on the contrary, that he is fully content to live."

"It is time that he has his joys. To him, it is delicious to swallow the poisons of the taproom. He will disappear with the last public house. There will no longer be wine merchants in my republic. There will be neither buyers nor sellers. There will be neither rich nor poor, and each one will enjoy the fruits of his work."

"We shall all be happy, father?"

"No, the holy pity that produces beauty of soul would perish at the moment when suffering died, and that will not be. Moral and physical ills. constantly fought against, will continue days. Sorrow is necessary. It has, like happiness, its profound source in life, and the one can never be dried up without the other. We are only happy because we are unhappy. Sorrow is sister to joy, and their twin breaths as they pass our heart-strings, make them resound harmoniously. The breath of happiness alone would give forth a tediously monotonous sound like silence. But to the inevitable ills, to those ills, at once vulgar and august, which result from the human state, there will no longer be added artificial evils which result from our social condition. Men will no longer be deformed by iniquitous toil of which they die rather than live. The slave will come out from the galley, and the factory will no longer devour human bodies by the million.

"This deliverance I expect from the machine. Machinery, which has broken multitudes of men, will come gently and generously to the aid of tender human flesh. The machine, at first cruel and hard, will become good and genial, a friend. How will it change its soul? Listen: the spark that rushed out from the bottle of Leyde; the small, subtle star which, in the last century, revealed itself to the wondering physicist, will accomplish this prodigy. The unknown, which has itself be vanquished without letting itself be known; the force mysterious and captive; the nothing was too difficult for me, because I believed intangible seized in our hands; the docile thunder, bottled up and divided amongst the innumerable wires that cover the earth with their net: electricity, will bring its force, its assistance anywhere it is wanted. In homes, in rooms, at the hearth, where the father, the mother and the children will no longer be separated. It is by no means a dream. The hideous machine which now in the factories destroys flesh and soul, will become domesticated, familiar and friendly. But it is nothing, no it is nothing that the pulleys and gears, the cranks and the flying wheels become humanised, if man retains a heart of iron.

"We desire, we expect a change still more marvellous. A day will come when the master, rising to moral beauty, will become a worker among the enfranchised workers; when there will no longer be wages, but an exchange of goods. Big industry, like the old aristocracy, which it replaces and imitates, will have its Fourth of August. It will abandon its disputed profits and its menaced privileges. It will become generous when it feels it is time to do so. What does the master say to-day? He says he is the intelligence and the leading spirit, and that with-

Thus the father and daughter conversed as out him the army of the workers will be as a honour and that joy. Is it necessary, because he is the thought and the mind, that he should gorge himself with riches? When the great Donatello was casting, with his co-workers, a bronze statue, he was the soul of the work. The price that he received, either from the prince or from the citizen, he used to put in a basket, which was hoisted by a pulley fixed to a joist of the workshop. Each worker untied the rope in his turn, and took from the basket according to his needs. Is not the joy of intelligent production enough in itself, and should his advantage free the master from the obligation to share profits with his humble co-workers? But in my republic there will be no more profits, no more wages, and everything will belong to every-

"Father, that is Communism, you know,"

WORLD CONFERENCE of the IRISH RACE

The Irish Self-Determination League of Great Britain, acting on the suggestion of the Irish Republican Association of South Africa, has taken the first steps for the organising of a Conference of Representatives of the Irish race throughout the

An Organising Secretary is about to take offices in Paris. It is hoped that there will be representatives of the Self-Determination League from each of the Provinces in Canada and Newfoundland, from the State divisions of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa: from each of the States of the American Republic, representing the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic: from the Argentine, Chile, Bolivia and other States in South America, as well as representatives of the without cease to share with happiness and joy old Irish blood in Spain, Austria, France, Italy, the empire of the earth as the nights succeed the and other European countries, with, of course, re-

LIFE OF A GERMAN COMMUNIST WOMAN

As one of a family of six, with a wiclowed mother. I soon learnt to bear privations of all' kinds. I was obliged to work from my fifth year. Even at five years of age I haad to be able to knit a stocking entirely. No childish games for me. Life was serious, cold and dull. I received a strictly religious education and soon began to have all kinds of thoughts about things which seemed

My mother's age was undermined at an early age owing to constant want; and privations. Consequently the children out of school had to earn odd pennies and bring them home. Often while I was doing some dull mechanical work my thoughts wandered to some book, or to some castle in the air, and I soon discovered the hypocrisy of the heaven-designed "order of society." That house of cards built on lies and deceit soon fell down, so I left the Church at the age of 17. The fight for knowledge which in me replaced religion lasted twented years, until I came upon Socialism, because hoped thereby to see the emancipation of the exploited and enslaved workers. Then came the world war and destroyed in me all living hope. because then Socialists fought against Socialists. recovered, however, from the blow, and when the U.S.P.D. (Independent Socialist Party of Germany) arose I joined it, working and fighting ; hat I hads truck the right path. Soon I was again in doubt and I realised that for freeing my class from all want we must carry on a ruthless fight against the ruling class, and just this the U.S.P. kept putting on one side. When the question came linking up the Left Wing of the U.S.P. with the Communists, I was one of the first to take the step. Now I am a Communist, and feel more than ever how painful it, is to have so little knowledge with which to serve my class. In May. 1920. I was put on the list of the U.S.P.D. for the Constituent Assembly. Now I am a member of the Fraction of the V.K.P.D. in the Volkstag of the Free State of Danzig.

TO MINERS' WIVES.

Well done, miners' wives. You are showing solidarity. We hope that some of you will write to us and tell us what you think of the class war

BADGES.

SOVIET ARMS, in gilt on red enamel, 1s. 3d. and 9d. each, 12s. and 6s. per dozen.-Apply. Manager, "Workers' Dreadnought," 152, Fleet Street, E.C. 4.

ASK YOUR COALITION MATES ABOUT IT

What do its supporters say to the fact th Lloyd George's Government published last wee a White Paper purporting to be a Treaty between the Bossian Soviet Government and Sinn Fein now that the thing turns out to be a fabrication

Mr. Winston Churchill once tried to explai away one of his lies by calling it a terminologic inexactitude, but that description can hardly

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Workers' Dreadnought. of Communists to what in my opinion constitutes a very real menace to our movement. I refer to the actions of the so-called religious fraternity creep in the socialist movement, and as a Communist say that it will spell ruination to Communist they are allowed to influence the worker. Co. munism has nothing in common with the dope to is served out in the churches to-day, and as an An parliamentarian I say "shun the bible-thumpers as emphatically as I would say "shun the ballok-I am sorry to see the "Communist" tak on the religious stunt (as witness this week's fi page cartoon), and unless religion is cut right of of the party paper, I think it will lose a lot of its most conscientious, supporters. Yours fraternally,

R. J. STAPLE. 18, Richmond Street,

To the Editor of the Workers' Dreadnought.

Dear Comrade, As a constant reader of Workers' Dreadnought" will you kindly allow a short space in the columns of your paper in drawing the attention of your readers and yourself that short item about the "Red Vicar." It seems hardly consistent for a Communist econcile the teachings of Christianity with that Communism. Communism is necessarily non-religion one. The so-called "Christian Communists" or Communist who believe in religion refuse to accept to Materialist conception of history" which alo explains the trend of economic and historical of tent, and how various existing institutions e BE ACTIVE. in existence. Some of them go so far as to repu the class struggle, believing they can reconcile

These people to my mind are not Communists b Utopians and Dreamers and therefore detrimen to the Communist movement as they dish out stu which is contrary to science and readon. I therefore say that all persons claiming to antagonism within the present system by a message

Communists and refusing to accept-(1) The Materialist Conception of History,

(2) The Class Struggle, from Christ or the New Testament.

