CO-OPERATION, NOT COMPETITION.

VOL. X. No. 15.

SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1923.

WEEKLY.

ITALIAN CO-OPERATIVES

Of late many writings of Odon Por on the productive Co-operatives of Italy have been published in English.

Odon Por is not a Communist: he dismisses cursorily what he describes as Utopianism. He favours a complex organisation representing the productive Co-operative Societies, private producers, organised consumers, the State, and other public bodies. In our opinion, the workers' initiative would be smothered by outside super-imposed authority in such an organisation as Odon Por desires. His proposals no doubt largely spring from his desire to avoid any clash of interests which may cause social upheavals. He says *:

"The time will come when the two forms of enterprise, co-operative and private, will begin to exhaust the possibilities of their respective regions of expansion, and will have filled every cranny of the economic sphere in which they act. When this happens, and when invasion of their recome inevitable. This understanding will probably take the form of a super-structure on the lines of the mediaeval guilds."

Odon Por's proposals for the guilds he desires are not, however, on the lines of the mediaeval guilds, but on a much more bureaucratic model. He quotes with approval the demand of the sub-Alpine Press Association for the control of the Piedmont telephone system if the State cease to own it, as announced by Mr. Mussolini. The sub-Alpine Press Association demanded a supreme council of management for the telephone, of representatives of the sub-Alpine Press Asso. ciation, the Turin Chamber of Commerce, the telephone subscribers, and the staff of the telephone service.

That such a proposal was made by a Press Association shows that the idea of the allsufficing righteousness of private enterprise has been more largely undermined in Italy han in this country. Nevertheless, the alternative suggested is not to our taste. Chambers of Commerce have no place in our visions of the Socialist community, nor do we mow why the ordinary citizen who uses the elephone, but knows little or nothing of its mechanism, should desire to instruct his rothers and sisters who operate the telephone s to their pusiness. Such theories of conrol by the consumers are part of the ideology which has grown up in the system of proluction for profit.

Railway Co-operative Society.

Odon Por is more interesting in describing actual developments of the Italian Coperatives, of which he has undoubtedly a ide knowledge, though his account of them coloured by his half-way-house point of

He recounts * that some twenty years ago e Italian railwaymen proposed to take over management of the Italian State rail-The Trade Union of the secondary always has recently formed a National Cooperative Combine, including 12 Co-operative Societies, covering 12 different areas. The object is to take over the various railway systems from the State on lease, as the existing contracts with the various private companies come to an end. The Combine includes all grades of workers, from the stationmaster and engine driver to the navvy. Shares of 20 lire are issued. Each member must take up at least four shares.

* The Guild Movement in Italy "Interational Labour Review."

Marine Co-operatives.

The National Federation of Marine Workers was founded in 1909, to include all workers on board ship, from captain to cabin boy. In 1918 the Federation promoted the founding of a Co-operative Society, the Garibaldi, by its affiliated societies. Membership of the "Garibaldi" is confined to members of the Marine Workers' Federation. Shares in the Garibaldi are 25 lire each. No union may hold more than 5,000 lire, this being the maximum fixed by law. In April 1919 the federated unions decided that their members spective camps is necessary, the next step; should invest the increases in pay just rean understanding between them, will be- ceived in co-operative shares up to the total allowed to each Union. The subscriptions were fixed at 60 lire per month for captains and chief engineers, 50 for other officers, and 45 for other ratings. The Garibaldi has now 65,000 shareholding members and a share capital of 54,000,000 lire. It owns seven large steamers, one oil tanker, and smaller craft. Five ships were bought from the State. The December 1922 palance showed a net profit of 1,319,822.75 lire; 10 per cent. was paid to reserve, 455 per cent. to sinking fund, 20 per cent, to welfare fund, 25 per cent. to development fund.

> Disabled members and the relatives of deceased members are re-paid the value of their holdings. Shareholders, according to the rules, are to be re-paid as soon as possible.

Metal Workers' Co-operatives.

There are about a hundred metal workers' Co-operatives. A combine of Co-operatives was formed in 1919, and about twenty societies joined it. It is able to construct large merchant and war ships. At Trieste, Venice, Ancona, Spezia, Genoa, and Sazana it has yards for repairing the largest liners. It has workshops for the construction and repair of railway coaches, electric and longdistance transmission plant, the construction of machine tools and tool-making machines, sporting guns, machinery of precision. plumbers' fittings, agricultural machinery; :t has iron and brass foundries. It has built ships for the Government, and coaches and electric plant for the State railways.

When the combine began, some Co-operatives joined it as autonomous members, others were bought up and managed by it. The dual system caused difficulties. The result is that the combine has given up direct management. It leases out to separate combines all the Co-operatives it formerly bought. The combine now undertakes the following functions: **

" (a) Taking on contracts for work and sub-letting them to Co-operative Societies.

 Oden Por in "International Labour Review."

- " (b) Provision of funds or the work so allocated.
 - " (c) Supply of raw materials.
- " (d) Commercial office, advertising, etc., for information, allocation, and exchange of individual products.
- " (e) Political office for propaganda and policy.
- (f) Administration and technical inspection of office."

The rules for the Co-operatives in the combine are:

- " (a) They may not independently take on work of considerable extent without obtaining the previous consent of the technical office, in order to avoid failure or disaster.
- " (b) They may not make large direct purchases of raw material unless they can show that they can buy at lower prices than those offered by the supply office of he combine.
- " (c) They must submit to such periodical inspection of their administration as the combine shall think fit, in order to safeguard the efficient working of the Co-operative Societies."

It is interesting to notice that even in this authoritarian age it has been found most practical for the individual Co-operatives to retain their autonomy. In the Socialist community of the future the central offices represented by this combine will be centres for compiling statistics, collating information. and for research—not for authoritarian control.

The Venice Arsenal.

The Venice Arsenal is under the control of the Venice Municipality, which delegates the management to a combine composed of the metal workers' Co-operatives and the Capitalist shipping companies. The interest which the shipping companies may draw from the money they have invested in the Arsenal is limited by law.

Such arrangements show the strength to which the Trade Union and Co-operative Movement had attained before the rise of the Fascisti. Also the limitations in the policy and power of the Italian Labour Movement; for all these are but modifications of Capitalism—the wage system remains untouched.

Building Co-operatives.

The Italian Federation of Building Cooperatives and Communes was founded in 1920 by the Building Workers' Federation, in agreement with the National Co-operative and Trade Union Federations. In some districts private enterprise in building has ceased, and the Co-operatives have taken its place. The Building Federation undertakes not merely buildings, but repair and construction of roads, reclamation of waste land, irrigation and drainage, the making of embankments, dykes and waterworks. It undertakes contracts for work abroad and has carried out work in the devastated regions of France.

It should be observed that the building workers' Trade Union and the building Cooperatives are mer - - - anisation.

The Ravenna Co-operatives.

The Ravenna Co-operative is of another order. It applies not merely to one industry, but to many. The Ravenna Co-operative Society was formed so long ago as 1883. In 1885 it took over the management of a large stretch of land belonging to the municipality of Ravenna. This land it has reclaimed and cultivated. The same Co-operative Society has since reclaimed and settled waste land belonging to the Crown at Ostia, near Rome.

The success of the Agricultural Co-operative Society at Ravenna led to the formation of numbers of other societies in the neighbourhood: plasterers', carters', joiners'. smiths', metal workers', house painters'. opposite direction. tinsmiths', glaziers', porters', marine workers', marble workers', bakers', and other Co-operatives were formed, and have since formed the Federation of Co-operative Socie. ties of the Province of Ravenna. There are in all 100 Co-operatives, with 23,000 members, owning the plant required for their industries, and farming upwards of 17,000 acres of land. The Federation owns and farms a further 4,500 acres of land.

