FOR THE PEACEFUL FRATERNITY OF PEOPLES.

VOL. X. No. 22.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1923.

WEEKLY.

GERMANY AT THE CROSS ROADS.

The financial and economic crisis in Germany has led at last to those serious hunger riots which give rise to the question: Is the proletarian revolution now realty coming?

At the same time the Monarchist reactionaries of Fascist type are so active that a monarchist counter-revolution seems decidedly threatening. The German Social Democrats in this, as in each successive crisis that has arisen, look only to coalition with the Capitalists—a policy which means attempting to maintain the capitalist system that has so utterly broken down.

The Communist Party of the Third International is following in Germany what has unfortunately become its settled policy for all countries, manifest though the failure of that policy has been in Russia. That policy is to demand a workers' and peasants' government, and to conple that demand with advocacy of wage increases and other palliations of the existing system.

Rosa Luxemburg, in her critique of the Russian Revolution written in 1918, was one of the first to point out the incompatibility of the Bolshevist policy or creating a peasant proprietory with the abolition of the private property sys-although writing in a capitalist paper, makes some shrewd observations upon the policy of the Third International in Germany:

"It is for a 'Government of workmen and peasants.' At present the only close contact between those two classes of the population is in the Aachen district, where they are fighting one another with bludgeons and pitchforks for the possession of the potato fields. As a whole the German peasant has done even better business through war than through peace, and the workman is the last person in the world whom he intends to make a partner in the benefits he is enjoying. However, at the moment almost any cry will get a following if it is only shouted loudly and persistently enough.'

This contest in the fields of Germany is an inevitable feature of the situation. The starying people are repairing to the potato fields. The peasants are fighting for their established property, privately worked for private profit, in rights as property owners, and for their means of gaining a livelihood. Let it be granted that, like the big property owners, these small owners are taking advantage of the situation to make more than ordinary profits; nevertheless if their crops are to be simply taken without payment the peasants must eventually starve under the existing system. That is self evident.

Preparedness.

The conflict between the owner and merchant, on the one hand, and the wage-earner on the other, is the same, whether the owner and merchant own an acre or a continent.

To create a Parliamentary Government of representatives of political parties claiming to represent the Trade Unions and working class political parties, and peasants' political parties, could not solve the economic deadlock.

Germany has already had a Government of Trade Union officials and Social Democratic leaders. The result of that was a truce with Capitalism, on the lines of the truce with the employers entered into here by the British Trade Union officialdom during the war. The German Social Democratic Government made no radical change in the economic system. The accumulation of wealth and growth of poverty con-A correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," tinued as before. When the Social Democratic Government gave place to an admittedly capitalist government, no great change was experienced.

Under a Government like that of the German Social Democratic Party, no government-made conflict with the owners, whether large or small, need be expected. Therefore there is no inconsistency in the willingness of the Social Democrats to enter a coalition with the capitalist parties. If an actual representation of the workers on the basis of delegations from workshops on Soviet lines, were organised for the purposes of national administration, and were combined with a representation of the peasants to form a joint administration, such an administration could not solve the conflict of interest between the owner and wage-earner. The conflict will continue so long as owners and wage-earners exist and the private property system remains. The conflict will not cease whilst the people are divided into two classes: the propertied, subsisting by profit derived from their property; and the propertyless, subsisting on wages gained by their labour.

The fact that the small peasant holder works his land, instead of employing others that he need not toil, may create a bond of interest between the small peasant and the wage worker. when both are faced with the exactions of the great landowner; but greater than this bond is the division which arises from the fact that the gan, the "Rote Fahne," of 10th June, 1923: peasant has something to sell for which he desires the highest possible price.

The peasant who lives by selling his produce will resist any governmental action limiting the priceh e may charge and which hinders him from developing from a small proprietor into a large proprietor, from a poor peasant into a rich one.

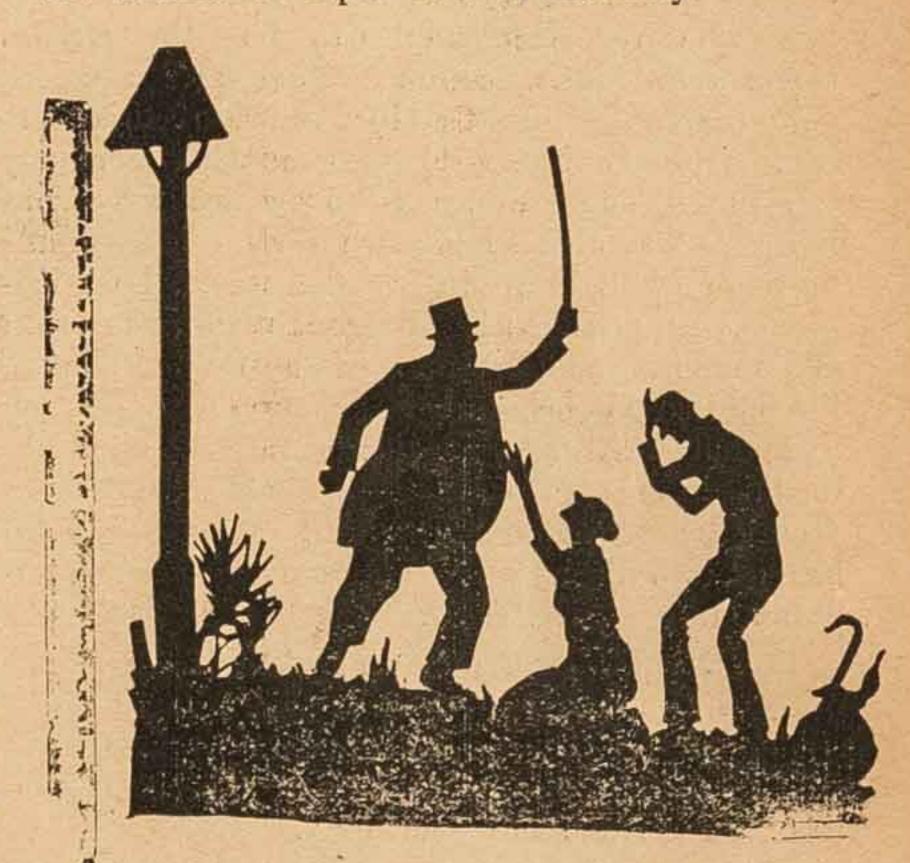

The only solution is to end this basis of social organisation altogether, to discard the private property system, with its buying, selling and wage-earning, root and branch, and rebuild society on the basis of mutual service, production for use, and plenty for all.

The Third International plan which postulates State capitalism in industry, and small private land, is a plan already proved to be wholly unworkable, by the experiment in Russia, " "1 private capitalism is steadily returning, together with the large private holding of land.

The Russian Third Internationalists claim for their policy that it is Marxist. Far be it from us to suggest, as many do, that the conclusions of anyone upon the changing processes of human society can be regarded as the final guide to future generations. Nevertheless we must assert that, in our view, the Russian Third International policy is profoundly anti-Marxist.

The Russian Third Internationalists are apt to excuse every phase of their policy on the plea that Russia is an undeveloped country. This plea was used to excuse the retention of private property and production for profit on the land. The same plea is made to serve as an excuse for the return to capitalism in industry.

Private Property.