(3) The Theory of Surplus Value, anyone of these three points are not Communi

Yours for Communism, M. GOLDBERG Green Lanes, London, N. 4.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

W. & E. A. Guelke (Barcelona). - Many thanks greetings received on coming out of prison. A.W. (Whitechapel), You will notice in another p that our rates for display Ads. are 5s.

col, inch. You and your friends can grea assist the paper by getting local traders to space in our-your-paper. You need not b afraid that Ads. will take up space devoted propaganda. As it is we give every week square inches of closely printed matter, as teresting and educative as we can make Measure any other paper and see the difference Should Ads, come in with a rush we shall incre two pages. You will also notice that the charg for "smalls" is the usual penny per word. you have a friend with a gramophone, a camer a few books to sell, or one desirous to buy s a byke, a Rolls-Royce, a pair of boots (la nines), tell him to invest a few coppers small, and soon a letter will inform him of Comrade willing to barter, sell or buy. J. Mechan and W. J. Braddock.-Many thanks increased order and promise to get rid of their Stanley. Glad to hear you can sell some literature. We will send it.

J. Bernstein.—Thanks for gift and good wishes. Ethel Lewis.—Thanks for increased order for Dreadnought. We want more sellers like you. Morgan.-Your promise to order more Dreadnoughts as soon as miners return is good. Many thanks, Comrade, Scourfield writes: "Enclosed you will find 10s. subscribed by a few faithfuls towards "W.D." " Are there any more who will do the very day the Socialists are heard to exclaim: When the Revolution comes!"

THE REVOLUTION.

June 18, 1921.

We quietly sit down and speculate on the ssary steps to be taken to ensure success, correct relation of a political body to an intrial society, and all other matters of import-

Meanwhile, another coffee, another dance Dear Editor.—I should like to call the attention talk in wise and awed tones about "When the Debt) increases taxation.

One comrade sincerely believes in converting high taxation militates against the reduction. that magic day, "When the Revolution comes."

nouflage of the fundamental issue.

a propaganda for the closing of our eyes. The Revolution it has commenced will be its grave. icy of our Government has been wholly degned to resist the Revolution.

of Labour.

By FRED TYLER.

The workers have their masters at their mercy, but they do not know it. The Government stumbles, and rights itself when Labour stumbles.

In order to save itself from discredit, the Government must meet its liabilities.

The position is paradoxical. It must reduce nce to be coldly decided upon-" When the wages in order to pull down prices which must be reduced because of the export trade. But taxation cannot be brought down proportionately, We take a seat in the corner of the because of the huge burden of the National Debt If we are old we talk about the decad- which was incurred when prices were high and ce of the movement in these later years; if money had a low purchasing power. The rewe are young, about the books we have half duction of prices, and consequently income, inread-so, over our bitter or ale, coffee or tea, we cluding wages, therefore (because of the National majority of the people to vote for Socialism; Further, all price reductions entail a free another is cheerfully in building up phantom bestowal of public money on owners of Govern-Workers' Committees, and yet another is ment stock. Money lent when prices are dear danger. Not merely have Communists been arrested, esterious and secretive. All are waiting for appreciates if repaid when money buys more.

Whilst the need for reducing prices is acute,

In the face of its adversity, the Government They are unconscious enemies of Socialism; faces a hostile and sullen working class, which he Revolution is here, here in our midst. The does not want Communism and does not believe ells of the social war are being fired every day. in it, but wants the impossible—a living wage The aristocracy and the commercial classes are under Capitalism. Could a more remarkable nature, who holds a leading position in any locality fighting the workers in the final fight. They situation be conceived? Small wonder that the know, and we know, that the wage-war is but a Government has started the Revolution. It is busy trying to smash the Unions, and it will Labour is smitten in the face; its hesitating succeed. It is arresting the Communists, a very makes Capital confident. The Revolution has unwise move; it is openly flaunting E.P.A., and been here for twelve months; the Government by its actions it is inciting the masses to revolt. has known it, so have others; those who draw The Government wants a trial of strength with v- salaries provided from our pockets, and carry on Labour, and it, fortunately, cannot see that the Movements are full of life-force; they are propelled by social needs directed by ideas. The Yet the Revolution goes on, a great blundering political situation is one of a revolution, precipi- but his assumed power-to terrorise, intimidate, and se of events, screaming aloud the incompet- tated by the Government, out of which conflict bully the minority of the people of that city. will emerge a people servile, or a people free.

TO WOMEN.

of for the Communist aims and a large measure be determined. ermany) and to attend its meetings and confer- Press. ces. The active Communist woman must rather a active everywhere.

Very many of our sisters will answer: "I have a little time and opportunity for active work. is excuse cannot hold good now save in quite eptional cases. There are so many possibilities our comrades to throw themselves actively into movement, so that lack of time can no longer pleaded as an excuse for passivity.

be spread of Communist ideas is already being in house-keeping. All actual questions of day are being considered and tested from the munist point of view. The knowledge acquired is discussed with the other members of the family. he daily Press plays an important part here. Of course the real Communist woman orders the iburger "Volkszeitung" as well as the "Komtin," and reads it thoroughly. Everything inesting and important which occurs that might ve an influence in the Labour movement, she rites down and sends immediately to the Editor of the "Volkszeitung."

The Churches.

Children are being brought up on Communist ines as far as this is compatible with present cumstances. The active Communist woman leaves her class comrades. e Church and demands that her children be exapted from religious instruction, because the Church merely one of the many instruments of Capitalism o oppress the working class, and must therefore opposed on political grounds by Communist wo-ne of work which will forward the interests of

House-to-House Visitation.

It is a good thing to do active propaganda by leans of a house-to-house visitation on the subject of the poisoned Press of the bourgeoisie, and on the reformist S.P.D. (Socialist Party of Germany), d the opportunist U.S.P. (Independent Socialist papers, which adapt thmselves to circumeitungs" ordered by 25 families. You see good- Movement?

(From the Hamburger "Volkszeitung.") storical knowledge of the movement, enthusi- will and perseverance will do much, but one must of self-sacrifice, must be the urge for the activity Our comrades have the chance to propagate Comof the working women in the revolutionary class munist ideas in public meetings, in excursions into These three qualifications must be possessed the country in the factories, and to expound the every Communist woman, and be used to the real meaning of Communism in season and out of nost. It is not enough to belong in a formal season, to clear up any false ideas on the subject v to the V.K.P.D. (United Communist Party of which have been spread about by the Capitalist

Our active Communist gets hold of any pamphlet on the subject that she can at No. 19, Admiralitat Strasse, Hamburg, and distributes them amongst her friends and neighbours, and this helps mendously in the spread of Communist ideas. persuasion she can often induce a timid buyer to take a pamphlet, and then the battle is nearly over for this leads to further talk, and other pamphlets and so on.

chance of criticising and examining the behaviour of the unsatisfactory leaders. Here the active Communist woman will be to the fore, and will make a Communist fraction out of the other comrades. and finally a Communist cell. These fractions cooperate with each other, so that a unified work is going on in the workshops.

Rents and Prices.

Thus the active Communist woman works in the family in the Press, in the factory, by the spreading of pamphlets and in the same way she must attack all questions of the day as they arise. If. for example, important necessaries of life are raised in price, or rents are raised, or the Capitalist Parliament imposes new taxes to grind down the working class, then she must raise her voice and rouse

Demonstrations.

They must also protest against the measures of the employers for lowering wages, keeping in mind the ideal namely, to abolish the present evil system. They must do this by huge demonstrations. One only needs to bear in mind the impending rise The active Communist woman plunges into any in the price of bread. This alone should make every working woman plunge into the Communist > our comrades. The military events in Upper Silesia put down with force if necessary, the extremistr and Bavaria, etc., the closing together of all the wing of the Trade Unionist party, we shall have no reactionary elements into a "national united front," domestic peace, and, losing our foreign trade, we clearly show the object of the bourgeois-capitalist shall sink into a third-rate Power." class to provoke a new war.

Comrades! Can you remain indifferent while this ances without considering the interests of the work- is going on, can you sit with your hands before classes. I know a woman in Hamburg who, by you while a comparatively small number is sacrihergetic work managed to get 23 of our "Volks- ficing itself to help on the Communist Woman's

SEDITION.

The White Terror! Capitalist Madness! The true nature of the Government, which is the E.C. of the Capitalist Class, is at last revealed.

The truth which we have told the workers, time upon time, is coming-and has come.

The White Terror is in operation. Whenever the workers touch or endanger the existence of the god of capitalism-private property-the capitalists go MAD; it is from this god, which is far mightier than the god of your churches, that they draw their power. Destroy that god, and you will have also destroyed their power.