Federation represents them in dealing with ceived no sign of life from any of you since outsiders, and assists in procuring materials September 3rd, and despair of receiving any. doctor. Something flew in my eye at we and giving technical advice.

marshes of Ravenna were abanoned by pri- are abnormal, like all the rest. We are work- away from the front for a couple of days. vate Capitalism. The Co-operatives have ing immediately behind the first line at the is three o'clock in the morning. I and been built on the most advanced and idealis- front, near the advance posts, without any couple of our men have taken refuge for the mild-mannered, half-dried Cape Province tic basis realised by the people who originated protection. The Russian front is still on this night in a deserted house. Cossack path and carried out this work. Had the possi- side of the Duna. Night and day shots and are prowling round, so one of us must sit bility of Communist co-operation found a explosions, bright flashes and dull rumblings, and I have undertaken it as I wanted "Postwagen" meant stage-coach, so it was a practical and determined basis in the minds hissings and whistlings and sobbings and chance to work and read. I got a heap of h of the founders, the organisation would have heavy crashes. Bombs and shrapnel follow newspapers a little while ago, but so far been different. We should strive to ensure each other unceasingly; at night we must be letters. We are two or three miles from the that all future new settlements be conducted ready to leave our quarters at any moment front, and for the moment things are fairly get along. So I read some more. on Communist lines, so far, at least, as the Eventually we shall have to go in the quiet. The heavy artillery is not in operation internal management is concerned.

The Ravenna Co-operatives have built factories for private firms, public buildings, roads, canals, bridges, not merely in their own province, out all over Italy.

Shortcomings of the Co-operatives.

credit or lend their own small savings. The obliged to evacuate on account of the I found a large number of old reservista profits are divided between the reserve, sink- artillery fire, and our actual quarters have my acquaintance, who are in a very disc ing fund, education and welfare work, the come under fire more than once. In other ing state of mind. They are all utterly a proportion being fixed by the general meet- divisions of the same company there have of the massacre. ing of members.

Co-operatives has been reached through the was killed by shrapnel. Yesterday a man and discuss with me. My part in the efforts of their great membership. Odon Por shot himself with his rifle, firing it off with cussion was carried on with perfect declares that the Co-operatives are a real his foot. menace to Capitalist firms, which, in some The way we are treated here is shameful I told them the truth quite plainly, and made directions, find that they cannot compete with the Co-operatives.

This doubtless is the reason why, as Por reports:

setting up a National Council of Labour and Production.

solini to organise the Black Shirt Army to to the forage transport, and so lost altogether you more particulars of these conversation crush the Socialist and Trade Union Move- to the ambulance service-just now when the ment by violence. They may use subtler danger is greatest. And that at the front; methods to limit the competition of the it is a great scandal. The victualling here, Workers' Co-operatives.

It must be recognised, however, that whilst the workers have displayed remarkable initiative and solidarity in constructing them, the Co-operatives have in no sense liberated the Products for Use Not Attempted.

They are not linked together in the effort that are not paying interest on the invested write, and have nothing to do but "go to bed" by G. V. Krishnæ Rao, Gandhipet, Gu capital are paying into large sinking funds —that is, lie down on our bit of straw all Madras, India, 12/- a year.

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

Unemployment.

As to the Marine Co-operative, which, Odon Por describes, its assistant secretary in its centre at Genoa resigned for precisely these reasons. He pointed out that at the close of the war the employees of the Cooperative suffered like other workers from unemployment and falling prices because the Co-operatives had not attempted to make themselves independent of Capitalism.

Co-operatives to the Capitalist structure, a definite union between them, and private ing to write you a few comforting words.

Actually the hope of the future lies in the LETTERS OF KARL LIEBKNECHT. Translated from the German by G. B.

TO HIS WIFE.

September 20th, 1910.

We shall soon be celebrating the third anniversary of our marriage. I cannot imagine The local societies are autonomous. The where you will be on that day. I have re. My Dearest,-It is doubtful if this letter will reach Berlin and inflammation has set in. It is noth All this has come about because the by October 1st. The conditions of the post serious, and will give me a chance to trenches; according to Hindenburg the tion. Last night there were several s sappers have behaved so well that they are guinary skirm shes in the forest of the Di to have this "honour." Really we are not The German losses were considerable, p fit for it, nor experienced enough. Even the owing to the fact that the German artisolitary non-com. who has charge of us has fire fell short. It seems that operations never tried it, and knows nothing at all about large scale are being prepared on both si it. Till now, however, we have had no losses German and Russian. The spirit of the If funds are short the workers work on in our division, although we were once man troops is much excited—nay, embitted been several losses. Only the day before In the early part of the time all sort The great commercial success of the Italian yesterday a non-com., father of six children, officers, including two princes, used to com

-criminal. Please let Haase know of it. them admit, in the end, that it was German anything but a cold shoulder, as far as I had The entire battalion of 2,500 men has only and Austria who had provoked the war, one doctor-and what a doctor! One doctor that they had hailed the assassination for 2,500 men who are scattered about in ex- Serajevo as an excuse sent from heaven; tremely small companies over an area of about expressed with the utmost cynicism "The present Government has an 80 square miles or more. In my own com- hopes of further conquests. One of nounced that it is preparing a Bill for pany of about 500 men there are two officers even confessed to me that he had worked to zwei Reisenden auf einer Eisenbahn." of the Ambulance Corps-for 500 men scat- years to help bring on the war, and that the 1 tered about in an area of 30 square miles war would last another year, and perhap dialogue gave me to understand was supplied The great industrial Capitalists hired Mus. And of these two, one has been transferred two. If we have an opportunity I will too, leaves much to be desired, but we find plenty of good potatoes in the fields. We can get no tobacco at all, and that is particularly trying, as tobacco is the only stimulant left to us. Behind, at the reserve posts there is everything-two cigars and a couple of cigarettes a day, for instance. Here we get one cigar every jubilee year, and we pay 20 pfennigs for a miserable cigarette. The to make themselves independent of Capi- hardest privation of all, however, is having talism while they are trading with each other no light. After six o'clock it is quite dark They are also trading with private enterprise -no candles or anything. We wander about on the same or similar terms. Those of them a little while. We can neither read nor

Can we doubt that the people are develop- to redeem their loans. They are competing dressed as we are, rolled up as best we can wet to the skin. We really need our winter I came away in June. Please send them to me at once, and send me every week regular and every week, too, five candles, not to large. Please send me the "Tageblatt." hear it is temporarily stopped. Once I Vorwaerts."

versary of our wedding day, and was intend. want to tell you that I love you, that t and well in spite of everything, I want t desired it to be than I have been able to so far. Spend that day thinking of me, m darling; think of Prague, Eger, and Scha dau, of the Schlachtensee, of Hambu Heidelburg, of Wurms, and so on, as I shall

Your KARL.

TO HIS WIFE.

I am leaving for Kertschen to find

It is all dark round me. I hear the singing in the distance. I don't know wh am afraid, horribly afraid, of losing All the past lives before me, and I shall myself in it if you do not lift me out. stretched out to you; give me yours. me. Without you I am nothing. thing seems to give way in me.

Your KARL

Navayuga, an independent weekly devo at six of them." to national and international problems, e

SHOWING A TONGUE. By L. A. Motler.

June 30, 1928.

German in a German Durchreisezug (or clothes here; and I left mine at home when through train) I recollected that story of the tsman and the man from Zummerzet. You will remember they were trying to ask five packets of good tobacco and twenty each other the time, or maybe the Scotsman cigars, those at 6 pfennigs, big and strong; was asking for a match. I don't know. But anyway, after they had each been cursing the and turned up the gas miles before we came other for not knowing the English language, to a tunnel. She never even looked at moin fluent Zulu. Immediately the Zummer- was trying to read the "Lokalanzeiger" up-I have quite got away from the original zet man understood him. And a sort of en- side down. Germans believe all Englishmen Odon Por urges a closer binding of the topic of this letter. I began about the anni. tente cordiale (Johnny Dewar brand) arose are mad; and I am afraid she went home out of that discordial misunderstanding.

You see, Henry, I had been struggling with help you to make your future more what you it ought to have been all Sir Garnet and you to do with a book that says: do Al at Norddeutscher Lloyd's.

'If you would be kind enough to change places with me, you would oblige me very much. I am always ill when I ride with my back to the horses."

Now Germany is in a bad way, but I have never seen a Broken-down train being hauled along by horses, although I have been in a tor-car that was being hauled by ten nkeys and fifty kaffirs out of a raging torent that fifteen minutes ago had been a spruit. But that by the way. To return to our horses. I noticed after all that ttle behind the times. Making allowance half a century, however, and making horses " read "engine," I thought I would

You appear to be inclined to sleep, more, thanks.

Yes, but one cannot get into a conenient position."

I thought this was fine. There was a raulein in the train who could have had both my shoulders and a bit of my lap if I ad known the German for it before. But ot one of the Germans there had offered her ticed. Maybe the guide book meant that oulders were not for home consumption.