Germany, however, is not an undeveloped country. For what reason then is the policy devised for undeveloped Russia to be imposed upon Germany?

The manifestoes now being issued by the Third International in Germany are not such as to prepare the minds of the people to make an end of capitalism and to erect a free and wageless Communism in its stead.

The Third Internationalists still harp on the theme of increased wages, though the giddy fluctuations of the mark should have taught even the most hide-bound Tory Trade Unionist that even the most successful strike to the

can give, at the best, scarcely a day's respite. Here is a manifesto from the Communist or-THE GERMAN COMMUNIST PARTY

MANIFESTO. Factory Committees' Mass Meeting on Saturday. For a filth wage—filth work! In all factories practice passive resistance!

Down with the wage deception! Away with the bankruptors!

Away with the profiteers! At least the pre-war wages for our work!

Demand at once the payment of ten million marks for the increased cost of living for all workers, and officials!

Bread belongs to the workers! The of provisions and their distribution Trade Unions and Co-operative!

Up with the Workers' and Peasants' Government! Workers! Save yourselves from the ugust 18, 1923.

awal of France from the Ruhr.

oportion as we are paid."

rol of her finances. They entail the with-the Ruhr. The French communication of which we hold, progressively, and in ndly the French proposals differ in the t bank of the Rhine and certain coal mines which France, Brtiain, and the Rhineland would hold shares. The whole of the cus-duties would be taken by the Allies and e occupied territories actually collected by

A certain proportion of the foreign ex-resulting from the sales of certain im-

t exports, would also be taken by the Al-

Such revenues would be collected by the

The French proposals do not differ sufficiently Governments, except that under the French an French troops and a French majority on Reparations Commission would enable the each to enforce their will upon all concerned.

aps also the proportion of shares, proposed

French for allotment to the various malities in the Allied companies, formed to e over the mines and railways, is displeasing

British capitalism, which always desires the

the British to make a breach between the lies in the occupied territories.

to fight for your existence! Prepare for the fight!

Form proletarian defence committees in

Send your Factory Committees on Saturday at 10 a.m. to "Kliems Festsale," to the Mass Meeting of the Factory Committees. Do not allow your elected representatives to play truant! No Factory should be absent! The Mass Meeting will decide on the next united action to be taken!

The 15th Section of the Factory Committees of Great Berlin.

Germany stands at the cross-roads, her people ruined by both home and foreign capitalism; and even the larger part of her Communists do not see that the time has come to work for the complete ending of the private

Monarchists and jingoes, State capitalists and individualists, all offer their solutions; but only full and free Communism can solve the social

The Baldwin Note. The notion that the Reparations proposals of the British Government can save, or materially ease the situation for Germany, and for Europe in general, is altogether visionary.

Nor must it be thought that the proposals display any generosity either to Germany, or to the Allies. In spite of the chorus of newspaper praise that has greeted them, they are of the horse leech variety, as was to be expected.

According to the proposals, a commission of experts is to decide what Germany can pay; but whatever Germany can pay the British Government insists upon getting 14.2 milliard gold marks for itself. How much of this is to come from Germany depends on what Germany can pay. The balance is to be secured from Britain's war allies, in return for the loans made to them by Britain during the war. The proposal is supposed to be generous because the sum demanded is the equivalent of the British debt to the United States, but international critics retort that British expenditure on the war will in the long run prove a profitable investment from the capitalist standpoint because Britain has secured thereby the German colonies, Mesopotamia, and Palestine.

The French moreover reply that the Commission of Experts might assess Germany's capacity to pay so low that France might find what she had to pay to Britain greater than what she would receive from Germany.

In the correspondence published by the Baldwin Government the guarantees offered by Germany as security for the reparations payments are detailed. These include the placing of a mortgage of 10 milliard gold marks on the German State railways, so that from July, 1927, 500,000,000 gold marks a year would be drawn from them by the Allied creditors in the form of interest.

On the whole of the business, industry, banking, trade, traffic, and agriculture a similar mortgage would also be placed, yielding also 500,000,000 gold marks in interest each year. which would be levied in the form of a tax.

The German Government also offered to pledge, as security for the yearly payments, the whole of the customs duties on luxuries, the excise duties on tobacco, beer, wine and sugar, and the receipts of the spirits monopoly. These revenues amounted to 800,000,000 marks before the war, and though they have greatly fallen, the German Government expects them to rise with the economic recovery of Germany.

Such proposals could only be made by a country in despair. To Communists they are wholly obnoxious. They increase the parasitic burden upon the producers and raise up before the people which accepts them, new obstacles to the discarding of the capitalist system and its obligations.

The Baldwin Government, as is shown by the correspondence now published, advised that the Allies should not express any opinion as to the adequacy of the guarantees offered by Germany. It proposed that the Allies should insist upon Germany's financial administration being placed ruin! The Cuno Government cannot hurt under international control. This, of course, meant that Germany would be regarded as a Form the United Front of all the oppressed bankrupt, and her affairs directed by her conquerors and creditors.

> Entente Cordiale Ended. The correspondence between the Governments win Government is said to be the setting in now published reveals the yawning fissure which of an expert commission to decide Germany has opened in the Franco-British Entente. Para- power to pay, in spite of the French refusa graph 48 of the British Note of August 11th to participate. But should France still refuse denotes the conclusion of the military alliance, to assent to the findings of the commission and also shows to the unsophisticated the hypo- and still continue to occupy the Ruhr, what will crisy of that solicitude for poor little neutral happen? Belgium, which was supposed to have brought Will the British Government then take action this country into the late war.

> The paragraph states that the British Govern- action? It seems that the British could only ment had offered to discuss sympathetically the apply an economic boycott or declare wa question of future security with their Allies. the first expedient could hardly fail to produce Belgium is said to have welcomed the offer, the second. but France was indifferent. The French Gov- The nations are not recovered from the ernment replied that the question of security war; they are all unready for another. had "nothing to do with the Ruhr." Discussion British Capitalism is unwilling to wait till France of the security question was therefore indefinitely has had time to cement her hold on the coal postponed, because the British Government was and iron areas of the Saar and the Ruhr, which not prepared to enter into any arrangement would give her an immense advantage in respecting the territorial security of Belgium, next war. apart from a similar arrangement in regard to

So "Poor Little Belgium" may be invaded, parations Commission is bluntly stated by but unless France is pledged to a military al- Curzon. Since the American represent liance with Britain, Britain will do nothing to does not attend, the French and Belgian protect Belgium. In other words, a mutual of- sentatives, with the casting vote of the F fensive and defensive alliance with Belgium will chairman, can carry any proposal they not be considered unless such an alliance is over the heads of the British and Italia also concluded with France-Belgium alone is presentatives. The alliances for the next wa too small to be worth protecting.

Separate Action.

Paragraph 55 of the same Note is also im-

"They (the British Government) are reluctant to contemplate the possibility that separate action may be required, in order to hasten a settlement which cannot be much long delayed, without the gravest consequence the recovery of trade and the peace of the

The separate action contemplated by the Bald. The French proposals differ, firstly and main-to bring France out of the Ruhr? If so, what

The reason for the British demand that expert commission be substituted for the Rebe it observed, are already made: chauvini France and Belgium versus Tory Britain Fascist Italy—a pretty rivalry!

French Proposals.

Should the Powers fall out over the division The British proposals would make Germa German carcase the soil of Germany bankrupt and place an international committee ill become their battlefield.