In their madness, comrades, the upper caste know no law, religion or morality, king or country, wife or child, friend or relation, when the sacred rights of their god are touched. Death is the penalty if you touch these rights; prison is the penalty, if you touch them.

It has been death in Germany, Hungary and Roumania; and it has been, and is, prison in Brittain, America, and Georgia, the utopia of the reactionary I.L.P. Soon it will, if necessary, be death in these latter countries also.

To-day, every man and woman, old or young, who dares to preach Communism, is thrown into prison. Why? Because the god of capitalism is in but also several militant members of the Miners'

The arrests and imprisonment of Communists in the coalfields of Britain during the past few weeks prove conclusively that the E.C. of the capitallist class is determined that no man, of a militant shall be left free to take part in the conducting and encouragement of the miners in the present lock-out. In the Rhondda Valley over 100 warrants have been issued. The White Terror has begun, we have warned you before; yet this is only the beginning. Workmen are being persecuted for offences against D.O.R.A. or the Emergency Powers Act. The charge in every case is sedition which, as everyone knows, is about the widest charge that be levelled against anyone.

Let it be remembered that it is only the workingclass organisations and working-class men and women who are attacked. To-day, Sir James Craig, in Belfast is using his power-not his legal power, Lord Birkenhead (formerly F. E. Smith) and Sir Edward Carson stirred up mutiny in the Curagh Camp against the Government in 1914. He armed and equipped an army and brought Ireland o its present position.

Sir Edward Carson, speaking at Belfast on June 6th, 1914, said:

"Remember your arms, and keep them no matter what happens. I rely on every man to fight for his arms, and to let no man take them from him-I don't care who they are or what authority they have got. It is the people who would come to take away what we have got who are the peace-breakers, and I tell you that if they come to break the peace I will rely upon your discipline under your officers, if the necessity arises, to

Is that not sedition? Is that not causing "disaffection" amongst the civilian population? It is a call to revolt—armed revolt. But these men were not prosecuted, and would not be persecuted to-day if they repeated the same offences, simply because they belong to the capitalist class.

Comrades, the White Terror now in progress is part and parcel of the infernal system! You can In the factories and workshops you have the only end the White Terror by taking over the means of production, distribution and exchange. You cannot patch up a system which is played out: palliatives will only prolong the wage-system.

T. ISLWYN NICHOLAS.

THE FASCISTI-BRITISH BRAND.

The "Saturday Review," that dear friend of liberty -within limits, of course-asks the question: "Who is to save the country from the tyranny of the Trade Unions?" The "Review" does not leave its readers to worry out the solution: the answer, too, is supplied. To win escape from "this degrading subjection to a plebian oligarchy"... "the only way seems to be an imitation of the Italian 'Fascist'

The "Fascisti," be it known, is a sort of Italian Middle Class Union, with an aristocratic seasoning, which "armed itself with knievs and revolvers to drive the Communists out of the factories, workshops, and mills of which they held possession." To date. neither Communists nor anyone else in this country have commandeered mills or factories, but even lacking that excuse, the "Saturday Review" wants a British "Fascisti." For listen: "Unless the Brikish Political events should be constantly watched by upper and middle classes will organise themselves, to

From the "Crusader."

BURIED.

Editor: SYLVIA PANKHURST.

All Matter for Publication to be Addressed to the Editor Business Communications to the Manager: Workers' Breadnought, 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C.4. TELEPHONE: CENTRAL 7240,

Subscripti	ON:			A SAN
THREE MONTHS (13 weeks)		Post	Free	3/4
Six Months (26 weeks)		99	"	6/6
ONE YEAR (52 weeks)				13/-

Vol. VIII. No. 14. Saturday, June 18, 1921.

WATCH THE EAST!

The Press has been lately full of rumours as COMRADES,to a new war in the East, arising from the con- On my release from prison, I find the last Monday, in the Daily Mirror, was calling:

"Stop the Coalition's New War!"

He demanded :-

London?"

On the same day, the Daily Express, in its largest headlines, was declaring that it had prevented Britain being dragged into the new Greco-Turkish war!

We do not think the British Government dare face another extensive war at present, but we know that it is constantly seeking opportunities to extend the power and territory of British Capitalism, to thwart the growth of Communism and to injure the Russian Soviet Government because it has hoisted the Communist Red flag. The British Government will continue to go as far as it dare in furthering such objects. Therefore, anything may happen; we are always living ment. As we have not, we are dependent on beside a powder magazine, which has always the your efforts. possibility of an explosion.

The latest capitalist move against Soviet Russia continues, though scarcely a word about it has appeared in the Press, and The Times has even attempted to explain it away as a move by Wrangel and Semenoff, disapproved by Japan.

The Rosta Wien publishes a statement from Moscow, June 7th, stating that the Soviet Government will be compelled to send troops to the donation to the "Dreadnought," in order that aid of the far Eastern Republic, and is in a posi- urgent liabilities may be met. tion to render this aid. From Chita, a Rosta telegram of June 4th, states that the Japanese attack began by the disarming of the military escort which was bringing counter-revolutionary conspirators to prison. The Japanese disarmed the Vladivostok City Militia. Nevertheless Japan officially denied all participation in the events. An Odessa wire of June 5th reports that the Ukrainian counter-revolutionary Skoropadski is also becoming active; is endeavouring Publishing Company." This Company will be told to do this dirty work he knows very well to to call together all Ukrainian reactionaries, and is negotiating with the English, French and Italians to secure financial help. Counter-revolutionary activities are also reported from Lithuania.

Says Rosta :-

"All these reports indicate the tendency to prepare public opinion for something. Watch your news. Remember there are deliberate liars at work in Helsingfors, Stockholm and Paris, to say nothing of London."

Capitalism fights unceasingly in the International Civil War, against Communism and the workers.

THE MINER'S BALLOT.

The Daily Herald says:-

"We do not feel it is any business of ours to recommend to the miners how they should I want those who think the "Dreadnought" vote. . . . Whatever decision they make has done good work in the past and will do good on Wednesday, it is they and theirs who will work in the future, just to realise that I am not bear whatever results follow from the ballot." overstating the position.

We do not agree with this view. We believe It to be the mission and duty of a newspaper dealing with Labour questions, to express its opinion in all such matters, and especially in a great struggle, such as that of the miners, which effects the entire working class.

We consider that the owners' terms should be rejected, and that the whole working class should line up in solidarity against them. The miners are voting as we go to press. We await, with all the world, the verdict, though we do not share the illusion that this strike, even if won, could if not more to be endangered, the old "Bri be more than a little stage in the great class struggle, which shall end in the abolition of classes and the triumph of the Communist ideal.

FROM THE EDITOR.

flict between Greece and Turkey, into which "Workers' Dreadnought" in a precarious finan-Britain might be drawn. Lord Rothermere, cial position, due to a sequence of causes inevitable in the production of an advanced paper.

> During the first months of my absence, the circulation had fallen, but it was already slightly rising when I returned.

"Are we going to war with the To-day the circulation is rising steadily, but Bolshevists again through the Turks, whilst not quickly enough, and, since the income does simultaneously negotiating trade matters with not at present meet expenses, the publication of Mr. Krassin, the Bolshevist delegate in every week's issue means a serious loss. Beside that there are old debts incurred for printing which must be wiped out.

The paper has weathered many storms.

During the war we were raided again and again; we were chased from printer to printer by the Government, and so, losing our paper ration, we were compelled to pay up to 1/4 per lb. for the very worst quality of paper-paper which would not have been worth 1d. a lb. before the war! Still we survived!

With an effort we shall survive now!

We urge you to push up quickly the circulation. If we had funds we could do this by advertise-

Will you see that it is on sale at all meetings

Will you get your friends to take it?

Will you get posters shown?

We appeal to all of you to send an immediate

That is to meet the urgent needs of the day; to make possible the publication of next week's were on duty at his meeting. The prosecutor further

With regard to the future and with reference, to the proposals made to us by friends and comrades, as mentioned in a previous issue, we have decided, in order to place the paper on a solid and satisfactory basis, to form a "Dreadnought responsible for the publication of the "Workers" Dreadnought" and will maintain it as an independent organ supporting the Communist Party from the Left Wing standpoint. The Dreadnought Publishing Company will also, as opportunity develops, publish educational and literary works of value to the Communist movement, I want them to realise that after they have been which do not fall within the everyday province of Party routine propaganda.