However, here we are on the railway. Strange I did not notice it before, but you will easily understand "Gesprach zwischen myself did not get any information like this lavishly, but here it is.

Are you going as far as presden by this relling with you."

Personally nobody asked me where I was you so; love me always. My hands going, except the kondukteur, and he would ot believe me until I had searched my seventeen pockets for the ticket that was in my hand all the time. He even laughed. And were about forty stations, and the train only carrying to repair the viaduct of Blumenhad accepted the accommodation of my shoulder, the next question would have had me sitting up:

Do we pass through any tunnels?

Only one, and that a short one.' Still, Henry, my lad, a tunnel is a tunnel. But my luck was out. The fraulein woke up of the Scot desperately threw out a few phrases but once, and then I found it was because . THE DESECRATION OF THE with that impression.

real German book, printed in Germany, so is any accommodation to her, well, what are

If they do not put another engine on, Unfortunately, I read the English part of we shall be a long time on the road; for the e dialogue first, and it gave me decided mis- train is a very long one, and consists chieby vings. I turned to "In einem Post- of waggons loaded with rails to repair the railroad between Oschatz and the viaduct at

> She would probably have said the German for "Oh, quit your kidding, old bean, and don't be so fresh." Or, maybe, have pulled down the handle of the notbremse and have me installed in the nearest fortress for lunatic behaviour. As it was, I looked up that blessed guide book some more.

When do we give up our tickets?"

Now this is the time when the guide book could have given some all-weather fool-proof information; but instead:

They seldom ask for them here. Mind you do not lose your ticket for your luggage.

once, they had asked for it forty times. You their nights also, upon the Embankment see, I had seen advisd by a friend (you know Gaunt, ill-clad figures, with yearning eyes. those friends who know everything, Henry), they seem to ponder the possibility of endand he had said that if there was one thing ing their existence in those grey waters. a Continental thief was good at, that was I had noticed it myself, but it had never pocket-picking; and of all things in the occurred to me that it was something to talk world, he preferred to pinch a rail ticket. AFTER FIFTY YEARS. about, like the weather, for instance, or the So I kept my ticket buried deep in a different price of Munich lager. Yes, Matilda, just place each time; I could never remember The Salvation Army celebrated its fiftieth where I had last put it. And as for luggage anniversary by a procession through the wise search me.

What was the use of saying to her: "The situation of the engine driver and spokenness, and was, to me, very diverting now she was fast asleep; and, strange to say, stoker must be very unpleasant with such a neat in front of them.'

> According to the guide book, she would have replied:

"Oh yes; but in winter I think it is not so disagreeable."

Instead she woke up, did some business with her hair, and then pulled out a copy of the "Daily Herald." And me wasting all And saviours of the world. O'er hill and those precious miles trying to get a decent conversation out of an alleged Guide and Aid Bending beneath their burdens, see them to Travellers in Germany.

Believe me, Henry, these foreign books are Disconsolate and flouted and despised. no good. Even if you do hit on the appro- Always unrecompensed, unrecognised, Then I shall have the pleasure of tra- priate conversation to be addressed to a nice And still their burden gathers, still they bend. young lady sitting opposite you on the through train to Berlin, it will be no use to you when you sit in the street cafe on the Boulevard Augustin and ask the waiter the nearest way to the Moulin Bleu.

On another page you will find a comrade lobody asked me: "How many stations are struggling to impart a knowledge of Esperthere between this and Dresden?" I could anto to the people who need it most—the easily have answered them, for the guide Internationalists. And you will not find it book said: "Eight, but the train only stops waste of time to pick it up, because it will see you round anywhere, even it does not However, I was going to Berlin; and there tell you how many rails the waggons are stopped at thirty-nine of them-as I found shaven. And you can do a pit of propaout afterwards. Exactly what this informa- ganda with it, trying to tell the young lady tion is I don't know. But if the frautein travelling with you the Esperanto for tunnel. methinks I will arink the health of the inventor of Esperanto, and to your success, Henry. Matilda, la saman kompléze!

> We regret that L. A. Motler's signature was omitted from his "Press Gangdom in last week's issue. Our readers, however, will have recognised his style.

EMBANKMENT.

How ugly are the manners of Capitalism! Believe me, it is not easy to carry on a The banks of the old grey Thames, which a dictionary that purported to give the exact conversation when you are travelling. Sup. should be a place of rest and peace for Lontime we passed together is to me very sacred, meaning in German of whatever I wanted posing you want to say to a fraulein you like doners, are desecrated by huge painted letters and that if I come out of this massacre safe (but most of what I didn't want). It was a kind face, and if an orange and glaring electric signs advertising the Daily Mail, Boots, "Millennium Flour, and so on. Firms which advertise in that fashion should be boycotted for mflicting eyesores upon the people. Quiet is banished from the Embankment, with its trees and its potential grandeur, by the ceaseless roar and clatter and the flash. ing lights of the electric trams. Londoners thronging in enormous numbers to work in the city from the proletarian suburbs on the south side of the river must be conveyed to and from their nomes; and the Embankment tramlines are useful connecting-links between the various southern tram routes. That is so; but if the enrichment and beautifying of ordinary life were not almost entirely thrust aside by financial considerations, the Embankment trams would probably pass under the roadway, and some less hideous and noisy mechanism would certainly be devised for transporting the people.

More poignantly disturbing even than the noisy trams are the sad waifs who spend Pish! If they had asked for my ticket their days, and, when the police permit it, tickets, I hadn any luggage to speak of. streets of London on Saturday, June 23rd. Every mile was landing me nearer my In fifty years that "Army" has advanced "Do not inconvenience yourself, madam. destination; but of information suitable to not one step. It still preaches the old bar-If my shoulder is any accommodation to impart to a young girl with blonde hair and barities of bygone Hebrew superstition. It blue eyes, well, you could search that guide still calls on the people-and especially the book from cover to cover. You could like poor and lowly—to live in dread of hell fire 'Blood and fire ' is still the motto inscribed on its banners. "The Army" has even gone backward since the day of its foundation, for it has now organised Girl Guides and Boy Scouts in imitation military uniforms.

Past fields and vinewards where the grape

Bear witness to their unremitting toil

Trudge the degenerate soldiers of the soil

-Godfrey Blount, B.A.

THE WORKERS' OPPOSITION IN RUSSIA, By Alexandra Kollontay.

First Soviet Commissary for Social Welfare. Describing the conflict between the Communist workers and the Soviet Government for the Workers control of industry.

An important book. Price 6d.

Morkers' Dreadnought

Founded 1914. Editor: SYLVIA PANKHURST. 40 40 40

All Matter for Publication— To THE EDITOR: Business Communications — To THE MANAGER. WURKERS' DREADNOUGHT, 152, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.4.

SUBSCRIPTIONS. Three Months (13 weeks) ... Post Free 1/74 MIX Months (26 weeks) Une Year ($2 weeks)

Vol. X. No. 15. Saturday, June 30, 1923.

Our Diew.

THE FIRST POLICE RAIDS in its history have befallen the "Daily The Wystery Herald." The cause of these Submarine. raids is its publication of an alleged photograph of an alleged submarine X1. It is strange that the Admiralty should be ruffled by the publication of the hardly discernible little photograph which appeared in the "Daily Herald," which could certainly not be of the least use to any foreign Government desirous of learning the secrets of the so-called mystery submarine. The 'Observer,' and other Capitalist newspapers, published details concerning this ship in advance of the "Daily Herald." Capitalist newspapers have stated that the submarine was laid down ten days before the Washington Conference, in order to evade the agreements there arrived at; also that the submarine, the largest in the world, has a cruising radius of 6,000 miles, a displacement of 2,780 tons on the surface, and 3,500 tons submerged.

The "Observer" stated on June 17th:

According to reports, which the Admiralty will neither deny nor confirm, she will mount 12-in. guns, and will in reality be a submersible battleship."

Certainly we think that the Government might have made a show of impartiality by raiding the Capitalist newspapers also; but .t was a splendid advertisement for the "Daily

Whilst Britain is alleged to have launched the largest submarine, the United States s said to have built the largest war aeroplane with a wing spread of 120 feet, capable of dropping a bomb which would make a 50-ft. crater and destroy every building within a radius of half a mile.