> Illegality. rolest, however, loses all value and consistency, tells us: eason of Lord Curzon's defence of British paration in the occupation of Dusseldorf, Dursurg and Ruhrort, on the score that such action

> > "The Allies jointly decided to threaten influence on clothes on days ahead." Germany with the occupation of further ter- Happy Henrietta. What a fine figure she ritory, just as they might have threatened her with renewal of war for her failure to perform her Treaty obligations."

After that, British protests regarding illeplity are scarcely in order.

Whilst French and British capitalists manoeufor the advantage of their national rich men the German Government does its best in same direction, the poorer people of Germany are at grips with those stern realities thich carry starvation in their train.

> The printing presses cannot work fast enough supply Germany with the paper money remeasure which is bound to add to that weak- and wane. less. A shortage of money, big notes that annot be changed into smaller cash, a currency hat falls in value making the wages futile, such apedients as fixing wages at the current price so many pounds of margarine per day: all hese leave masses of people starving. The artiality of money is being demonstrated more rly day by day. Strikers and unemployed ginning to quit the quest for money and ok for food instead, to quit the town for ountry, and to seize there, not merely the e potato, but the standing corn and even attle. There is food in Germany, and the are beginning to decide they will have though there be no money wherewith to ne day all peoples will realise that the solution to all their troubles is to produce ugh for all, for use and not for profit.

ABSOLUTELY THE LATEST.

By L. A. MULLER. Softly with that spanner, Henry, and curl your ears found this: in that France would remain in occupation

Autumn moorland and purpling heather, 30th states: "We will only abandon the golden brown game birds flying against the sky, grey intangibility of mountain misttry to imagine it all.

This is not a new kind of cure for the morin which the estate of bankrupt Gerning after, but all these poetic colourings re- life. And we, being human, everyone of us is to be administered. The railways on present the exact shades Henrietta and your- nad, like sheep, gone astray. the Ruhr it is proposed to hand over, not to self are going to wear when you take that mational commission, but to a company, trip up to your shooting box in the neighbourhood of Airdrochie or there about.

I have got all this from an article entitled 'Women,s Wear for the Moor' so I presume Henrietta is in it. Just fancy how she will look in a coat and skirt made of soft pliable leather or suede, in a dull shade of brachen brown, with a small hat of the same material in which are a bunch of long narrow feathers in bronze shades. These are really a cheap line, money returned if not satisfied.

Then look at her shoes. They are to be of crocodile or reptile skin, cut and slashed -not to ease her bunions, but to show off the bronzed silk stockings that go with them.

Shoe experts, we are told, have worked like like Helen B. Merry—to e.olve a really hard wear that combines light weight. A sort of bantam Dempsey as it were. Henrietta will really be ungrateful if she does not appreciate all this hard labour in order to show the grouse and other animals absolutly the had lived in the world would be there. It latest in shooting costumes Who can miss a pheasant at ten yards in a costume like this? cupation is illegal, or, in other words, "not The game have only to take a look and— old minister did not know. sanction authorised by the peace Treaty." The But that is not all. The interested reporter All he said when he was asked was "That 'It is the outdoor clothes that count where Scotland is concerned, from a fashion point was never claimed to be in pursuance of the of view, but the gowns which are being taken all us young people, and the thought still redeparation Clauses of the Treaty." Says the for evening wear include some wonderful mains with me yet, though that is more than models which are likely to have considerable game skirts to match, and grey intangibility shoes of mountain mist. A soft pliable sunbably heave a brick or so.

How glad you will be to chuck that blue wired to meet the fall of the mark. Private eye and say: How topping, old bean. I can Ims are called in to supplement the Govern- see Henrietta leeding the fashion with her ment presses, and certain firms are actually cut-away walking brogues of purple and We had in our village an "orry" man. printing their own emergency money, a striking bronze, the whole moorland will simply wilt Tom Weir was his name. An "orry" man is

> There will always be low people who sneer and snort at the wicked waste of all these latest fashions, but think of the work it finds for the working class. If me and you didn,t spend our money on purpling sunset suits, where would they be, I ask? Ah!

I have been trying to get Matilda to tell me what she is going to wear for the moors, but so far I have only got the classic reply: "Yes, we have no bananas."

Continued from next column. They were all empty.

"Great God," he exclaimed, "I am late for the Kesurrection."

The moral of the story is: Don't believe in anything you don't know, for the Resurrection around him. may never come.

PROLETARIAN SCHOOLS.

By Tom Anderson.

We of the old school of the lowly Scottish Proletariat were well instructed in our youth about the "resurrection." Many and varied were the lessons we received about it.

It was the "day of judgment," the day on which we had to appear in person and answer for the wrongs we had committed during our

Many of us were sorely troubled about the "last day," for that was the name given to the resurrection." We were told that the heavens would open wide, and that there would be thousands of angels dressed in pure white garments. They would all be young and beautiful lady angels. And each would have a trumpet in her hand. The angels also had wings and they could fly like swallows. When the 'last day arrived they were all to come down to our world and blow their trumpets, and at the sound of the trumpets the dead in their graves were to arise.

Our old minister used to picture to us the great gathering it would be, and we would listen and marvel at the wonderful story, and wonder now long we would be dead before the "re-

He would say to us, "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven.'\ "Put not your trust in riches," he would say, "for they are but a snare, and they may be the means of you losing your soul." We had no riches, we were all very poor, and in being so we thought we were doubly blest.

Many of us used to picture what the "resurrection" would be like. All the people who would be a great gathering.

Should we form up into queues and march in military order to our celestial home? Our tne dead in Christ would rise first," and he, being a fervent Scottish patriot, he held firmly to the belief that no Scotsman would go to hell.

He planted that belief firmly in the minds of fifty years ago. Somehow I feel proud at times at being a Scotsman owing to the fact that I shall not go to hell.

Hell fifty years ago was a very real thing and you will cut in your autumn moorland to the Scottish proletariat. We had it for our and purpling heather coats with golden brown breakfast, dinner and supper. A text-card hung on the kitchen wall bearing the words: "And the rich man lifted up his eyes in hell."

On Sundays we went three times to church, set hat of piable leather or suede and all Ber- and we had hell pictured to us in all its differmondsey will come out and stare—and pro- ent forms. The brutality of that hell is beyond

The present generation knows nothing about the hell of the "resurrection." Should you menboiler suit and get into your go-to-shooting tion either of these subjects to young people tosuit. How the dear Dowager will stare and day they only laugh. So this little story about cousin Evelyn screw her monocle into her being "Late for the Resurrection" will not be enjoyed by them, but the older people who have been cradled in "hell and the resurrection" will > not a wage-slave; he is just a man, and so he was nis own boss. But he had one fault: he was always late; and so he was nicknamed "Late

> One afternoon Tom was nearly "fou" (drunk) and ne wandered into our coffin shop. In these days the local joiner kept coffins in stock, readymade coffins, and I was looking for one 6ft. 2in. for an order, when Tom stepped in and sat himself down. Ere I was finished Tom fell asleep, and the impulse became so strong on me to have a joke that, along with another apprentice, we put Tom into a coffin and left him sound asleep. But lo and behold! when it came to stopping-time we forgot all about Tom, and so he slept there all night.