The Company will be a Limited Liability Company, and the shareholders will have a voice in the to an ex-inspector of the Sheffield Police the other management on the basis of one share, one vote. I should be glad to hear at once from comrades in regard to this scheme.

The situation is really urgent. The existence mon sense in furthering Comrade Fletcher's of the "Dreadnought" is actually at stake. was only by great devotion on the part of its supporters and a series of happy accidents, that it continued during the past months.

E.P.A. AND FREE SPEECH.

the crushing handicap which the Emerger Powers Act has placed upon freedom of speech shown by the cases against Peter Hannon, a Shet field coppersmith, and George Henry Fletcher, master baker of the same city, and Vice-President of the Sheffield Trades and Labour Council, to which between 70 000 and 80,000 workers are affiliar We Communists are not surprised by this state of affairs. We realise, reluctantly, but quite clear that Capitalism will not allow its powers to stripped from it with democratic willingness, b will fight to retain them. Therefore since capital shades in wistful beauty. Quiet are these erhaps exaggerated as yet, believes its transquil

What were the statements on which the chare against these men were based? We shall answer the question from the Report of the Sheffield of list paper, the Yorkshire Telegraph. First let us take the case of Comrade Hannon go to work in the early mornings.

on June 11th, Mr. Bentley, who appeared against Prisoner gave a crude exposition of the origin of the growth of the export trade of the cour the whole object of the speech being to instil it the people the idea that the whole of the weak was produced by the people, whom, he said, represented, and to make them disaffected with the conditions under which they worked. He proceeded to allude to the war and twisted it round ; endeavoured to make his audience believe that war was caused by people whom he was pleased call capitalists, who engineered war with Germa for the purpose of hounding down the working classes. In the course of his speech he said th had every building placarded with huge posters de corated at the bottom with the photographs of sor shape of J. H. Thomas Clynes, and other asses like them, and he told them that the emplo locked them out for their own purpose, and bosses were hoping that they would be eventua starved out.' He then invited the workers to nise their own trade unions with a view to taking over and running industry. He next spoke of the methods of revolution in Russia, and said it was aid. to teach you, to educate you, to tell you organise, not into sections, but into one great we ing-class movement.' He also said capitalism said to them, 'I have had to starve you; I flaved you and cursed you; I have made you I than you were free, where in reality, you were bigget layes than pit ponies in any coal mines. I sent. you to France to die like flies also to Gallin and Mesopotamia.' It had been our proud boast, said counsel that our workers came forward freely Will you get local newsagents to stock the ta save their country. In speaking about Communism he said, 'bloodshed there may be, but it will n be of our seeking-lit will come from the class responsible for all bloodshed. We, the Commu Pary shall lead you, and control you, in spite of thousands of persecutions, up to the gate of fre dom, to a world where the horror of war shall unknown; where poverty, starvation, prostitution, general misery shall also be unknown'

> Comrade Hannon was sent to prison for three months as an alternative to a fine of £50. Comrade Fletcher's case was heard on June Mr. A. H. Jackson appearing on behalf of Public Prosecutor, said that Fletcher's speech mi cause disaffection amongst the police, two of whom mentioned that in a raid on Fletcher's house a document was found showing that there was a "defend fund" for paying the fines of Communist prisone Is it suggested that the Government has the right to take exception to that?

The most striking passage in Fletcher's speech, as cited by the prosecution, is as. follows :-'I am sorry for the police. When a man has served in the force for twenty years or over and we Westminster Abbey is crowded with comfort if he doesn't do it he has stravation staring him in the face. There are many decent chaps in the police force, and I know they don't like doing t dirty work. I want to say to the police it just about time they took this matter up and refused to do this dirty work. They did strike once, when it was a question of money and I want to remin the police that we helped them to get their increase. the tools of the capitalist class and assisted them to reduce the wages of the other workers, the same people will turn round and reduce theirs, and I want to remind the police of this. I was talking day, and he said, 'Look here, Fletcher; I never thought until I joined the police that they were called upon to do such dirty actions as they ar If I had my time to come over again, I would under any circumstances, join such an organisation

The police are showing a remarkable lack of co paganda by giving to it the great publicuty received in the Sheffield press on account of Omitted in error week ending June 4th, H Week ending June 11, 1921-J. Bernstein 2s. 6 F. Jones 6d., E. H. Fox 5s., Mrs. B. 2s. 6d., M Guild, Enfield Co-Op. Society 10s.; total, £1 0s.

DREADNOUGHT DEVELOPMENT FUND

AFTER HALF A YEAR.

June 18, 1921.

At night the trees in Victoria Park shake with sweet rustling over the Old Ford Road, giving out summer fragrance, in spite of the gas lamps ing below them, and the smoke-grimed, jerryilt houses opposite. Still gleams the subdued ght of the night sky on the canal's dark waters. ne sober shapes of the houses and factories on it banks withdraw themselves into the velvet streets; this working world sleeps early. Over freedom" our fathers used to boast of has dis. the whole great city, night casts a warm, deep

> But in the daytime, London is frowsy. The rass in the park is worn away by teeming footteps. They are tired, still sleepy workers who

Those Bond Street women, with lips rose red and dolly faces, look faded and dull, like jaded orus girls. In Holloway gaol, we were dressed ke Dutch peasant women, with small white nnets, and skirts so bunchy they made us look round and stiff like barrels. Now, outside, in our own clothes once again, we catch sight ourselves reflected in some shop window, and onder whether we can really be wearing as full a skirt as conventional usages demand. But a glance at those passers in short and flimsy garnts does more than reassure.

At the Horse Guards, the soldiers still wear of the 'leading comedians of this country, in the w those silly breastplates and bits of fur, always out away for actual war, and still they weary emselves and their horses by useless standing on guard in useless niche. Downing Street and other Whitehall approaches to Government buildings are guarded still by he wooden barricades erected against the Sinn caused by the shortage of bread. 'The same reason Fein scare months ago, when the busy rumour will create it here,' he said, 'Our mission is,' he went round that the Irish rebels would charge own in massed motor cars upon the ruling ficials of the British Empire, scattering death re them, by the playing of machine guns. e hoardings are faded and weatherworn. They ear the license from the Corporation of the of Westminster permitting their erection maintenance till the 28th of June. By such ed old gentlemen of Westminster, the British tocracy salutes the ghost of democratic Govment and, whenever it is not troublesome. sets the seal of constitutional sanction upon the e acts it has determined.

The paintings in the National Gallery have een rearranged; the embossed paper on the Is has been coated roughly with amateurish ushes in gaudy incongruous colours, which form garish background to the pictures and reveal darker tints lying underneath, looking oddly and impoverished. The pictures are abled strangely; the fifteenth century jostles e eighteenth, and pictures of many national-, many centuries, many subjects, people the he room. On what plan the picture-hangers re working it is impossible to discover. Art ts along in marshy and neglected backwaters the heart of the greatest Empire.

people. The preacher talks on in a voice ot clear, dull and unimpassioned. Henry IV was told he would die in Jerusalem; his end was astened by that suggestion. Therefore, by hental suggestion, we can prepare ourselves to ceive the word of God! Strange argument, ling nowhere.

n Hyde Park, yesterday, hundreds of little rl Guides were drilled, and in smart blue sses, saluted the Union Jack in the sunshine parents and children is made a great warularising propaganda, whilst here around the enotaph, lie fresh flowers fading for the men no died in the war we were told would end thankful to Lutyens for what he has not done. fortune? the dusty side roads numbers, the dark-eyed Hebrew children, ploited people seem to be all unconscious? plump-limbed and olive-skinned, with the paler Destiny drags them into its meshes without their and thinner Cockneys. The Watney street knowledge; but they are sleeping partners. church is not crowded like Westminster Abbey.

FROM HOLLOWAY TO LONDON

BACK TO THE GOOD OLD TIMES .- The Liberator.