THAT THE DARIAC REPORT on tha Rhineland was accepted and acted upon by the French Government is shown by another secret document pub-Plans for Rhineland. lished by the "Observer."

This report by the French representative in the Rhineland is dated April 26th, 1923. It shows that the French financed the activities of Dr. Dorten, the Ger. man separatist leader. Dorten publicly advocated the Rhineland becoming an autonomous federal State within the Reich, but assured the French that this programme was merely designed to calm the uneasiness of his followers who feared a disguised French annexation. An autonomous State, however, he told the French, could not "stand, and must soon be replaced by an independent Kenya. State with leanings towards France."

The relations between the French and Dr. Dorten continued for some years. In February 1923 they became strained, and the French accused Dorten of doing nothing to develop the separatist imovement, of ever gerating its importance, of misusing the funds entrusted to him, and of provoking campaigns in the French Press hostile to the French High Commissariat which was financ-

The writer of the report declares Dr. The present-day motto is: 'One man six As to Mr. Webb's further proposals, first that he believes him upright and honest in men one book "-Spiller.

money matters. Nevertheless, he has to contess he has no proof to support his opinion of Dr. Dorten, 'for the budgets Dorten preduced were too sketchy for us to draw any conclusions.

The document advises negotiations with Dorten, not as with another Power, but as with a "valued and weighty counsellor." This document clearly demonstrates the ugly recklessness and lack of scruple with which Governments manipulate opinion, and use public money and power, to serve the interests of ambitious men who happen to

· have secured office. AN ENGINEER WRITES from Nuneaton: The Reign of hosiery machine. For month I shall receive no pay, but the chances of work are greater than in the engineering trade. One man looking after ten automatic machines can produce forty pairs of stockings per hour, finishing operations taking only a few seconds for each pair.

One woman in a 48-hour week, with the help of a girl of 14 to 16 years, can produce 100 dozen pairs of socks, finished by hand.

Dyeing is done by the 10,000. Nevertheless, millions of hours are wasted in darning, patching and faking up stockings and socks. Thus time and energy is misused, and feet are kept in a state of discomfort, though the machines can produce stockings and socks as fast as they can be cut off with a pair of scissors .-

the stockings and socks, which often pass moment, and his immediate proposals from the manufacturer through many middle- reform, show that his foreign policy bears a men before they reach the retail shopkeeper, very close relationship to that of Mr. Asquith, and eventually the purchaser and wearer.

vast production which is possible is checked no relation to the cause of proletarian emanciby the manipulations of the private-property pation and wage-slavery. system. The world's population might easily be supplied with more hosiery than it would tures of economic life to-day demanding care to use, if only production were for use, consideration of every statesman"

THE APPROPRIATE COMMENTARY to this Nuneaton letter comes from A. B. Dumbar, in Johannesburg: "The Capitalist system of production is marvellous. The manufacturers keep improving the machines and dismissing the creased production to a decreasing number of people with the power to buy. The unemployed, without the means to buy, cannot help to make a market for commodities produced for sale. They should be consumers, but they cannot be because they are unable to buy."

"HOME DEFENCE" PRETEXT sently to be spent on the Air Force, and 82 trolling influence behind the invasion is that squadrons provided. The Governments are now busy preparing for the next war.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD, speaking at a Britain and India demonstration in the Queen's Hall. urged that the Indian settlers in Kenya should have the same political rights as the white settlers. Mr. Macdonald said the problem is complicated: it is, however, quite simple: let there be equal rights for all inhabitants of Kenya, not excepting those Labour Colonies.

the completed result of philosophical induc- he knew what the Bill contains. tion from experience.-Mills.

Dorten incapable of malpractices, adding books." A device should be inscribed: "Six comes the Capital Levy, as Mr. Webb de-

COMMENTS ON THE LABOUR PARTY CONFERENCE. SIDNEY WEBB AS CHAIRMAN.

Mr. Webb's address to the Labour Party clearly reveals his conception of Socialism It has not advanced, but rather receded and grown smaller with the passing years. The extreme divergence between Mr. Webb's idea Socialism and our own is demonstrated i the following passages from his speech:

"This translation of Socialism into practicable projects, to be adopted one after another, is just the task in which we have been engaged for a whole generation, with the result that, on every side, fragment of our proposals have already been put successfully into operation by town and county councils, and the national Govern. ment itself, and have now become accepted as commonplaces by the average man. whole nation has been imbibing Socialism without realising it! It is now time for the subconscious to rise into consciousness. And further:

"To-day what the world needed was no less government but more. It was because they wanted more government interna. tionally (and thereby a wider measure of national freedom in any real sense) that they supported the League of Nations, and sought to render it both more democrati and more and more effective as an instru ment of world control."

The Greater Evils.

Mr. Webb's summing up of what he con-Millions of hours, too, are wasted in selling siders the most outstanding evils of the whilst his home policy is anything This is the age of potential plenty, but the Socialist, is intensely bureaucratic, and has

He summed up the "three dominant fea-

(1) The supercession of free competition amongst Capitalists by trusts and mono-

Evidently Mr. Webb desires legislation to limit the development of trusts. In that proposal he is following in the vain footsteps of President Roosevelt. Though Mr. Webb frequently proclaims that he is not a Marxian workers, and expecting to sell their in- it seems odd that he, a lover of bureaucratic centralisation and State control, should ad vocate an artificially imposed return to Capitalist competition.

The reformist, however, is usually incon-

(2) The dominating influence of the very rich in the Government and the Press.

This is a factor which Mr. Webb has been is again being used to gloss forced partially to grasp, but his realisation over the new armament race of it is very dim. Otherwise he would not in which the Great Powers are believe, as he said in his speech, that French again engaged. Five and a- aggression in the Ruhr springs from a "fear half millions a year is pre- complex." He would know that the con of the very rich, motived by the desire f further enrichment.

Unemployment.

As to that, Mr. Webb says the Labour Party has a way out. The Labour Party Unemployment Bill, to deal with, not to prevent unemployment, is, however, published. Mr. Webb has probably drafted it; it is a dismal monstrosity bristling with Orders in Council and relegating the unemployed to who have first claim to consideration—the The ordinary workman is quite unaware that this Bill is supposed to be his; he would In its proper acceptation, "theory" means certainly disown the child as a changeling if

> The Capital Levy. scribed it:

"A war debt redemption levy on fortunes exceeding £5,000 in graduated proportion to the ability to pay, sufficient to redeem the main bulk of the debt."

June 80, 1928.

Mr. Webb advocated the Capital Levy as a relief to trade and industry, urging that at present £1,000,000 a day has to be taken out of industry in taxation "before wages are paid or profits made."

It is interesting that Mr. Webb should be so solicitous to assist the Capitalist manufacturer, and that the Capitalist manufacturer should be so anxious to avoid receiving assistance.

If the great industrialists are called on to ernment and get a reduced income tax in return, as promised by the Labour Party, whom he referred or the organisation they will create debenture shares which the National Debt investor, whom the Government has re-paid, will take up in order to employ the returned capital and thereby secure interest upon it. The industrial capitalist will thus pay interest on the debentures instead of income tax to the Government.

If the bankers and financial capitalists have to hand over a part of their capital to the Government, they will in return be repaid the amount they invested in the National Debt, as well as having to pay reduced income tax on the rest of their capital. The financiers will see to it that they make a profit on the transaction whichever way it goes. They are more than a match for Mr. Webb and his colleagues in that respect.

We do not think that the Capital Levy will make for the trade improvement the Labour Party promises; the very rich will create financial stringency and upheavals to attain their ends, whilst the Labour Party, with its programme of gradual change, will not attempt to break the power of the very rich.

In any case, the Capital Levy concerns only the very rich and the moderately rich; the wage-earner pays neither income tax nor the levy directly. The productive workers produce the wealth that maintains all the nonproducers, whether very rich or moderately so. That position will not be changed by the Capital Levy.

Foreign Policy.

As to foreign policy, Mr. Webb advocated the abolition of passports and Customs barriers. These, of course, are merely Liberal ciras. It is interesting that Mr. Webb, like as prisoners of war.

leading position in the concert of Europe two girls were treated well.

perialist, desiring that his country should be Oriel House, of a degraded and brutal type, showed himself more reactionary and dan- Prisoners who resisted any part of their disgerous than many Liberals. The Webbs, be gusting proceedings were attacked by them it remembered, supported both the Boer War with violence. Miss Nora Spillane, one of and the late war-and these are called the deportees, gave the following account of Socialists!