In the grey of the morning he wakened, and, gazing round the coffin-shop, he was amazed and dumbfounded. He shaked a few of the coffins

Continued at foot of preceeding column,

The Good Samaritan Up to Date.

Morkers' Dreadnought Founded 1914. Editor: SYLVIA PANKHURST.

All Matter for Publication- To THE EDITOR: Business Communications — To THE MANAGER. WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT, 152, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.4. SUBSCRIPTIONS. Post free. Three months (13 weeks) ..... Six months (26 weeks) ..... One year (52 weeks) ...... 6/6 Subscriptions can start from any weeks.

Vol. X. No. 22. Saturday, August 18, 1923.

Our View.

The Dock Strike.

In spite of reports, by their Trade Union and by the Press, that the dock strikers of London were returning to work by the thousand, they still stand firm.

A certain Party, which boasts that it has supported the strikers from the first day of the dispute, has issued a Manifesto to the strikers, and has taken the Strike Committee to task for, as it alleges, losing sight of the real issue of the

The strike, the manifesto declares, was "a strike for bread"; but certain sections, dissatisfied by the opposition they have met with Unsophisticated persons may perhaps marvel to load the lorries. But the authorities counted I If the governing classes would become sensifrom their union which they support by their that Mr. De Valera, who has proclaimed a without their host. When the distribution contributions, have desired to form a new union truce and called for the laying down of Republi- flour was completed at all the bakeries, of stevedores and lightermen.

The manifesto asserts that the attempt to form a new union is "playing right into Bevin's when they made a truce with the British Gov- In the railway stations, the railway men refuse with all their might. And by so doing they hands," and it would have been won by now . . .

workers on strike."

The manifesto further tells the workers:

you struck for bread."

for bread they found that, so far from being a redound to its popularity. support to them, their union turned itself into the most potent weapon the employers could ments prosecute their vengeance so far as to contractor has engaged a foreign workman, powerful factors in inducing the strikers in port the Governments are slow to learn that lesson. it involves a contractor with official status, you after port to break the solidarity of the strike Mr. De Valera stands for a romantic and should forthwith open an inquiry against him matured anarchist-communist society." and return to work.

the need for a new organisation was proved rising movement for another social system. seek to liberate himself from the service of one cut, assembled in Congress at New York on April to them by the action of the existing union.

is what form their new union shall take.

that fact the strike would have been a valuable one indeed. Many of the strikers have learnt the lesson it is true; but as yet they form the minority. The need for a new organisation is widely felt, but the reasons why the old organisation failed are not yet fully appreciated; nor has a widespread movement to end the wage system altogether yet developed amongst the strikers who have defied both the union officials and the employers.

That is all the more reason why those who are enlightened to the truth should redouble their propaganda.

An Injunction to Stop Relief of Strikers..... Meeting at the London Chamber of Commerce the timber traders of London, whose business is at a standstill owing to the dock strike, appointed a committee to consider what action can be taken by way of injunction or other method to prevent the Boards of Guardians of Bermondsey and Poplar using the rates to relieve the strikers.

Such action is only what we must expect from the employers. Indeed it is strange that it has not been taken before. Will the Trade Union officials who have refused strike pay to the dockers now put up a serious fight for the the authorities which occur on such occasions. right to relieve them from the rates? That is hardly to be expected.

Unemployment.

Increased unemployment in the coming perts. The Labour Party and the "Industrial union." group" of Conservative Members of Parliament dealing with the problem: namely State subsidies, to be applied to electrifying the railbusiness world desires great State subsidies for its own ends, and finds the relief of unemployment a very convenient stalking horse behind which to move towards its goal.

De Valera Arrested.

can arms, should have been arrested by the State bakers assistants refused to make bread with soldiers, though Messrs. Griffith and Collins, flour transported in military lorries. ernment, were treated with every courtesy and categorically to touch or have anything to "if half the time that has been spent in respect and loaded with favours and compli- with goods which are not transported in lorries. The aspirations of humanity will hew themselves forming the new union had been spent in bold ments. The difference of course mainly arises carrying the authorisation of the union. and vigorous propaganda to extend the strike from the fact that Messrs. Griffith and Collins The work at the port is completely paralysed. had pledged themselves to abandon their repub- Barges and boats, belonging to all nations, "All this new union talk," adds the mani- licanism and to accept the British plan for a being able to discharge their cargo at Barcelona, festo, "if allowed to continue, will destroy Free State, whilst De Valera has declared that are turning away towards Tarragona, Alicante, your ranks and demoralise the whole of the he has only laid down arms to work for the Valencia, Malaga and other ports. But every-Republic by other means.

The arrest of the Republican leader in the Enslavement of Emigrants in France. "You did not strike to form a new union, midst of his election campaign was hardly a . The minister of the liberated regions dignified proceeding for the Free State Gov- France has sent out to all the prefects concerne rather exotic form of nationalism, which, stupen- with a view to cancelling his official status." Certainly the dockers struck for bread and dous as have been the efforts put forth by its As one can see, the French Government acts not to form a new union; but when they struck protagonists, must eventually make way for the so that it may be impossible for the emigrant to states of New York, New Jersey and Connecti-

Will the Imperial and Free State Govern- "Whenever it is brought to notice that a try is that of factory councils.

The only question the dockers have to decide tended the death of President Harding, let it Slavery is re-born as in the good old days of not be forgotten that he long resisted the great traffic. A new union, built on the old lines, may and widespread appeals made to him to release prove at first a distinct improvement on the the prisoners incarcerated for opposition to the The I.W.M.A. news service reports a new efold union: it would be difficult for newly ap- United States war policy, and for failure to fort of Fascism. It is an attempt to "fascise" pointed officials, fresh from the ranks, to act observe the industrial truce, into which the Italian workers who have emigrated, by the in quite so callous a manner towards their Trade Union jingoes had endeavoured to lead foundation of a State bank with branches and fellow workers as those case-hardened gentlemen, the working class. Some of the war-opinion agents in all countries. The function of the Messrs. Bevin and Gosling, have done. Never- prisoners, on whose behalf President Harding bank is to advance capital to private persons theless a new union built on the old lines cannot refused to exercise clemency, actually died from and to commercial enterprises—that is to "fas fail to go the way that all the old unions have the hideous conditions under which they were cist" co-operatives and unions—for the protecgone. The only organisation which can be of confined. Amid the noise of official mourning, tion of what is called national work (according class organisations all the world over which, like cient grounds for war to last for thirty years. permanent value to the dockers, as to all work- let not the sorrows be forgotten of those who to the bill already approved by the Governers, is a Workers' Committee organisation. grieve for the young men who died in prison ment)! If the dockers on strike had but discovered through the late President's callous neglect.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS.

Syndicalism in Russia.

The Syndicalist International Working Men's Association has written to the French United General Confederation of Labour (this is the C.G.T.U., which is the split from the old C.G.T. that has affiliated to the Red International of Labour Unions) pointing out that syndicalist propaganda is persecuted by the Russian Soviet Government and asking the C.G.T.U. to use its influence for the freedom of syndicalist propaganda in Soviet Russia. The Executive o the C.G.T.U. resolved to ignore all communica tions of the I.W.M.A.