Its walls are painted in many colours, in echoes of old Byzantium, its choristers sing with hopes and fears of workless people frantically clear, sweet voices; yet it does not attract the converge after the Sunday's marking-time. people in from the lingy streets. Six white Streams of men are passing and passing into the robed men conduct the service; eight white docks in the early morning, and amongst them robed choristers beside them, two lay attendants go the girls and women who work in the factories keep the doors-sixteen souls in all-and the and warehouses by the river side. congregation numbers also sixteen.

The children play in the roads, their parents watch them from the doorsteps.

The people enjoy only the pleasure of having nothing to do. There is scarcely a book, scarcely

The pretty clothes of many children look forms as this license from the strangely beside these sordid little hovels: the bug-ridden, tumbledown dens in which these masses and masses of working-class families are housed. The new-washed hair, the freshironed frocks, reveal the patient toil of careful mothers, who flag not, however hopeless may be their surroundings. Even in that most dark railway wall, less than a short stride from the front of the houses facing it, some little girls are playing in white silk dresses, flimsy silk of the very cheapest, the very frailest sort, newly-worn but already marked by the dust of the walls and the roadway. Their little white figures look like faded flowers in all this blackness. Their newwashed hair crimpy from last night's curl-papers, those frail, soon-soiled dresses, express the craving for beauty that still survives in the starved souls of their mothers.

The very poor slouch past in Commercial Road other's heads. and beside them go the prosperous, well-fed, He can buy whom he will, and he eyes them to small Jewish bourgeoisie; the stout men with see who is strongest, who is steadiest, who will their gold chains; the stout women with gay short , best "pay" his employer for taking him on. skirts and silk stockings. On the rest in the The fat man has chosen his full number. He centre of the roadway, the loafers, the homeless, does not want any more men to-day. The workthe workless are standing, their eyes upon the less horde drops back: there is no more chance "doss-house." They are waiting for the hour of a job here till one o'clock. when it opens, to rest their weary feet. They "It's disgraceful! It goes on day after day! do not notice the motor car of the prosperous Men that have fought! It's a scandal!" An British grocer, as he comes out of the fish elderly man is speaking, one of the regular restaurant with his red-faced wife, and brushes weekly wage workers employed about the dock. past the haggard woman with broken boots who "They tramp long distances to get a job here. offers him little white roses which nobody will There are men here who've come from Epsom!

var; the war that Allied Capitalism declared coffee stalls, which are manned by discharged Empire; it's a disgrace!" had been won. When one thinks of the glories soldiers out of a job. "Fortunes of War!" The The unwanted crowd walks quietly and unof ancient Greece, one says that the Cenotaph is phrase rings with a note of mocking. Are not murmuringly down the slope and out through ut a block in the roadway; when one reaches these very cafés a mark of the fact that for the gates. Shabby and tired, they are, for the he Bank and sees there another Memorial, one workers, wars—capitalist quarrels—bring no most part, young and fairly vigorous men.

painted. What further part will she play in the slavery in the Empire City. In Watney Street are mingled, in equal International civil war, of which these quiet, ex-

It is Monday, black Monday, to which the

For an hour the crowd of men has been growing, men of all ages, with tired faces and shabby clothes. It is not eight o'clock yet. The big well-fed man with a thick, full-blooded face and long moustache, who stands raised above them, is still choosing out "preference labourers," the "B" men as they are called. They are holding up their cards, each trying to attract attention.

"Now they're fighting at the barrier, in case there isn't enough work to go round all the 'B' men. All those others are the 'C' men; they don't get a look in till the 'B' men have been taken," says a young man standing on the edge of the pavement opposite.

street, where daylight is blocked out by a high ting now, on the average, do you suppose?" "How many days work a week are they get-"I've had one day's work in three weeks," he says with a hopeless laugh.

"Don't you think it worth trying for it this

"I'm waiting till I see some of my own men going, the 'C' men; then I'll run over. Look, there they go!" And so he runs.

The fat man perched up there against the railings has plenty of men to choose from. They are crushed together, standing on tiptoes, with arms waving, their red cards stretched over each

And if they don't go away now, the police'll Close by is one of the "Fortunes of War" come and drive them away! Talk about the

Watching them outside by the public house, The 'buses are crowded, going Eastward. Wrangel's ship, the black pirate ship of leaning against its walls, are the unemployed of e Commercial Road is thronged with people militant capitalism, lies in the West India Dock an earlier period, the unemployable of to-day. many races, and children swarm on the ground to-day, the dockers tell us, and is being re- So grind the Mills of Capitalism and wage hand at such work. I do so because I believe June 6th. He did so. that a large number of the dispossessed are of . He was ushered before the Committee, the gress had been made. I must confess that I the opinion that the modern political Labour Chairman of which was Mr. E. J. Kelly, N.U.R. am disappointed. Actions speak louder than Party will emancipate them. I am not sure that The Chairman addressed him: "You are words, and I am convinced that the elected repreis true, their hopes might be smashed. By their asking for help?" actions ye shall know them, because actions speak He replied in the affirmative. louder than words, and the attitude adopted by the Labour Party on the Poplar Board of Guardians, where it has a large majority, shows quite clearly what this Party will do if it gets wages do they take or earn?" into power. In my opinion, its actions towards Again the unemployed man pointed out that clearly that they are prepared to keep intact the the unemployed, or at least, to one of them, have what the children earned was no concern of his, capitalist State; that is, all institutions which been contemptible, mean, and deserving of and again he refused to answer the questions. strong reproach.

E. SYLVIA PANKHURST.

The following article is by a staunch Socialist worker of many years' standing, well-known in Poplar.

The facts are as follow:

An unemployed man with wife to support. applied for help from the Board of Guardians. He had been unemployed three weeks, and had received no unemployment benefit, either from the State Insurance or from his Trade Union. the N.G.W.U. He is not blaming anyone for the delay; but found himself without the wherewithal to maintain his wife and self. The rent of his house is 12/2 per week; the upkeep of is 3/- per week. As a last resource, he appealed "Supposing your son is earning £5 per week?" to the Guardians of the Borough of Poplar The unemployed man replied: "What about (Majority Labour).

Most of you are aware that when you appear before such bodies you have to answer a number the Labour Guardian. of questions framed by the capitalist class, But the man did. employed man attempted to do this. He has "Get outside!" two children living with him at home, and both earning their subsistence. He was asked by the relieving officer or clerk, what wages the Labour Party. two children earned. He refused point-blank Forty-eight years ago, I was taken under the We none of us want to be obliged to depend on elevenpence in food on Friday, June 3rd, and the treatment of that foster-mother. Forty- to many unfortunate people. [Ed. "W.D."]

German Reparation.

Chairman: "You have two children, a son becomes, the more tyrannical they become and a daughter, living with you at home; what

In the usual bombastic manner of the modern duction and distribution. Labour Party, the Chairman replied: "I do not want you to dictate to me."

The unemployed man answered that there was no need for that, but that what he was doing was to refuse to answer such questions, because, in his opinion, they were degrading to him and the class to which he belongs.

In a bullying manner, the Chairman said:

Just prior to that, a Mr. Sims, District Super-Friendly Societies, Insurances and Trade Union intendent (so I am informed), asked:

> it? Let me ask you a question?" "I don't want you to ask me questions," said before you are entitled, in the opinion of "The late Queen of England," he said, "got the Guardians, to receive any help. Permit me seventy thousand pounds a year pension. Was to say that it is time that a new precedent should the Queen asked how much her sons earned? be set up by the wage-earning class. This un- With that, E. J. Kelly, N.U.R., replied

And the man was sent empty away, by the

to answer such a question, pointing out that care of the Local Government Board. I spent Poor Law relief, however liberally it may be he was not asking for help for his children. something like eleven years under it's care (or served out. We ought, therefore, to overturn the led Youth in Yugo-Slavia. He was granted the sum of seven shillings and want of care), so I think I am able to talk on system which makes Poor Law relief a necessity

I am driven to take up the pen, to try my told to appear before the Committee on Monday, eight years is a long time in the life of an individual, and one would have thought that prosentatives of the Labour Party are still imbuen with the utmost contempt for the wage-earning class. Furthermore, the stronger their power spain and Soviet Russia. Their psychology is the psychology of the tyrant and taskmaster. Their every action shows quite defend private property and the means of pro.