Mr. Webb further indicated his view that tims of torpedo and bomb.

Imperialist, for whom the King will send if, off her and she was treated very roughly. and when, the Labour Party secures a Parlia- Rose Killen's (London deportee) dress was mentary majority?

The Labour Party followed its reformist indignities. and anti-Socialist policy with consistency "Sorcha MacDermott (London deportee) when it rejected the affiliation of the Right- was knocked on the floor by five Cumann na Wing Communist Party by 2,880,000 to Saoirse women and stripped of her shoes and 366,000 and refused to extend its whips to stockings and dress, held down by Harry York.

Walton Newbold by 2,270,000 votes

Opening the Door to the Yellows.

Very significant was the decision of the Conference to repeal the clause put in last year to exclude the C.P.G.B., to the effect that no one may be a delegate who belongs to an organisation having for one of its objects the return of canddiates other than those endorsed by the Labour Party or approved as running in association with the Labour Party.

said that the clause could be interpreted to arm in a sling, and she is in bed in a helpless exclude an official of the Parliamentary condition, suffering severely from the strain Labour Party who is also a member of the and the shock. pay a proportion of their capital to the Gov- National Executive of the Party. Mr. Henderson did not indicate the individual which he belongs.

> If we were in the Labour Party we should certainly want to know the facts, so that we might judge whether the person in question was a fit member of the Labour Party.

The result of these manoeuvres is that the Union of Mr. Havelock Wilson, which opposes the Labour Party, is represented at the Conference, whilst the C.P.G.B., which is now ready to be its obedient servant, is

The position of the C.P.G.B. is, to say the least, humiliating.

IRISH NEWS.

MARY COMEFORD ON HUNGER-STRIKE IN KILMAINHAM.

Her friends have feared a long time for Mary Comeford that she would not survive this fight, the rancour of the enemy against her seemed to be as strong as is the affection of her friends. She was fired at more than once while cycling and driving-on one occasion a bullet pierced her hat. Her relations felt actually relieved when she was arrested, thinking that in prison her life would be safe.

She was arrested in January last, and brought to Mountjoy Prison, where a protest against overcrowding was being made at the time. She co-operated in this protest, helping to throw out a bed. As a punishment, she and Sheila Humphries were removed to the criminal wing. There they found themselves forced to associate with syphilitic con-If Europe is not ready for a European Cus- victs and to use the same vessels. They detom's Union, he urged a unified railway and manded to be separated from these women canal administration from Astrakhan to Alge- and to be given their rights (including letters) all the other imperialists, reserves such pro- No notice was taken of their demands, and posals for the territories of other people. they started a hunger-strike. During the Even under the Labour Party he does not hunger-strike Mary Comeford, for waving her suggest any internationalisation of adminis- hand to a comrade in the political wing, was tration in what the British Empire has and fired at by a sentry and wounded in the leg. The great loss of blood which resulted, in To the accompaniment of some moral plati- conjunction with the continued hunger-strike, tudes he stated that the Labour Party policy reduced her to a very weak condition. Then would promptly assert for this country that their rights were restored, and for a while the which the present Government has aban- But Mary's battles were not over. On March 26th came the removal from Mountjoy Thus Mr. Webb stood revealed as an Im- to the North Dublin Union. Women from cock of the walk " in Europe. Thereby he were sent to strip and search the prisoners.

"Mary Comeford was so badly beaten Germany must pay "to the limit of econo- about the head that she had to have three mic capacity " for the devastation in France stitches by the medical officer. Mary Degan and Belgium, and to compensate civilian vic. received a black eye. Sheila Gaughran and Peg Deleny were flung downstairs. Eileen Will it be Mr. Webb, the jingo bureaucratic Barry's (Kevin's sister) clothes were dragged cut off her, and she was subjected to great Mangan (Prison Adjutant), who knelt on her while the women beat her with her own shoes. Two other military men, whom she afterwards identified in the presence of the Governor, then took her in a corner, forced her to her knees while they twisted her wrists till she fainted. When she recovered consciousness she was out in the passage lying on the floor partially dressed, and her clothes were saturated with water which they had flung on her. Her face is bruised and her lip cut, and her body covered with Mr. Henderson, in moving the resolution, bruises. Her wrist is badly sprained, her

I saw Mary Comeford in the North Dublin Union, and saw the scar on her head. The day after my release (May 6th) she made a daring escape.

In spite of the cessation of all hostilities by the Republicans, she was hunted down and was re-arrested on Friday last and taken to Kilmainham, the worst of all the prisons.

She has been on hunger-strike since her arrest. Her mother's request to see the Governor, doctor, or chaplain of the prison has been refused.

If the war is not over, Mary Comeford is a prisoner of war and should be allowed to communicate with her friends. If the war is over, her re-arrest is an act of wanton aggression by the Free State troops, and her continued detention, on hunger-strike, a most provocative action on the part of the Free State Government, and one calculated to aggravate the growing feeling that the Ministry are determined to have "war at any

They have boasted of a complete victory; but it seems they cannot yet afford to cease the persecution of this girl. Should she die on hunger-strike in Kilmainham Gaol, the campaign against the Republican women of Ireland will have reached a climax long threatened and foreseen.

Habeas Corpus proceedings are being taken on behalf of James Connolly's daughter, Mrs. Norah Connolly & Brien, who is held prisoner by the Free State.

The Irish Republican Bulletin tells a terrible story, so terrible that we can hardly bring ourselves to insert it:

"A Free State officer who has returned from Kerry was telling me of some terrible things done by Commandant Handcox in his area (Tralee). Handcox tied a prisoner's feet with rope, fastened one end of the rope to a lorry, and drove off at top speed for 22 miles. There was hardly anything left of the prisoner at the end of the journey, bits of his flesh being scattered in all directions. On another occasion Handcox went to a house to arrest a supposed 'Irregular.' There was no one there but the man and his mother. Handcox fired and wounded him in the leg. The mother screamed and shouted to Handcox that he had wounded her son. Thereupon Handcox fired six more shots into the man's body as he lay on the ground, saying: 'I've killed him now!" "

When will they end it by letting them have

....................... LEAKEY'S INTRODUCTION TO ESPERANTO.

La Lingvo Internacia. 4d., post free, from the "Dreadnought" Bookshop.

RATIONAL LIVING.

A radical, independent magazine for the workers, devoted to the teaching of rational methods of living in present society, always emphasising the socialeconomical-industrial background of wrong living. Stands for prevention of disease, for conservation of health, for drugless healing, and against all swindles in the healing professions. Special price for the readers of the "Workers' Dreadnought," 1.50 dol. (7/6 for 12 numbers). Our famous book, "The Child and the Home," by Dr. B. Liber, on the radical upbringing of children, special price for the readers of the "Workers' Dreadnought," 1.50 dol. (7/6). Address: Rational Living, 61 Hamilton Place, New ESPERANTO. Lesson 23.

PREPOSITIONS (OF PLACE). A Preposition shows the relationship between a noun (or pronoun) and some other word in the sentence. Most, but not all, prepositions relate to place-e.g., en la ĉambro, in the room. In English a preposition often has a number of different meaningse.g., by has about six meanings (La infano staris apud la patrino, the child stood by the mother; laŭ ordono, by, or according to, order; li pasis preter la domo, he passed by the house, etc.). In Esperanto every preposition, except one, has a clearly defined meaning. The learner can grasp the meaning most easily if he will draw a simple diagram-a circle and, to the right of it, a few strokes representing a tree. The prepositions can be indicated by a cross or line marked in various positions in the diagram, as shown en, in (a cross marked in the circle, en la cirklo).

ekster, outside (a cross marked outside the el, out of (a line proceeding from within the circle and extending out of the circle, el la cirklo).

inter, between (a cross between the circle and the tree, inter la cirklo kaj la arbo).

super, above (a cross marked over the tree, super la arbo). apud, close to, by (a cross close to the sur, on (a cross on the circle, sur la cirklo).

de, from (a line proceeding away from the de also means of, la contro de la circlo, the centre of the circle.