Transport Workers' Strike in Spain, A great strike has developed in Spain. began with the dismissal of two workers in the port of Barcelona. The municipal vehicle workheap, factories, unable to obtain raw material, discharged their employees, and a general strike and lock-out developed. The workers kept away from the streets, anticipating the massacres b The authorities set the police to work to disinfect the streets, but they failed to complete the work. The authorities then appealed to the ing out new methods of grouping. syndicalists for permission to disinfect the town, and the sanitary carts were obliged to carry plarived at the flour depots, the porters declared sented to. that they would not load any lorries unless members of the union conducted them. was necessary then for the soldiers themselves tion.

where—the same state of affairs as in Barcelona.

That is true; but when the dockers struck ernment to adopt. The act will certainly not a circular regarding foreign labour. The mos

Fascism Abroad.

(Continued at foot of next column.)

THE BREAK-UP OF THE STATE.

By Peter Kropotkin.

ummed up in the words, industrial and commer- grations. tion,—the political situation can be defined thus: the Middle Ages, the rising States made their single State which is not journeying at a speedy small circle of human affairs. rate towards its break-up and consequently to- To-day, the State has succeeded in insinuawards revolution.

ers' and the street cleaners' union joined the strength that remains to them, they live on their owns us, harasses us.

within 48 hours. The Governor, who disposes for the autonomy of the province, of the com- mum salary for a minimum of work.

ble to the position, they would certainly hasten to anticipate these aspirations. But grown old in tradition, with no other cult but that of the fat purse, they oppose this new current of ideas drive us inevitably towards a violent upheaval. a path—but to the roar of the cannon, the rattle

(Continued from preceeding page.) Austria.

Non-governmental Socialists of Austria state that the Syndicalists of Austria have come to the conclusion that it is a Sisyphus task to bore the reformist labour organisations from within, and that the only form of labour organisation important passage of the circular is as follows: that harmonises with the condition of the coun-is true; but, as a matter of fact, the strike quick- than common effort is made on his behalf. That workman was free, you shall immediately take this function, viz., to satisfy, by its economic labyrinth. ly spread to most of the principal ports, and the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the against the said contractor any measures which powers, the vital needs of mankind, of society, The I.W.W. and the I.W.M.A....

The Italian members of the I.W.W. in the to dig the soil if they are hungry. In the pomp and circumstance which has at- firm and find work elsewhere with better wages. 29, 1923, discussed the question of the Interwith the tendencies of the I.W.W.

state of social organisation in which the produc- crises, growing taxation, accumulated debts. to be carried on by the labour organisations." back for the State. After each war the people

If the economic condition of Europe is to be of the machine-gun, and the light of conflacial chaos and bankruptcy of capitalist produc- When, after the fall of the institutions of rapid decomposition and approaching bankruptcy appearance in Europe and consolidated and enlarged themselves by conquest, cunning and as-Look where you will, you will not find a sassination, they meddled as yet with but a ting itself into every department of our life. Like impotent old men, with wrinkled skin From the cradle to the grave, it strangles us weak against the strong, the State to-day has and tottering feet, consumed by the ravages of in its embrace. As central, provincial or munici- become the stronghold of the rich against the constitutional diseases, incapable of assimilating pal government, it dogs our footsteps, appears exploited, of the propertied against the propertythe flood of new ideas, they squander the little at every turn of the way, imposes itself on us, less.

strikers, the streets became an immense mud past and they hasten their fall still more by tear- It legislates on all our actions. It accumu- call the State? Is it to prevent the exploiting ing each other to pieces like snarling old hags, lates mountains of laws and ordinances amongst of the worker by the capitalist, of the peasant An incurable malady is gnawing at each one which the most cunning lawyer loses himself. by the landowner? Does it guarantee us work? of them: the sickness of old age and decline. Every day it creates fresh machinery which it Does it defend us against the usurer? Or does The State, that organisation which leaves the adapts clumsily to the old patched up concern it give us food when the woman has nothing whole management of all the affairs of every- till it succeeds in producing such a complicated, but water to still the child that cries at her one in the hands of a few, that form of organisa- hybrid, obstructive machine that it even revolts dried-up breast? tion has had its day. Humanity is already work- those who undertake to set it in motion. No, a thousand times no! The State stands

It creates an army of employees, spiders with for the protection of the exploiter, of the specu-After having reached their culminating point crooked claws, who only know the world through lator, of private property—a product of spoliathe eighteenth century, the old States of Eur- the grimy panes of their office windows, or tion. The proletarian, who has but his strength autumn and winter is predicted by all the ex- cards: "With the authorisation of the one big ope have entered to-day upon their downward through the absurd jargon of their official paphase; they are falling into decrepitude. The pers; a black band with but one religion, that expect from the State; he will only find in it of Then the masters bakers informed the Barce- people, especially of the Latin race, are already of money; but one thought, to hitch themselves an organisation designed to prevent at all hazards are proposing precisely the same expedients for lona Governor that, considering the lack of aspiring to the demolition of this power, which on to one party or another, black, violet or his emancipation. flour, there would be no bread for Barcelona only hinders their free development. They wish white, so that they may be assured of the maxi- Everything for the idle owner, everything > was left with no other means than taking re- longer by a power imposed from above, but by Is there a single branch of State activity that course to military lorries. When the latter ar- the bonds of mutual engagements, freely con- does not disgust those who for their misfortune have to do with it? Is there a single depart-That is the historic phase on which we are ment in which the State, after centuries of ex-It entering, and nothing can prevent its realisa- istence and of botching up, has not given proof of utter incapacity?

from the people by the State, never suffice. the mouths of those who will not allow them-The State always exists at the expense of future selves to be corrupted. Such is the State. of future generations; it gets into debt, and Will this last? Can it last? Evidently not. everywhere advances to its ruin.

already reached the immense, the incredible sum tion established specially against itself. of 100 milliards, 100 thousand million francs! ers-on; it is a fatal necessity.

And so deficits and public debts continue to "It is only the factory councils that can grow, even in time of peace. But let a war of muster against them. The Party which issues execute also De Valera, as well as the many knowing that the said workman was under conthe manifesto declares that the strike should others whom they have forced to pay the ex- tract of service with another concern; or even proletariat to continue production and distri- crease in an enormous proportion. There is no have been extended to every port. Again that treme penalty? Probably so, unless some more without being sufficiently assured that the said a bution. In so far as it succeeds in carrying out end to it; it is impossible to get out of this

The State is steaming full speed ahead toit was the union which was one of the most Church is nowhere truer than in Ireland; yet may appear to you opportune. Particularly if the factory councils make every dictatorship in- wards ruin and bankruptcy; and the day is not possible, even in the transition to a new fully- far off when the people, tired of paying millions of interest yearly to the bankers, will declare the State insolvent and send the bankers

> "war." The State seeks and must seek to be powerful, more powerful than its neighbours; of the dawn of a great revolution.—" Words of nationals, examined the programmes of the if not it would be a plaything in their hands. I.W.M.A. of Berlin and of the R.T.U.I. of Mos- It is forced into the attempt to weaken and imcow, and found the former more in conformity poverish other States in order to impose on them its law, its policy, its commercial treaties, to The following resolution was then adopted enrich itself at their expense. The struggle for the upper hand which is the basis of middle-"Resolved to do all in our power to bring class economic organisation, is also the basis of Read E RE The Irish Nation about at the forthcoming General Convention the political organisation. This is why war has beaffiliation of the I.W.W. to the International come to-day the normal condition of Europe; Weekly Review of Irish Republican Opinion ing the I.W.W. a part of the family of working wars are in preparation. There are already suffi- PRICE TWOPENCE the I.W.W., aim by direct action to arrive at a Now war means unemployment, commercial tion and distribution of the necessities of life are More than that. Every war is a moral setperceive that the State has shown its incapacity, even in its principal function; it hardly knows how to organise the defence of its territory; even when victorious, it suffers a repulse. Only think of the ferment of ideas which was born of the war of 1871, in Germany as well as in hasten its moral and economic bankruptcy. Another great war or two and they will give the finishing blow to the crazy machine.