Finally, I submit the quickest and surest was of getting rid of the Labour Party would be to give it full power to prove its uselessness.

> With no apology GEORGE PAMMENT.

Comrade Pamment's disappointment need cause us no surprise. The policy of the Labour Party is not to abolish the capitalist system, but to reform it. It is impossible to emancipate the workers within the capitalist system: the Labour Party does not recognise this fact, Its programme is a tepid Reformist one which the Liberal Party might easily adopt and indeed will adopt, in the near future. Members of Boards of Guardians, whether Labour or otherwise, and handicapped by the fact that if they help the poor, they put up the rates and if they put up the rates, they lose their seats. They have the temptation to cling to their seats, and the poor go to the wall. Moreover, the Local Government Boards are apt to surcharge the more humane Guardians, and though every honest Guardian ought to have the pluck to fight that, some h not. The only cure is Communism; that clear away all vestiges of capitalist cruelties

a week and receives in contributions only £350,000

From July 4th Dr. Mac. must reduce benefit to 15s, for men and 12s, for women, with pre tionate reductions for boys and girls. He of cours -must increase contributions from employed persons

Mr. Harmsworth (Parliamentary Under-Secretary

Prison Rules.

treated, asks the Secretary for Scotland shall not be accorded special privileges states that Prisons Rules can be altered without legislation, and that a general revision of rules is under consideration and that the suga contained in the question will be considered.

to three months in default of payment, and

The insurance fund which in March last stood a 221 millions now stands at 80. Money will last only for about another month. We are that was the burden of Dr. Mac's song-broke, stoney, alth he expressed it in polite and polished language employers and the State.

By 221 Ayes and 62 Noes the House decided to have the Bill brought in.

for Foreign Affairs) is of the opinion that but martial law in Egypt a greater number of Greek and Italians would have been massacred recent disturbances. Mr. Swan (Lab., Ba Castle), on the other hand, feels that the fact the martial law still exist, in spite of the promise made by Adly Pasha, on becoming Prime Minister cause widespread disaffection.

One million Egyptians has signed a demand

Major Steel (Coalition, Ashford), feeling probable considers the advisability of introducing legislation to alter the rules . . . in order that such prisoner dominating role in Lettland in the same way as group is continually decreasing. In the Academy anish consul has arrived in Batum who states in Poland.

Mr. Morison (Coalition, Inverness, Lord Advocate

Japan supports Russian Reactionaries.

INTERNATIONAL NOTES.

who wish to enter into business relations The Japanese military representative in Constantinople Takachami, held a lunch in honour of Wrangel at which the Japanese Commissioner Ushida was also Japanese Imperialism. entatives of two large German firms arrived present. The latter stated that Japan would never in Jekaterinburg in order to investigate recognise the Soviet government and would always the number of Japanese troops in the East Siberian stos deposits in the district of the River remain the friend of the Russian patriots.

"Isvestia" notices that Japan is beginning to raised to 100,000. The Anglo-Japanese alliance will orient towards France in its politics. In the future shortly become a fact. Japan has undertaken to Japan will no longer follow England who has re- support the English policy concerning European sumed relations with Russia. In its relations to Russian, Caucausus, Asia Minor, and Central Asia. Soviet Russia Japan cannot go with America either. England has undertaken not to permit any other as the relations between Japan and America are not power in Manchuria and to stand for the Japanese very friendly. The Japanese military representative interests in connection with the Mandate islands in in Paris held a banquet at which many Russian the Pacific. first foreign steamer, flying the Dutch flag, officers were present. He stated that Japan would "Ouhida" gave a statement according to which in the harbour of Petrograd with a cargo of gladly support the Russian officers in a struggle England supports the project of the creation of a ons of herrings. As the ship passed the Cron- with the Bolchevists and would take into considera- new state under the Protection of Japan out of an incorage it was greeted by the Russian sailors tion the question of transporting the Wrangel soldiers autonomus Manchuraia Mongolia, Thibet and certain flag salutes and music. The steamer left over Vladivostock to Semenov,

The Mining Academy in Moscow.

The Mining Academy in Moscow which has just celebrated its second anniversary was founded in the year 1919. The initiative was taken by a group of professors who have also carried on the principal work in connection with it.

The Academy represent a new type of university in Russia. The task is the education of engineers ador in Lettland has arrived in Riga on a of the all-round engineer they are training the vehicle for pourtraying the tendencies of recent course of an interview he specialist. In this respect it signifies a transition epoch, the literature department of peoples com-France will have a large ambassa- of the Academy to the Western style. The emphasis missariat for education announces an Allrussian comporters and recently the Petrograd Mining Academy announced itself in favour of a revision of its program to a more practical one.

Wednesday evening at 8.45 in Greenhead Baths.

One result of the reform referred to in the Mining Academy is the democratising of the student body. For entrance into the Academy the certificate of secondarys school education is not absolutely necessary. A workers' faculty has been set up in which the student's register for the two or three years which aren ecessary before transferring to the higher grade. The students consist of two groups, those who have passed secondary school (about 70 per cent.) and those in the workers' faculty. The latter group number now about 300 persons, but it is continually increasing, whereas the number of the former there are a large number of courses lasting from four months to two years. The students are maintained at the cost of the Soviet government. They receive food, lodging and money allowance.

According to Reports which have been received Coast territory amounts to 91 000 and will be shortly Russian in East Siberia.

The Allrussian Central Executive Committee resolved to instruct the peoples commissariat for nationalities to elaborate a draft of decree forming an autonomous republic in the Crimean Peninsula. A special commission with full power has been sent to Crimea to deal on the spot with the land Dramatic Art.

Demartel, who has been appointed French who are different in quality from the former. In place Considering that the dramatic art is the best staff in Lettland. In Lettish circles the in this system lies in the strengthening of the petition for dramating productions comformable to n is current that France is making efforts practical activity and in the shortening of the theo- the spirit of the times and to the heroic role of ish itself in the East and will play the retical preparation. This system is winning sup- proletariat from the days of the Armistice onwards.

several large syndicates have been formed in and the mines of Basheev with a view of Soviet Commercial Delegation in London has mised as the consular institution for the on May 18th. The arrival of the Ger-harbour of Odessa a large number of ssenger service between Odessa and Batum

eamer "Adler" which is bringing home prirs and sailing vessels have arrived. The reof war is awaited every hour.

The French Embassy in Lettland.

Soviet Russia and Trans-Caucasia.

rmans seek Concessions.

ssian Visas in London.

visas for Russia.

oods from Abroad.

of the first victims of the White Terror in davia was the Young Communist Organisation. iment, which is in the power of a militorship has ordered the breaking up of shing organisation which, though founded recently, had already about fifty strong e groups scattered over the country. arters of the organisation were raided e, and all the books, papers, and other were seized and taken away. A number comrades were also arrested, but those not discouraged by the attempt of the lavia bourgeoisie to break up their organisa-On the contrary. In spite of all dangers ternment decrees they are now illegally caron the propaganda for the Young Communist tional. Comrades of Britain, beware! The of the bourgeoisie are the same throughout shalt remember that the economic strucsociety determines the legal and political ructure, and the social, ethical, religious, ellectual life-process in general. It is not consciousness which determines their life : strary it is the social life which determines

"Isvestia" quotes a report of the Japanese A new force of young fighters is flowing into s of Korea. All this proves that even in the East the young revolutionists are on guard oing their duty towards the Young Come June issue of "The Red Dawn," which has made into a children's paper, is well worth It contains jokes and songs, humorous and vise. It is now sold for one penny. Every revolutionary should get a copy.

ree Youth Swimming Clubs.

By T. Islwyn Nicholas.

young comrades are welcome. Our Task.

The task of the Communist organisations of youth, bound together in the Young International, must be the universal education of youth in the Marxian spirit, thereby raising the culture level. The working youth must extort from the boungeoisie the treasures of human knowledge, which are indisper sable too the workers as a guide to, and in, their emancipation. They must conquer the paths to science, literature and art. Beside honest workmen and brave soldiers of the Red Army the young must supply scholars, technical specialists, organisers, philosophers, poets and artists of the new Communist Society. It is the mission of the working youth and its organisations to be in the first ranks of the constructors of the new culture, conceived by the Communist spirit.