(past the tree). sub, under (a cross under the circle, sub of it. Can't he afford to pay for them?

la cirklo). opposite side of the circle to that on which to know, "but they could not afford to do workers, dying daily, lie stranded in a state the tree stands).

at the tree).

be represented as standing in front of a it would be a long road, and only gradual— death-rate for infants in wealthy districts is house.) Antaŭ also means before with refer- to better times."

ence to time. around the circle).

trans, across (a line across the page). The prepositions in the exercise below are hown in heavy type shown in heavy t	ype.

The state of the s	Yocabulary.
sidas	sit
du	two
mangas	eat
taso	cup
fajro	fire
kugas	lies
hundo	dog
kiu	which
pordo	door
pasis	stepped
alia	other
eliras	goes out
0

En hotela ĉambro sidas du personoj ĉe tablo. Ili trinkas kaj manĝas. Sur la tablo estas tasoj, subtasoj (" under-cups "i.e., saucers), teleroj (plates), tranĉiloj (knives) kaj forkoj. Sub la tablo estas kato. Antaŭ la fajro kuŝas hundo. Super la kameno (fireplace) estas spegulo (mirror), kiu estas kontraŭ la pordo. Unu el la homoj starigas ("becomes standing"-i.e., stands up) kaj paŝas al la pordo; la alia marŝas ĝis leviais ("became raised"—i.e., got up). religious meetings.

NEWSPAPER.

informs me, when a certain noble lord, produces a feeling of paralysis whenever one attached (in so many ways) to this neight tries to help those who are down and out. bourhood, remarked that as a result of 88 These laws are all in favour of riches and millions "saved" on this year's Budget estiagainst the poor. A man may not lie down mates, it had been possible to take a penny y the roadside to sleep at night if he is homeoff beer. When he added that he hoped some of the necessaries of life might also property, and private motor-cars may enbe reduced soon, there appears not to have been any cheery "Hear, hear!"

certain sick club, and the noble lord spoke his freedom. He must first of all be destiprimarily of farming "problems," but didn t seem to think it necessary to explain why working men should need sick clubs and titled gentlemen should get along swimmingly without them. And there is nothing to indicate that the members of the club thought necessary to enquire into the matter either. The good lord expressed another hope, so hopeful was he, that the club (which was really a magnificent achievement ") would be handed down to the members' children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. World without end, in fact! Let us praise the lord! But, sad thought, those grandchildren and great-grandchildren might have something to say about the matter. They might not be so keen on the " established order " as is the noble lord. One never knows.

And this also I read: "The townsman was apt to take a narrow himself, and also what the land produced and what he ate, as cheaply as possible."

from the circle and passing beyond the tree come satisfies him down to the ground, and he doesn't mind things being dear; not a bit · "Farmers wanted to pay a fair and decent admitted that a "fair and decent wage" is and lived in to be felt.

Hodge is duly grateful for the belief. I per 1,000. ("Daily Herald," February 6th, cirkan, about, around (a dotted line drawn know he is, for I have lived with, and in the 1923.) The factories that were loaned by the same way as, Hodge. And while progress is capitalists have been returned with handsome al, to, towards (a line drawn towards the more along the gradual and long road (with- profits. We are paying this "imaginary out the fair and decent wages the farmers debt" to a set of drones who form the finantra, through (a line passing through the would really like to pay) to better times, cial power behind the Government function-Hodge will continue (if he can possibly keep ing through the Houses of Parliament, which skin and bones together) to exercise that do not make one crust of bread or one yard magnificent patience that has ever been his of material. characteristic possession. Yet sometimes one has doubts and asks wonderingly, will he?

equally accessible to all.

hopes differ from those of my noble lord!

Lord-less let us be Nobles all are we, Share we equally.

THE POWER OF SONG.

A comrade writes from South Govan that la fajro, ĉirkaŭ kiu sidas aliaj homoj, kiuj a religious revival is taking place there, and fumas (are smoking). Kelnero (a waiter) that he and others are replying by organising pagas tra la cambro kaj eliras ce la alia fino. a choir for their meetings, as they observe La kato kuris trans la cambro kiam la hundo that singing attracts the people to the

A COMMUNIST READS HIS LOCAL THE WESTMINSTER WINDMILL. By Clara Cole.

The workers are being hemmed in daily by Hear, hear! So someone said, my paper so many unjust laws that the weight of them less; yet the roadside is supposed to be public cumber it night and day. The less a man possesses, the less chance he has of obtain-The occasion was the annual dinner of a ing anything and at the same time retaining tute in order to obtain shelter in a workhouse In State institutions a man is bound body and soul; that is why he will prefer an empty room with only a cup and saucer and a plank of his own to sleep on. He wakes up free; not so in the Workhouse. A man told me that he preferred prison secause, said he.

you do know when you are coming out." If these unjust laws that are made against the unwanted workers are merely attacked one by one, the workers will never get free. These laws, with the National Debt, must be repudiated altogether.

Commander Hilton Young, in the House of Commons. described the National Debt as 'an imaginary debt," and so it is; but it will continue to be paid for in blood and sweat as the workers grind and grovel until it is repudiated. The workers do not owe the money. All that was used during the war and selfish view-he wanted good wages for they made by their labour, and the capitalists have had good unearned profits out of the ghastly munitions, bad food and shoddy My lord, of course, is quite different. He clothes served out to "Tommy." The preter, beyond, by (past), (a line passing doesn't ask for wages at all. Unearned in- workers also paid the heavier toll in lives-5,000 a week for four years.

Compare the pensions of the poor with the pensions of the rich, especially the pensions of the rich who never went to the front. The kontraŭ, opposite, against (a cross on the wage to the men they employed," it is nice capitalists lie high and dry in luxury; the so under the conditions which had ruled of poverty so disgusting it is impossible to ce, at (a point or place) (a line stopping during the past twelve months." As it is describe. It must be seen to be understood, gis, up to, as far as (a line drawn as far as not being paid, what is to be done about it? Lords and ladies neither see these condithe tree, gis la arbo); gis also means until. Cherio! Listen! "In farming, as in other tions close at hand, nor will they ever risk antan, before, in front of. (The tree may matters, he believed they were on the road- suffering under them for one day. The 27 per 1,000; in poor districts often over 100

Those Who Make Must Control.

When I say Parliament, I mean Parliament Hodge is simple. He may yet prove too as understood by even A. G. Gardiner when simple for my lord. He knows it is not true he said in "John Bull": "Broadly speak that "the burden had fallen on the farm ing, half-a-dozen men control the public labourer and the farmer alike." In his sim- opinion of this country-Lord Rothermere, plicity he may ask why, if there are any Sir Edward Hulton, Lord Dalziel, Sir William burdens, they should not in fact be shared Berry, Lord Beaverbrook, Lord Riddell. Not by all. But he may go further: he may ask one of them has a name which has any sigwhy there should be burdens for any, when nificance to the public or stands for any idea production can, by work on the part of all, except the money power." He also says: "I be made to meet all needs. And he may decline to get in a panic with the " Morning insist that the wealth so produced shall be Post" over the menace of Communism. It is true that we have now in Parliament a The noble lord hopes. So do I! And my substantial body of declared Communists

. . . and I am glad to see them in Parliament -that is the place where all the extremists should let off their hot air."

To Labour leaders and Communists who honestly believe they can work through Parliament, remember that all business that really matters is done in secret away from the House. According to Lord Newton, in 1921 there were 674 Peers; 240 abstained from attending, and 220 were present fewer than ten times. "Amongst those who never attended," proceeded Lord Newton, "was Lord Rothermere." Gardiner said: "This is one of the men who wield the enormous power over us."

them in Parliament."