Wars and armaments kill the State; they

Side by side with war abroad, we have the war at home.

Accepted by the people on the condition of being the defender of all, and above all of the

Of what use is it, this immense machine we against the dispossessed worker: middleways and other large constructive works. The of several motor-lorries, lacked chauffeurs. He mune, of groups of workers held together, no his earliest years by inculcating in him antiequalitarian prejudices; the Church which confuses the brain of the woman; the Law which prevents the exchange of ideas of solidarity and equality; money at need, to corrupt the man who comes forward as an apostle of working-class The enormous and ever-increasing sums levied solidarity; prison and lead at discretion to shut

A whole class of humanity, that which produces The public debts of the European States have everything, cannot support for ever an organisa-

Everywhere—beneath the brutality of open (Written 1879-82). If all the revenue of the tyranny and the hypocrisy of constitutionalism-States were to be devoted to the very last farth- the dissatisfied people revolt. The history of ing to meeting these debts, it would not suffice our times is the history of the struggle of the to cover them in the next fifteen years. But privileged rulers against the equalitarian aspirafar from growing less, these debts are constant- tions of the people. This struggle is the prinly on the increase. It is in the nature of things cipal pre-occupation of the governing class; it that the needs of the State are always in excess dictates its actions. It is not principles or conof its means. The State perforce seeks to widen siderations of public welfare which determines its functions; every fresh party in power is nowadays the passing of such and such a law obliged to create new employment for its hang- or government measure; it is only consideration of the struggle against the people for the conservation of privilege.

> This struggle, in itself, would suffice to shake the strongest political organisation. But when it is operative in States which are already by a historic fatality on the road to their fall; when these States are making full speed for ruin and are tearing each other in pieces into the bargain; when, finally, the omnipotent State is becoming odious even to those whom it protects, when so many causes combine towards a single issue, the result of the struggle can no longer remain doubtful. The people, who are the power, will overcome their oppressor, the fall of When one says "State," one inevitably says the State becomes a question of time and the most peaceful philosopher perceives the glimmer

On Sale Saturdays

THE COMMUNIST LIFE FOR MUTUAL SERVICE.

Hon. Secretary, A. Hodson, 36 St. Peter's Hill, Grantham.

The Llano Colony. The Llano Colony was founded in 1914 by Job Harriman, a lawyer of Los Angeles, California. The Colony was at first situated at Llano, in California. Owing to a shortage of water for irrigation purposes, the Colony was transferred in 1917 to the State of Louisiana, in the geneighbourhood of Leesville. The Colony already owns 5,000 acres of land, which isupart of an estate of 20,000. It has an option to purchase this estate, and it is but also to provide a surplus which they making efforts to buy it gradually.

The land is what is known as cut-over earn the money to pay for what they must timber land; that is to say, it has been buy in the outer Capitalist world. stripped of a great part of its timber, but poses of stumps and trees. sheds as gro de de

Fortunately, the Kansas City Southern sugar cane, sweet potatoes, peanuts, maize, Railway runs through the town, and has a beans, peas, and fruits. station near by. The State highway also There is an eight-hour working day, which passes through the town.

The land is costing the colonists 6 dollars chiefly of sandy loam, which can be worked ing Esperanto, agriculture, and so on. immediately after rain.

There is a heavy rainfall well distributed throughout the seasons, snow is almost unknown, the climate is genial and inviting, the There is nothing to pay in rent, etc. One feaaverage temperature is 67.2, the lowest in ture that we do not quite understand is that winter being 37 and the highest in summer the Colony is willing to allow settlers to buy sent. They seemed to fear a bad reception in 100 degrees.

There are extensive timber lands of pine and hard woods.

natural features.

There are 300 inhabitants, nearly a third of whom are children.

Economic Conditions.

With the exception of food, everything is supplied to the colonists without charge. may obtain their meals at the hotel, where three meals are served daily, or at the vegetarian café, where there are generous sup- is working or unable to work. a slice to another child in the neighbourhood, plies of milk, truit and vegetables, wholewheat bread, peanuts and peanut butter, and sugarcane syrup grown on the Colony.

the equivalent amount of food from the Com- States of U.S.A. Congress in Helsingfors, and he says that he missary and cook it themselves. When asked why food should be sold whilst clothing and all other things are supplied buying a thousand dollar shares in it; but Undoubtedly Esperanto, enabling us to talk free, a representative of the Colony stated many of the colonists came without paying to men of other countries, is a blessing; but that when the food was free some people anything. Mr. Ames, who represented the how helpless it still leaves one in the presence took more than they could eat and hoarded Colony on a visit to England, says that no of the crushing evils of the capitalist civilisation, it till it went pad.

We think that such a foolish practice would failure to pay the needful thousand dollars soon have been outgrown.

of two dollars ten cents a week, with which have been faced with the cost of buying land, the food is bought, can hardly be regarded machinery, and whatever they could not as a wage in the ordinary sense, because men supply by their own exertions. Moreover, and women, and even the children, who do they are called on to pay federal State taxes, not work, are paid this sum each week.

On reaching Llano the Colonists undertook a big task to buy the additional land, the purchase of which is still going on, and to maintain themselves till they could obtain food

Industries. They therefore worked hard to develop industries not only to supply their own needs. might sell to the outside world, in order to

The Colony's assets are now valued at it still looks nicely wooded. The colonists 250,000 dollars. It has an apiary, 20 milking had before them, on arrival, the task of clear- cows, a herd of thoroughbred Holstein heifers, ing the land to be used for agricultural pur- a goat ranch with Angora goats, a hog ranch, and several hundred Derroc-Jersey hogs, a On the estate bought by the Colony was chicken farm, and dairy and butcher's shop, a little lumber town, built only as temporary an auto garage, brick-making plant, blackaccommedation for the people employed to smith's shop, broom factory, crate-making clear the land of its timber. Deserted by factory, wagon-making shop, harness shop, Communist. the lumber workers, it was now almost worn shoe shop, steam laundry, cannery, sweetout. Phis little town contained a lumber potato storage, grist mill, peanut-butter tagmill, shop, hotel, about fifty cottages, and tory, sweet factory, a theatre and picture numerous barns, workshops, offices, and show, a printing shop, where it produces a weekly newspaper and a magazine. It grows ends at 4.30 p.m.