Physical Culture.

The Communist organisations must turn the pro- at half price. letarian youth into a healthy people, healthily bodily and mentally. Therefore, the Communist organi sations of youth are also concerned with the phy which at present we can only give part of our time, but as the supply islimited, comrades should lose is of the greatest importance for the working- no time in applying.

A Message from the Third.

'Hajmizi," which states that all members our ranks. The Third International has included he Young Communist Organisation of Korea have in its rolls the Communist International of Youth. sentenced to hard labour. The paper goes This gives us the assurance of victory for our cause. say that, according to an official report, is- Forward, young friends! Go on uniting, organithe consul-general in Mukden, counterfait sing into Communist Leagues, form into the battleis being distributed everywhere in the dis- line organisations of the Communist International The report asserts that most of the money of Youth, and storm the fortresses of Capital, conbe traced to the young revolutionary organi- quer freedom and prosperity for mankind.

CHURCHILL COMING ROUND.

Mr. Churchill won his seat in the present House on the promise to make Germany pay. Making Germany pay, he explained on Wednesday, is to "Germany, the greatest debtor nation, had her underfed workpeople employed overtime in the , struggle to pay the war indemnity by sending out. Being the verbatim report of her speech at the her manufactured goods, and the longer this process Youth Swimming Clubs have been started went on the greater would Germany's industrial asgow. Boys and men practice at Whitevale leadership become at the expense of the conditions every Wednesday evening at 8.45, Govan every of life and labour of our industrial population." ay evening at 8.45, girls and women every It is better to be wise late than never,

COMRADE MALONE, M.P.

Congratulations! We hope that you will soon be in the thick of it again!

VENGEANCE!

Three boys were, at the Glasgow Sheriff's Court, sentenced to three years' imprisonment in a Borstal institution for stealing 4 lb. of chocolate. So heavily the "Haves" take vengeance on the young "Have Not's"!

OUR BOOKS.

Comrades are asked to note that we have a number of books on Russia that we are clearing out at reduced prices.

In some cases there are only single copies, which are shop-soiled and are therefore marked

A visit to the office will repay any comrade who wishes to have a library of reference for sical development of the young. This work, to Russian and Communist activity and thought;

BOOKLETS TO READ.

RED RUSSIA (John Reed) ...... 6d. THE CHIEF TASK OF OUR TIMES (Lenin) 3d. MANIFESTO OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY

(Marx and Engels) ..... 3d. THE TRUTH ABOUT RUSSIA (Ransome) 4d. THE HUNGARIAN REVOLUTION (Schmitt) 9d. THE COMMUNIST SONG BOOK ...... 4d. AN APPEAL TO THE YOUNG (Stewart) ... 2d.

Also bundles of leaflets on various subjects: Russia, Industrial, and the War. In bundles of 8 for 1d, post free 2d.

> AN APPEAL By E. SYLVIA PANKHURST.

Appeal heard at the Guildhall. PRICE THREEPENCE

From the "Workers' Dreadnought," Office, 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C. 4.

any rule in dealing with documents seized. Sir think £4 a ton an excessive price for the poor J. Baird (Under-Secretary for Home Affairs) says Unemplyoment Insurance. propose to take any steps with regard reparation." Insurance Acts.

says £50,000 is the estimated cost incurred in collecting that sum. Mr. Killy states, in form off a question to the Prime Minister, that coal coming from the Ruhr Valley "does not pay duty at all." Ireland. Upon Capt. Benn (Lib., Leith) asking how many soldiers have killed since 1st Jan. in the War in Ireland, Col. Newman (Coalition, Finchley) innocently interjected: "Since when, have we been at War with England ! From Jan. 1st 127 military have been killed and 205 wounded, replies Sir Hamar. The Irish Bulletin (Official Copy), on the other hand, states that from 1st Jan. to 31st May 127 persons have been killed by British Troops and Constabulary, not including in this list casualities suffered in action nor any of those accidentally killed during conflicts between British forces and members of the I.R.A.

Letters seized. number of documents were found, including a letter Reparation (Recovery) Act. of William Hunt Under-Manager of the Haunchwood Mr. Mills (Lab., Dartford) should like the Presi-Colliery, asking for certain literature he desired to dent of the Board of Trade to take steps to prevent PARLIAMENT AS WE SEE IT. going to be charged with the expenses of these armiles. Under the German Reparation (Recovery) Act goods If burly Jack Jones is still of an inquiring mind imported from that country direct into England have he could drop a card to us or better still a letter to pay His Majesty's Customs 50 per cent. of their with a P.O. enclosed for his annual sub. to "W.D."

value. Up to the 2nd inst. the amount thus collected and we will let him know, offhand, who is going was £30,000, and Mr. Killy (Lib., Whitechapell) to pay for these armies. Unlawful Assembly. Mr. Swan (Lab., Barnard Castle) is in the same boat with Mr. Jones, and he should also send us a sub. He vainly asked to Mr. Parker (Lord of the Treasury, answering questions for the Home Secretary)! "What is an unlawful assemby!"-No reply came from the Treasury Benches. In the areas affected by the Coal Strike, Mr. Parker had previously stated, replying to Mr. Myers (Lab., Spen Valley), that 13 persons had been committed for trial on the charge of riot, and 25 on the charge of unlawful assembly. They will be tried at the

Sir W. Mitchell-Thomson (Parliamentary Secre- Egypt, that it would be abolished, is likely to Cur Comrades in Korea. tary to the Board of Trade) admits to Mr. J. Guesti (Lab., Hemsworth) that the 94,090 tons of coal delivered by Germany as reparation to France and the present Egyptian Cabinet should resign, say Germany, and which have been imported in this Mr. Lunn (Lab., Rothwell). country since the lockout in the mining industry have paid no import duty under the pet scheme of When the Glasgow Bakoumm Press was raided a Lloyd George that goes by the name of German that prisoners convicted of sedition are too we coal being retailed in small quantities at £4 the The Police showed this letter to Mr. Hunt's em- ton. Measures to prevent poor people being overployers, and he was dismissed. Col. Wedgwood charged were passed by the Spanish Government (Lab., Newcastle-under-Lyne) and Mr. Cairn (Lab., during a strike over there. Mr. Bridgeman (Secre-Morpeth) asked if the Police has the guidance of tary for Mines) is not aware of that, and does not that the "proper action must depend on the cir- Dr. Macnamare (Minister of Labour) brings in a Seditions Speeches. cumstances of each case, and no precise instruction Bill to vary the rates of contribution and the rates Mr. Shortt has had "his attention drawn to " can be given." The Home Secretary "does not and periods of Benefit under the Unemployment case" of Mr. C. T. Woodhead, who was sentence

Lt.-Col. Stanley (Financial Secretary to the War Given an average of 9 per cent. unemployment Mr. T. Griffith (Lab., Pontypool) states, could Office) state that totally, in Constantinople, Egypt, amongst insured persons it would have been possible see his wife, and had no opportunity of instri Palestine, Mesopotamia there are 33,600 British, to carry on till July next with the Lands not counsel for his defence. Two of his friends soldiers and 68,500 Indians, but he cannot say, off- present available. To-day the percentage is 23 per come to Court to give evidence were informed un hand to Mr. J. Jones (Lab., Silvertown), who is cent. The Government is paying out two millions would not be allowed to be witnesses.

OUR BOOKSHELF.

THE COMMUNIST PRESS.

(Under this heading we shall comment upon and study the periodical Communist Press of other countries. Although these publications are mentioned here at random a few every week, this column may prove useful to Comrades desirous of getting in touch with Comrades abroad, ast the same time it will show the importance and the spread of our movement.)

I.—THE AUSTRALIAN COMMUNIST. Official Organ. Editor: C. W. Baker.-119, Rawson Chambers, Rawson Place, Sydney.

The current issue, No. 18, contains, amongst other things, an article by J. T. Walton Newbold on The End of the British Empire; the reply of the resolution of American Socialists concerning affiliation to Moscow and Moscow's cutting reply inviting the workers to leave the said party; the resolution passed by the American Friends of Freedom for India, etc.