June 80, 1928.

as effectual as a rope round your neck or forced into the Workhouse. their purposes. Sometimes Communists are One woman "of small stature" was arrested allowed to defy gags and muzzles, for the for trying to sleep in a dustbin. On more "hot air" they let off provides a good smoke- than one occasion I have interviewed and screen for Big Business outside. Whilst written to Labour Members to ask for the Walton Newbold, ignoring gags, told home release of these people and for accommodatruths to deaf ears, the important warships tion outside. The answer invariably is: "Impassed in silence to the Russian coast, and possible to do anything." he has written 'an ample and complete apology" for the hot air!

for war in 1914, when, five days before war last hope. was declared, on July 30th, Churchill "on The Guardians are at present the buffers, his own initiative secretly gave the word of but even the buffers will snap when the prescommand which sent eighteen miles of sure exceeds the resistance, and the Guar-British warships steaming through the Straits dians have now resorted to force in order to of Dover at full speed under cover of the stifle the cries of starving men. Police are darkness of the night, with their lights out, kept in ante-rooms when deputations of unto occupy that dominating and strategic sta- employed meet the Board. These police, Churchill started the war. Gardiner went on to say: "The six above- force. Unemployed enter the room without mentioned men own practically every great as much as a walking-stick between them, popular paper in the country. . . . They the Board always outnumbers the deputation, supply us with the news they please, and

The "Daily News" for November 17th, 1922, states there were only 5,381,413 votes for the Government, 8,532,253 were against the Government. Liberal and Labour 6,831,600, Liberal and National Liberal 3,978,422. For every two people who voted Tory there were three who voted for one of the alternative parties. Therefore, we are ruled by the minority, and the vote does not reflect the voice of the majority. At the last General Election barely 50 per cent. of the deputated to take orders from him, not act in secret without consulting his client.

Directly elections are coming off in favour of Labour, force is resorted to by the rich. In East Galicia 15,000 Ukrainian Nationalists were arrested before polling. All candidates of the Communist Party were arrested. in other parts of Poland 2,500 Left-Wing Socialists were arrested. Our King and King Curzon have just been fraternising with the most unconstitutional ruling man in the world who was not elected by the people. "Mussolini declares frankly that he does not need a majority; that he has 300,000 men, and can close Parliament and punish his opponents whenever he will. ("Daily Herald," November 18th, 1922.) The same thing will happen here; why buy the bitter experience?

When Allenby found only Zaglulists were returned, he deported or imprisoned Zaglul and his colleagues, and imposed martial law on the people; martial law is the negation of constitutionalism. Allenby uses the Army, but we pay for it in life and labour.

Parliament is utterly opposed to change or advance, or even reform. To get elementary justice you must either break the law or fight from outside. There is as yet no law on the Statute Book that can use physical force to put men and women in workhouses, and yet there are even stronger and subtler laws that force them there every day, anah as the Canada.

Sir E. Benn's jeer at Communists inside "squatting laws," or withholding relief and Parliament had a deeper meaning in it than giving instead an order for the Workhouse. his audience detected when he said: "In A homeless man got fourteen days' hard England we don't hang Communists, we put labour for sleeping in a cave made by Nature; a man and woman were imprisoned for sleep-A gag in your mouth or a muzzle on it is ing in a tool-shed, and the children thereby Rich men from Parliament ask-nay, force -starving men to defend their riches, and basing revolt from the existing order upon Our place is in the street, at the docks, when the miserable undefended soldier re- theology. talking to the only man that matters, and turns from the horrors of war he is not telling him to refuse to make munitions, to allowed to go to these men in Parliament for refuse to fire or sail in warships. Parliament a loaf, and on their doors it is printed: "No was pretending to discuss the pros and cons hawkers." Hawking is the starving man's derides.

tion in the North Sea which they maintained with their hands on their batons, are trotted to the close of the war." Therefore, out directly the Board's adverse decision i given, and the unemployed are dispersed by and the unemployed only claim a hundredth make us believe what they want us to part of what they were promised in the matter of food and housing. Remember the placards with the pretty little rose-covered cottages—on paper—scraps of paper? "An amendment by Neville Chamberlain, Minister of Health, to waive the minimum of 570 feet in special circumstances affecting twostoreyed houses, and 500 feet in regard to would substitute "daily work" coupons. flats, was accepted by the Standing Com- The occasional absurdities of his ideas are mittee of the Commons considering the new shown by his proposal for lunches at Lyons, Housing Bill." His house will not come "supposing Lyons' restaurants were recogunder this Bill.

Parliament, in which the rich classes total electorate went to the poll. ("Daily always preponderate, was well represented Herald," November 13th, 1922.) Half the on May 16th by Neville Chamberlain, who nation either ignores or does not put faith in tried to stop the working classes having suffi-Parliament, J. R. Clynes said, referring to cient bedrooms "for common decency," and The gospel of stinting and scarcity has conversation between members of General he also tried to deprive the workers of bath- bitten very deep into some people. Why Council of Trade Union and Lloyd George rooms. His remark on these discussions was imagine such things as "ordinary" and (the latter always our enemy). "I can't a waste of "precious time." ("Daily "superior" restaurants in a classless order? say a great deal, being bound by pledge of Herald," May 17th, 1923.) Only one class Why contemplate limiting "superior" food or secrecy." Bound to whom? Surely the is safeguarded—the wealthy drones who supplying inferior food when an overflowing worker who sends him ought to be told about never need to apply to Parliament for houses abundance of the best is obtainable? his own business. Clynes should be his agent or food; and it proves my argument that Par- Mr. Sadler cannot yet rid himself of the liament and Ministers of Health are instru- habit of class distinctions. His views on ments for keeping houses, food and clothes education and other matters betray this from the workers.

man to have the power to deprive the workers read Kropotkin. Your views are very circum. of bathrooms or bedrooms. He probably has scribed as compared with his. a bathroom attached to his pedroom for his own exclusive use, and there is generally in his class of home a bathroom on each floor. What right has he to debar a whole family from one bathroom? To workers who keep him clean by doing the dirty and dangerous the "tax on knowledge," because it enwork the necessity for a bathroom is greater hanced the price of books and newspapers. even than his; yet his class, after withhold- The duty was abolished in 1861. ing baths from the workers, have the impudence to stigmatise them as dirty.

Through Neville Chamberlain's class both Government, but by the Capitalist paper sexes are forced to share the same room, rings. Paper is much more costly than bethen punished for the consequences. If we fore the war, and the price has been rising were a commonsense nation it would appear steadily during recent months. absurd for working men to build bathrooms tor one class of men whose bodies are the same as those who are deprived of them. (To be continued.)

THE "ONE BIG UNION BULLETIN" (Canada's Foremost Labour Paper).

The One Big Union seeks to organise the workers on class lines. Read about it. Eugene Sue's marvellous story: "The Mysteries of the People," or "History of a Proletarian Family Across the Ages," now running in serial form.

10/- per year; 5/- six months. Plebs Buildings, 54 Adelaide Street, Winnipeg,

FROM THE PUBLISHERS.

They Call Me Carpenter. By Upton Sinclair. (T. Werner Laurie, 7/6.)

This is a burlesque story in which Jesus Christ is supposed to appear in modern New York. The targets mainly attacked are the cinema producers and the movie "stars and the vulgarities of the newly rich. The particular setting is new, but the plot has been used again and again in recent years. We question the wisdom of endeavouring to arouse the social conscience by treating the New Testament as though it were an exact historical record of actual events, and of

The book, though progressive in intent, goes no deeper than the mob propaganda it

Ascent of Man. Samuel W. Ball, 1065 Vau Buren Street, Chicago, 25 cents.

Effective Thinking. Samuel Ball, Chicago,

The Fellowship of Humanity. By Gilbert T. Sadler. (W. H. Smith and Sons, 1/-.)

The author is slowly struggling from Conservatism to Communism. A while ago he was complaining because the Russian Revolution had robbed him of his Russian dividends. Now he says:

"For the State to buy out the present shareholders of the mines, railways and land, as some suggest, would be to make these shareholders State capitalists receiving 5 per cent. for fifty or sixty years, and also increase the bureaucratic government of industries."

He desires to see the end of money, but

"The lunch could mean that any three of the set courses could be had at an ordinary Lyons' restaurant, or any two at one of the Lyons' superior restaurants."

Neville Chamberlain should be the last Try again, Mr. Sadler; and meanwhile re-

THE TAX ON KNOWLEDGE.

The Excise Duty on paper was known as

To-day the tax on knowledge, in the shape of high paper prices, is put on, not by the TIKHON.

Very remarkable is the confession of the Patriarch Tikhon that "with a few inaccuracies' all the charges against him are correct, and his promise to renounce such activities for the future. He has bought his life by this confession and plea of repentance.

He cuts a poor figure beside the many martyrs of progress who have acted conscientiously and taken the consequences.

A short list from 'Our Bookshop."