There are classes in instrumental music and an acre to purchase. It is very rich and fer- singing, there is an orchestra, there are tile, and well timbered. The soil consists classes in dancing, science, languages, includ-

The Colony has built itself several new houses for themselves in the Colony. minimum in the Colony, as the washing is them, for although the feeling against the French Altogether, the Colony is fortunate in its done at the laundry, the sewing in the dress- is very bitter, every Esperantist knows that the making shop, and most people live in the French Government's action is detestable in the school, four nours a day at home. This will buy a million marks, a newspaper costs two The Colony is highly commendable for its seems to us too long; but a mitigating cir- thousand, half a pound of cherries costs 7,500 effort to eliminate economic differences and cumstance is that the children choose the marks, the postage on a postcard to England

There is a hospital, but there is a recent changing our English money, but it is frightful development in medical treatment, a class for the Germans who cannot get wages in pro-Food is charged at the rate of 30 cents a day to teach the sick people how to become well. portion. -i.e., roughly, 10 cents a meal. Colonists There is, of course, no charge for medical My landlady here has good furniture, but treatment; and, of course, the supply of food, she has just sold some of it to give her two and everything else, is the same, whether one children bread; and yet I saw her to-day give

The Colony does not admit people of still poorer than hers. Asiatic or African race. This is a regrettable She has sold her towels, or nearly all, so that Those who like to take their meals at home racial prejudice; it is excused on the ground self after my bath! Yet I met a Russian at and they are the minority-may purchase that race hatred is acute in the Southern this Congress, whom I had met at last year's Conditions of Membership.

Membership of the Colony is conditional on Is it possible? willing worker is debarred admission through with its concomitant militarism!

(about £200).

We must admit, however, that the wage The purchase of membership is, of course, including that for police protection though no policemen appear in the Coleny Management.

The Colony enters into an agreement to employ each Colonist (who is supposed to hear stockholder). The stockholders annually elect a board of directors. The board of directors appoints a manager. The manager appoints the foremen for the industries. Each foreman has a free hand in running his inuustry, subject to the manager and directors. Each colonist is expected to do the work to which he or she is directed by the management, though regard is usually paid to the inclination of the workers. The management is thus not so democratic or mutual as we should desire to see. The Colony calls itself co-operative. There are some acknowledged Communists in the Colony who are striving to make it more

ESPERANTO.

The fifteenth annual Esperanto International Congress is taking place this year at Nuremberg. There are no less than five thousand Esperantists assembled here, and one notices this year, more than ever perore, the assurance felt by everyone of understanding and being understood. There are over a hundred English here wearing the green and gold medal: one can generally recognise them by the full-mouthed way in which they pronounce the letter O, and sometunes also by their slurring the letter R; otherhouses. These are on the hotel principle. wise they make excellent Esperantists, and beat the Dutch, who often mix up P and B.

here are no French or Belgian comrades pre-Germany, but certainly in Esperantist circles Private domestic work is reduced to a there would be nothing but cordiality awaiting eyes of the comrades in those countries.

The children work four hours a day at At the present moment four English shillings buying and selling from amongst its members. industry they will enter. is 1,800 marks. All this is cheap enough for us feature, since true Communism can admit no I can only have a small table napkin to dry myconsiders Russia to be in a still worse state!

The Unknown Soldier.

local relief office. It has increased its member- to please "Blanket Stiff." ship considerably. This branch continues its meetings in Victoria Park. Bow Branch is doing what was expected of it-its best.

Millwall Branch, with the aid of a few comrades from Poplar, has held some exceptionally good outdoor meetings during the past two Dear Editor, meetings at the Guardians' offices and in the is!" lar Branch, when in the N.U.W.C.M., numbered parts of the country to give them a smoke. only thirty to forty members. (This is not hear- When people says she is proud of him, I completely.

and the hot weather, the Unemployed Workers' nant, and goes to work a week or only a few Organisation has progressed with remarkable ra- days before she gives birth to her child. In pidity. Remember, it is up to you to build fact, she almost gives her last drop of blood up the organisation. to bring that child into the world. She very with us, start a branch in your district or town. keep her alive.

Hall .- J. T. Bellamy, Area Organiser.

Dear Editor,

In your issue of the 4th inst. "Blanket Stiff" I challenge the other people to come to the close their offices at 36, Lamb's Conduit Street, and have moved to Queen Square again.

I should be pleased if you will correct this in child gets relief at something like £2 a day; unemployed of Poplar, Bow and Millwall in your next issue, as the L.D.C. have not removed some of them get more. The funny part is that to Queen Square and to the best of my know- they don't line up for it, they have it sent to Bow Branch has been active recently at their ledge have no intentions of so doing, not even them. So we, who have to feed, clothe and

Fraternally yours, H. E. MARTIN,

District Secretary.

CORRESPONDENCE.

meeting. The membership of Millwall is steadily put in the paper to dope the workers and make flower of spring. them stop thinking of the things they should Poplar Branch has held its usual propaganda talk about, and say: "What a nice little chap he

Town Hall. During the past week fifty new I am the mother of ten, but my portrait members have joined, which is really a remark- has never been in the paper with my baby. able achievement, when one takes into consider- The only time the dope Press put in my poration and remembers that this time lats year trait was when I walked from Old Ford to Hyde during the hot weather the strength of the Pop- Park to meet the marchers coming from all pelled to close one of its departments.

say; I was one of these members.) These fig- cannot say that the real loving mother is the ures alone speak volumes for the organisation. one in the class that has children, or rather clerks to load barges. Several new units have broken away from gives birth to a child by taking twilight sleep the N.U.W.C.M. South-West Ham has ap- and wakes up after two hours' sleep to find a proached us with a view to affiliation. By this baby washed and dressed and a nurse standtime next week we hope to have them organised ing by her side. I am sure she has not got in the U.W.O. the love for her child that a real mother has, Taking into consideration the Dock Strike who is half starved and half clothed while preg-I appeal to comrades, both employed and often has to sleep with four or five other chilunemployed, to read our manifesto and study dren and a husband, who wonders how he is our aims and objects. If you are in agreement going to get milk and other good things to

We will be glad at any time to assist com- The real mother has to sit up after the third rades in this matter. Further information and or fourth day, to wash her other little ones. particulars concerning the organisation may be If anyone were to say to the mother: "I will had on application to the Area Secretary, Un- look after your new born," she would think her employed Workers' Organisation, Poplar Town mad. Not like the other mother, when another woman steps in and takes the child and brings it up on the bottle and sometimes has it for days and days, while the mother is away.

states that the L.D.C. have been compelled to Bow, Bromley or Poplar unemployed and see the baby who is fed on outdoor relief for the large sum of 7d. a day. Why, the so-called mother's wash our children, can claim the world in the name of the real mothers of Bow, Bromley and

Dear Editor,

If we desire peace we must organise against this brutal system. We must abolish the greed weeks. A very large meeting was held outside I was very much surprised on picking up a of gain and unite in serving our neighbours. Kingsbridge Arms, Millwall, on Friday night, paper on the top of the bus the other day, to When we do that, armies will no longer exist. and the audience was attentive and interested. find a portrait of a young mother loving her There shall be no bloodshed, joy and happiness We are expecting some good results from this first-born. How nice it looks! But it is only shall be supreme and humanity will be the

GUISEPPE RAINO.