This issue also contains a suggestion for a National (Australian) Newspaper of a rather Utopian character. The signatories of this proposal, after having analysed with acuteness the present position of the Capitalist Press, propose the foundation of a daily, financed by the Government, with a cable service of its own, pledged to give fair play to all opinions. worth considering and governed by an Editorial Commission free from political control. To believe that a Government publication could be unbiassed and reliable is to ignore one of the essential and fundamental principles of Communism, that is that the State-viz., the Government-is the *Executive of the ruling classes and therefore always opposed to the emancipation of the workers, even with a Labour Party in power.

THE TIME TO WORK.

Times are hard: trade is bad: unemployment grows. The employing classes turn on the wo.kers and beat down their wages. Prices are still high for what one would buy; but the poor who turn to the pawnshop to tide them over their pressing difficulties, find that prices are all too low when one comes to sell.

It is uphill work doing propaganda. There are risks; D.O.R.A. still runs, and the E.P.A. claims many victims. But the Government is doing our Communist work when we go to prison: it is spreading the good seed of Communist propaganda far more swiftly, far more extensively than we in our present numbers could spread it.

Therefore, though we regret the period of inaction, the loss of vitality entailed which falls upon those comrades who go to prison, we and they know that their sacrifice is not vain, but fruitful.

The hardship of the times, to us who work for Communism, does not arise so much from imprisonment and the risk of it; these we faced with full knowledge of their inevitability, when we joined the lists of those who strive for the Communist Republic.

No, it is not the persecution of the Government that makes our task a hard one; it is the apathy of the unconverted masses, the flagging of comrades who weary for the golden age to come at once, and the hard financial strain. We are in the capitalist system, all of us; it crushes us, grinds us in its mills. In our effort to do propaganda, we bear its brunt, as every worker feels in his daily life. As the working-class mother worries over the problem of buying bread for children, so the price of paper and printing and postage wears us down.

All the comrades who sell Communist papers and pamphlets, who take an active share in the propaganda, feel the weight of the economic depression, as a two-fold burden. They feel it, all of them, in the needs of their daily lives, in the difficulty of maintaining the bare upkeep of the physical body, and in the difficulty of selling the enlightening, hopeful, necessary word of Communism to the masses of workers, hard pressed to maintain existence in these hard times.

But the hard times are the times when our Cause makes headway, for these desperate days of want are teaching the need for a change of system, with a force the words of most ardent, most eloquent prophets could never give.

During the war, we struggled to open the eyes of men and women who flourished in physical well-being upon the slaughter of their fathers. crowding the factories, working in feverish haste to keep going the great fire of ammunition, in which the most cherished inmates of their households were speedily done to death. Big wages for all the family, and the banishment of the spectre of short-time and unemployment that haunts the lives of the workers, were potent, too potent factors in steeling their hearts against us when we tried, with our little Communist sheets, to oppose the vast, all-surrounding influence of the Capitalist press, theatre, cinema, church and school.

Now, in the days of adversity, the workers weary of Capitalism, but know not with what to replace it. They do not even conceive that it is possible to replace it. They fail to realise that the world is always changing, that human society is constantly developing, that mankind has grown up from the Stone Age to this stage, and that there is hope, nay, there is certainty, that we shall pass out of this cruel-world of competition, of poverty and riches, to the days of general plenty, of safe security for every member of the human family. Comrades, you are out of work. Comrades, you are working short. The struggle is hard: it is almost bear.

Yes, but you have time, precious time, some opportunities to go to our fellow-workers, to tell them of Communism, to bring them into the ranks that will work for it.

Comrades, you say it is difficult to sell the papers: the workers think the 2d. too much to pay in these lean and hungry days. Yes, it is true, and that increases all our difficulties; but one cannot accomplish the Revolution without struggle.

Where the papers and pamphlets cannot go. the spoken word must be used. It happens, also, that we have been hoarding for months, the returned copies of the Workers' Dreadnought, that come to us from the newsagents.

So long as they last, we can let you have these back numbers if you will send for them and put them into the hands of those who will use them.

It happens, also, that there is quite a large stock of Communist pamphlets at the Dreadnought office in Fleet Street, which can be sold off at low rates for propaganda work.

"I do not feel willing to help you to continue publication of the Dreadnought, as it advocates an economic policy which I consider would ruin the Nation. I advocate Individualism as opposed to Socialism. I need hardly say that I entirely disapprove of the prosecutions of yourself and other Communists. These prosecutions are as silly as they are wrong. I greatly admire your foreign policy and opposition to the awfully wisked attacks on Russia and practical blockade of that country. I also greatly admire the courage with which you advocated peace during the war, when you risked your life at the hands of a murderous mob as well as prosecution by a bloodthirsty Government."

So writes Arnold Lupton, a brave man, who, though he is old and his health is frail, went to prison for his faith during the Great War.

Arnold Lupton is a brave man, but he does not believe in Communism. We think he does not understand it. Probably his consideration a Bank Clerk to the Magistrate at the Mansion of it is clouded by prejudices aroused by the doctrines of the old-fashioned State Socialists, who are really not Socialists at all.

But does Arnold Lupton (do other men and women of good will, who love their fellow human beings), desire the Capitalist system to continue? Are they content with life as it is to-day?

Let them go down to the docks and see the unemployed fighting for jobs; men whose parents denied themselves in order that their boys might be apprenticed to good trades, fighting for the chance to do a little rough labouring work.

Let them go down to the slums and see the children deformed by malnutrition.

And let them walk round the deserted streets of the great cities in the night time and discover in the shrouded doorways, the old, penniless women, who crouch there with empty pockets and empty stomachs, hugging themselves with their weak and palsied arms.

Do they desire these things? Do they desire to have the responsibility of maintaining them? Read and spread the

Young International

Fighting organ of the Young Communist International First number of the English edition now ready Contains articles by well-known comrades and fine artists of all countries.

Price of single number: Twopence.

Other Literature for the Youth :-"Remove the Frontiers." Price 2d. (International Manifesto).

The Young Communist International" (Report of the First Congress). Price 2d. "The Young Worker" (monthly organ of the Young Workers' League). Price 2d.

The above list to be obtained from the Literary Secretary, Young Workers' League, 28, East Road. City Road, N. 1.

PLEBS

CONTENTS:

Are Our Teaching Methods Out of Date? -Geographical Facts and Proletarian Fashions-Plebs Competitions - A Plebs in Mayfair - A French Scheme of Working-class Education-Economics Without Headaches—Tra la Mondo, Etc.

Monthly.

6d. ROAD, EARL'S COURT, S.W.5.

ADS. TO ADVERTISERS.

OF THE "WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT"

READ STUDIED AND -SCRUTINISED BY

- The Most Active-minded of the Working-Class and by the Social Reformers of A Schools and Grades of Society.
- The Editorial Staffs of Some 200 Foreign and Colonial Newspapers, and Officials Political and Educational Organisations.
- Comrades and Officials in the Government Soviet Russia, where a Great Number of New Workers' Universities and Schools are Being Opened.
- A Considerable Number of M.P.'s and British Government Officials who are Eager Know the Trend of Opinion in the Working Class and the Strength of the Advanced Movement.

EVERY PERSON

in the above Categories is a potential buyer books, and many are in a position to influence the buying of the Organisations of which they a members.

THE "W.D." READERS

range from a South Wales Miner to Lenin; from House.

EVERY ONE

eager to know, to study, to read.

Space, at five shillings the column inch, is a s and productive investment.

SMALL ADVERTISEMENTS-1d. a Word.

APARTMENTS WANTED in Manchester by munist Family of three. Lancaster, 39, Upp Brook Street, Manchester.

WANTED Agents for selling Dreadnoughts which supply to those who take quantities at 3s. quire.

FURNISHED FRONT ROOM for two or TRUE Communists. Library in different guages at disposal. -58, Fortess Road, Kent Town, N.W.

Published by E. Sylvia Pankhurst at 152, Street, London, E.C. 4, and printed by S. at 10, Wine Office Court, Fleet Street, Lond E.C. 4.