	116.0
The Workers and Peasants of Sovie Russia: How They Live, by Augus		Herman Gorter: The World Revolution	. 1/
tine Souchy	. 2/-	Ireland: Achines Heel of England	1 1 d
Artzihasheff: Tales of the Revolution (1905)	. 6/-	G. W. Foote: Bible and Beer	114
H. Allsop:	No. of Lot	Christianity and Progress, with a	1 1 d
Industrial History	2/8		2½d
Boudin: The Theoretical System of Karl		The Philosophy of Secularism F. J. Gould:	$2\frac{1}{2}d$
Marx	6/10	Brave Citizens	2/6
M. Bakunin: The Policy of the International	1d.	Health and Honour: Sex Light for Young Readers 2/- and	1 1/-
The Organisation of the International	1 1d.	The Children's Book of Moral	45
God and the State	8d.	A Concise History of Religion, I	2/6 3/6
Crises of European History	1/-	III.	4/6
M. Bateson:		The Children's Plutarch	8/8
Mediaeval England	7/6	Common-sense Thoughts on a Life Beyond	1/9
Industrial Revolution	1/6	Gerhardt Hauptmann:
Edward Bellamy: Equality	2/6	The Sunken Bell: A Fairy Play The Weavers	2/- 2/-
Charles Bradlaugh:		Sydney Howard:	-/-
Doubts in Dialogue Man Whence and How? Religion	2/-	The Labour Spy	1/13
What and Who?	3/6	Aphorisms	1/-
A Plea for Atheism	6d.	Reflections on Modern Science	1/-
Genesis: Its Authorship and Authenticity	4/-	Henrik Ibsen: Pillars of Society	11
Has, or Is, Man a Soul?	1/-	Col. R. G. Ingersoll:	1/-
J. H. Breasted: Ancient Times: History of the Early		Faith and Fact	21d.
World	10/6	The Foundations of Faith Creeds and Spirituality	2½d 1½d.
Outlines of European History, Part I. A Short Ancient History	7/6	The Christian Religion	31d.
George Brewer:	.,0	Karl Kautsky: The High Cost of Living	9 (01
The Rights of the Masses Bishop Montgomery Brown:	9d.	Alexandra Kollontay:	8/84
Communism and Christianism	1/2	Workers' Opposition in Russia	6½d.
F. A. Bruton, M.A.:		Peter Kropotkin: Conquest of Bread	0.0
The Story of Peterloo	1/-	Fields, Factories and Workshops	2/2 2/2
Civilisation: Its Cause and Cure	2/6	Modern Science and Anarchism	1/11
England's Ideal The Drama of Love and Death	2/6 6/-	Mutual Aid The Wage System	2/2 21d.
The Promised Land: A Drama of a	0/-	The Breakdown of Our Industrial	234.
People's Deliverance Desirable Mansions	3/6 4d.	System Law and Authority	8d.
Anton Chekhov:		O. Y. Kuusinen;	13d.
The Kiss, and Other Stories Edward Clodd:	1/-	The Finnish Revolution	21d.
The Pioneers of Evolution	1/-	Socialism and Philosophy	6/10
Jesus of Nazareth Gibbon and Christianity (cloth)	1/-	Lafargue:
(naper)	1/6 6d.	The Evolution of Property Origin and Evolution of the Idea of	1/8
The Childhood of Religions	6/-	a Soul	8/17
1817. The Last Hundred Days of		Leakey's Esperanto Dr. B. Liber:	4d.
English Freedom	5/.	The Child in the Home	7/10
History of the Protestant Revolution Rural Rides (2 vols.)	2/6	D. de Leon:
English Grammar	2/6	Who Pays the Taxes? Burning Question of Trade Unionism	2d. 2d.
Cottage Economy E. Cressy:	3/6	W. Liebknecht:	-4
Brief Sketch of Social and Industrial		No Compromise	1/1
History	3/6	Jack London: Revolution	2/-
Divine Comedy	2/-	The Human Drift	2/-
The Origin of Species		The People of the Abyss John Barleycorn	2/-
The Descent of Man	1/6	war of the Classes	2/3
Voyage of the Beagle M. Delaisi:	2/6	The Scarlet Plague The Valley of the Moon2/- and	1/6
Oil	2/6	mene maran:	6/-
ingels:			10/8
I have not as a first transfer of the state	$\frac{1}{7\frac{1}{2}}$ 3/8	Mary Marcy: Shop Talks on Economics	8d.
. I. Holyoake:	3/0	Stories of the Cave People	6/6
Sixty Years of an Agitator's Life C. A. Knowles:	2/6	Phymos of Fords T.	8d.
The Industrial and Commercial Re-		Karl Marx:	10/- volutions in Great Britain during		Capital, Vols. I., III., each	12/6
the 19th Century hapman Cohen:	8/6	The Paris Commune Value, Price and Profit	2/6
Christianity and Social Ethics	1 1 d.	Wage, Labour and Capital	6d. 3d.
m. Godwin:	1½d.	The Gotha Programme Critique of Political Economy	3d.
Reflections on Political Justice	4d.	Own war in France	8/6
Caleb Williams	8/6	Eighteenth Brumaire (paper)	1/73
A STATE OF THE RESIDENCE OF THE STATE OF THE

/- d.	Letters to an English Family (Vols.
d.	II. and III.)	. 16/-
1	Duties of Man, etc.
d.	The Duties of Man (second-hand)	1/-
1.	Lewis H. Morgan:	Blug Ber
i.	Ancient Society	9/-
		017
8	Monopoly, or How Labour is Robbed	2½d.
	Useful Work and Useless Toil	2½d.
1-	A Dream of John Ball	10d.
	History of the Great American For-
6	tunes (3 vols.)	201
6	Albert Jay Nock:	30/-
6	The Myth of a Guilty Nation	918
8	Sylvia Pankhurst:	2/6
	Writ on Cold Sl_te	1/-
9	Soviet Russia as I Saw It
	Truth About the Oil War	AND THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NAMED IN COLUMN TWO I
•	A. Pannekoek:	Iu.
	Marxism and Darwinism	9d.
	Pettigrew:
1/2	Imperial Washington	12/-
	Frederick Soddy, M.A.:
	Cartesian Economics	61d.
	C. K. Streit:
	Where Iron is, There is the Fatherland	2/74
	Eugene Sue:
	The Gold Sickle and Brass Bell .	$\frac{3}{2\frac{1}{2}}$
	The Iron Collar	3/21
	Ernest Untermani:
	Marxian Economics I.W.W. Song Book	7/101
	I.W.W. Song Book Emile Zola:	9d.
	Germinal: The Story of a French
	Mine Mine	W. 42
- 4	Mine	0/44
	estale programme to the second second second	ALU COMMUNIST
WORKEDS' MOUTENTER

Mazzini:

WORKERS' MOVEMENT.

OUTDOOR MEETINGS. Friday, June 29th.—The Grove, Hammersmith, 8 p.m.: Sylvia Pankhurst and others. Sunday, July 1st.—Finsbury Park, 7 p.m. W. Hall, N. Smyth. Brockwell Park, 7 p.m., J. Welsh and others.

INDOOR MEETINGS. Saturday, June 30.—Builders' Labourers' Hall, 84 Blackfriars Road, 7.30 p.m. Debate: Sylvia Pankhurst and Guy Aldred. Admission 6d

OTHER MEETINGS. Sunday, July 1st.—Brotherhood Church, Southgate Road, 7 p.m.: Sylvia Pankhurst.

"DREADNOUGHT" SUMMER SALE.

Comrades are urged to get busy collecting and making goods for the Summer Sale and Garden Party in aid of the "Workers" Dreadnought," which is to be held shortly. Books, pictures and drawings, furniture, clothing, farm produce, groceries, cakes, sweets, jams, toys, fancy goods, hats, shoes, tobacco, tools, etc., etc., will all be gratefully received.

"DREADNOUGHT" £1,000 FUND.

Brought forward: £28 1s. 91d. G. Sear, Jun., 2/6; Irene Smith, 1/-(weekly); Collections: Hammersmith, 5/61; Brockwell Park, 5/11; Mrs. Coleman, 1d. F. Brimley, 1/-; G. Dunn, 1/-; M. Powell, 10/- (5/- monthly); E. M. Wetton, 1/-Total for week, £1 8s. 01d. Total, £28 9s. 10d.

Published by E. Sylvia Pankhurst at 152 Fleet Street, London, E.C. 4, and printed by the Agenda Press, Ltd. (T.U.), at 10 Wine Office Court, London, E.C. A