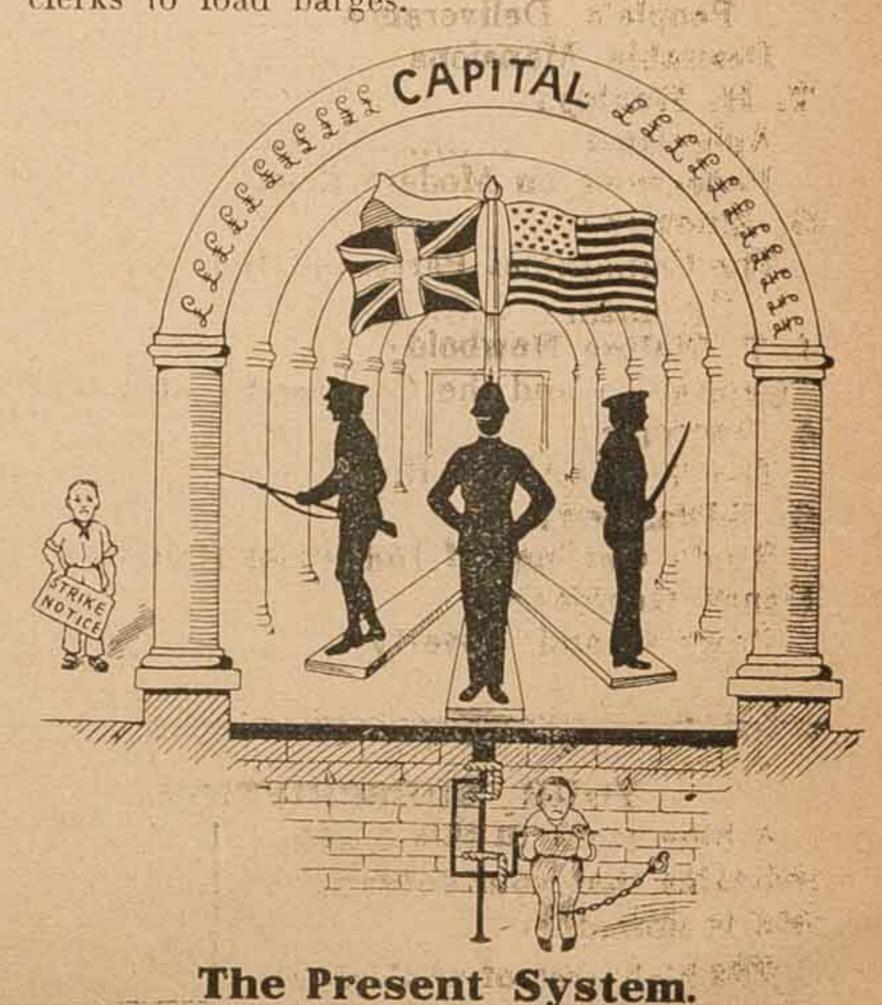

4. Locks Gardens, Roseberry Avenue.

London, E.C.

DOCK STRIKE EFFECTS.

A certain noted biscuit firm has been com-A certain bag and sack maker has shut down

A well-known firm is still compelling its

THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF TH

THE RED COTTAGE.

Woodford Wells.
For Outings and Week-ends.

126 Woodford High Road.

'Buses 34, 40a, 10a pass the door.

Opposite "Horse and Well."

OUR BOOKSHOP.

Charles Bradlaugh:
Doubts in Dialogue	2
Man Whence and How? Religion
What and Who?	8/
A Ples for Atheism	60
Genesis: Its Authorship and Authenticity	4
Has, or Is, Man a Soul?	1
Jack London:
Revolution	2
The Human Drift	2
The People of the Abyss	2
John Barleycorn	2
War of the Classes	2/8
The Scarlet Plague	1
The Valley of the Moon2/- and	6
Edward Carpenter:
Civilisation: Its Cause and Cure	2/
England's Ideal	2/
The Drama of Love and Death	8
The Promised Land: A Drama of a
People's Deliverance	3/
Desirable Mansions	40
T. H. Huxley:
Aphorisms	1/-
Reflections on Modern Science	1/
G. Zinoviev:
The Communist Party and Industrial	01
Unionism	21/2
J. T. Walton Newbold:
Capitalism and the Counter-Revolution	14
A. Ransome:	-
The Truth About Russia	11/2
C. Edwardson:	0
Study Outlines of Industrial History	6
Henry George:	0
Progress and Poverty	2

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

A blue mark in this space indicates that your subscription is now due.

of the paper necessitates prompt payment.

Clara Cole: The Castle in th

The Castle in the Air ..... Parliament The People's Enemy ... Dustheap Alley and The Living Tomb ...... Belgium Never Neutral ..... The Message ..... Discovered: The New Armament Ring ..... Engels: Socialism, Utopian and Economic 3/8 Origin of the Family ..... J. T. Holyoake: Sixty Years of an Agitator's Life ... Maxim Gorky: Twenty-six Men and a Girl ...... James Leakey: Introduction to Esperanto ...... Wm. Cobbett: 1817. The Last Hundred Days of English Freedom ..... 5/-History of the Protestant Revolution 2/6 Rural Rides (2 vols.) English Grammar ..... Cottage Economy ..... M. Delaisi: 2/6 .......... Peter Kropotkin: Conquest of Bread ..... 2/2 Fields, Factories and Workshops ... Modern Science and Anarchism ... Mutual Aid ..... The Wage System ..... The Breakdown of Our Industrial System .......

GERMINAL

JUST THE RIGHT
MAGAZINE
for all WORKERS

Good Stories
Pictures Poetry and Reviews

Take a copy on your Holiday!
32 Pages—Sixpence

WOODFORD WELLS DISCUSSION CIRCLE,

THE RED COTTAGE,
High Road, Woodford Wells.
Sundays, 5 to 7 p.m.

COMMUNIST WORKERS' MOVEMENT.

Thursday, August 16, 8 p.m., Garnault Place:
Sylvia Pankhurst, J. Welsh, Guiseppe Kaino.
Friday, August 17, 8 p.m., Wade Place, Poplar:, Sylvia Pankhurst, J. Bellamy, J. Pearson.
Sunday, August 19, 7 p.m., The Flagstaff, Hampstead Heath: Sylvia rankhurst, W. Hall.

WORKS OF JAMES CONNOLLY.

	0.1
The Irish Revolution	6d.
Jim Larkin, The Man and His Fight	6d
'98—Tone and Emmet	6d
'The Workers' Republic, 'Selected
Editorials	6d.
The New Evangel	6d.
Revolutionary Songs, Poems, and a
Play	6d
Two Glorious Triumphs-1913-1916	6d
National Independence or Social
Emancipation	6d
Selected Speeches and Short Articles
—Part I.	6d
Life, Works, and Letters-Part I	6d

Order early, and send cash with order.
No. 1 is ready. The others will follow shortly.

From the "Dreadnought" Bookshop.

"DREADNOUGHT" £1,000 FUND.

Brought forward, £56 2s. 9d. W.P., 2s. 6d.; J. E. Matthews, 5s.; Anon., £1; Irene Smith, 1s. (weekly); J. and S. Hobbs, 3s. 3d.; G. Sargent, 5s.; H. Hersey, 10s.; Collection, Finsbury Park, 3s. 9d.; J. Keane, 2s.; A. Barlow, 16s. (1s. weekly, 6s.). Total for week: £38s. 6d.. Total, £59 11s. 3d.

Published by E. Sylvia Pankhurst, at 152
Fleet Street, London, E.C. 4, and printed by the Agenda Press, Ltd. (T.U.), at 10 Wine Office Court, London, E.C. 4.