PLENTY FOR ALL—POVERTY FOR NONE!

Vol. X. No. 36.

November 24, 1923.

WEEKLY.

A. LITTLE . HOLIDAY: OR A. DAY OFF FOR ALL PARTIES

Equality

He walks the roads with a smile, with purpose bent in each stride;

Each moment is worth his while for the Soul of the Tramp is his guide.

Or silently sticks at the beach with the sleeves of his shirt up-furled,

While he thinks of home and the wench as he hammers the wealth of the world. Or he sits at the desk and indites a message of Hope to men-And his Soul's in the thing that he writes, and the Future lives in his pen. So, through each difficult day and the moonlight's silvery dreams :-Each man in his wonderful way is Lord of us all, it seems. She sweats at a sewing machine making the rags of the rich, And broods o'er the Might-have-Been, and her heart is stabbed with each stitch.

Or she splashes with ribbon and ink, and lives like a gramophone;

Her brain is too busy to think, and her soul is never her own.

Or she plods the lamp-lit streets from night till the dull grey morn,

And she smiles at each oaf that she meets, and wi hes the'd never been born.

And so, as the sages might say and inscribe in ponderous reams,

Each woman in her sweet way is Queen of us all, it seems.

And the fruit of the woman and man, born of the slums and sine,

Tho' he be free for a span and his soul is his own for a time-Cares not for nations or flags nor craves his fellow-mais bood, While nursing a bundle of rags, or building his catte of mud. And the maid may dream of the Mother, and the boy of his Man of Might, Till the factory's smoke and its smother blots them out in its Night. Yet whether at work or at play, whilst the star-light of infancy gleams, Each Child in its innocent way rules over us all, it scems.

A. C. Young.

Our Labour Party: A Conversation

Mrs. A: Oh, we got a Labour Party down our not, Mrs. B. It's the unemployed they have way now. Oh, they done a lot for us.

Mrs. B: What have they done, Mrs. A?

Mrs. A: Built us new houses.

Mrs. B: What do you mean? Built you all new houses? Oh, I shall have to come and live down your way!

Mrs. A: Oh, no, my goodness, Mrs. A. Houses for all of us! Mercy no. They only built just a hundred houses; but I'm living in one of them.

Mrs. B: Oh, I see! You're one of the lucky ones! Are they nice houses, Mrs. A?

Mrs. A: Oh, yes, a great improvement: a bath in the scullery, four nice rooms; 13s. 6d. a week, I pay.

Mrs. B: A lot, isn't it?

Mrs. A: A much better house than I had for

123. Mrs. B: Why don't they build some more houses, Mrs. A? A hundred won't do for a place like yours. They say there's 20,000 living there

Mrs. A: More than that, Mrs. B; but you see they can't. It seems there was only that bit of the land to be sold, and, beside, the Government won't give them any more money, so I've heard. It was the Government started it, you know, and then they cut it down.

Mrs. B: Why, I thought you said it was the Labour Party?

Mrs. A: Well, I'm sure they did their best for us. It's a good house I'm living in, I know that.

Mrs. B: I'm glad you are satisfied, Mrs. A. What else has the Labour Party done for you? Mrs. A: They haven't done anything for me, Mrs. B; but they done some good for poor people. They've given out much better money on

SPECIAL FOR THE ELECTION!

"CHRISTIANISM OR COMMUNISM" (Usually sold at One Shilling)

WILL BE SOLD AT FOUR COPIES FOR A SHILLING DURING THE ELECTION PERIOD

Apply—

"WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT," 152, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

the Guardians, so they say; at least that's what I've heard. Come here, Mrs. C. Look here, Mrs. A: I am talking to Mrs. B; Mrs. B, I doesn't the Labour Guardians pay out more to am asking you. you than the old ones did.

Mrs. C: They did; but they're cutting it down. The Government says they mustn't pay out so much. They said they've been spending more than they should. So they've cut us all down, and they say they'll be cutting us down again in a week or two.

Mrs. A: A good job too! Look at the rates! Why, do you know, Mrs. B, my rates is 7s. 6d. a week? It's something awful. The Labour Party can't pay out no more than anyone else: it stands to reason: it all comes out of our pockets in the end, whichever way you look at it: you can see that for yourself. It's time the rates did come down. I shan't support them again if they don't, I can tell you.

Mrs. B: But you told me they done such a lot for you, Mrs. A.

Mrs. A: Done for me? Indeed they have done for. I never asked a penny of no one, nor my husband neither.

Mrs. C: Done for the unemployed? Why, you said yourself they was cutting us down. "And a good job, too," you said. How do you think people's going to live on it? "A good job too!" We don't have to look to you far no sympathy! You think the unemployed should starve, I suppose; that's your principles! I don't think much of them! As for what bit the unemployed get: well, they fought for it. It wasn't give to them willing. Locking the Guardians up and that and going on hunger marches, tramping their shoe leather off. If the unemployed got anything, it's themselves they got to thank for it, and no-one else! It's them Council employees have to thank the Labour Party. They had their wages brought up wherever the Labour Party got in-and kep' up. They been the ones to benefit.

Mrs. A: Yes, out of other people's pockets. It's us that is working that pays for it every time; you can't get away from that.

Mrs. B: So your Labour Party hasn't done so much for you, after all, Mrs. A.

Mrs. A: Well, no: seemingly they can't pay Peter without robbing Paul.

Mrs. C: Other people had to pay for them houses you are living in: them that haven't got a new house; don't forget that, Mrs. A! Mrs. B: It's the system they are working under. Mrs. A: What do you mean, Mrs. C? What else can they do: what else could you do yourself, if you was in their places. Everything costs money and everything has to be paid for.

Mrs. C: Have you only just found that out, Mrs. A? You belong to the Snail's Club, I should think!

Mrs. A: Hold your noise, Mrs. C. I am talking to Mrs. B. I am asking you, Mrs. B, what is the use of running them down when you couldn't do any better? You talk about a system; but what system would you work on? There is only one system to work on: Do your best; and what good can anyone do with trade like it is, I should like to know? Now I ask you, what remedy is there? There is no remedy. So it have always been, and so it will always be. When the trade brightens up the unemployment will be less, but poverty will always be. As for the unemployed, they're an idle, good-for-nothing lot, and that is my opinion.

Mrs. C: I wish your husband would be out of work and then you would learn something, Mrs. Know-all!

Mrs. B: I told you it is the fault of the sys-

Mrs. A: You are talking nonsense, Mrs. B. Haven't my husband been a supporter of the Labour Party for twenty years? Haven't he voted for them every time? Haven't they done their best now they got in? And can't we see there is nothing can be done? Whatever they try to do it puts up the rates; and, after all, can we go on paying them? Of course we cannot: they have come down and they have got to come down. I believe in kindness, but I believe in common sense.

Mrs. B: But I told you it is the system. Mrs. A: Now, I ask you, Mrs. B, what is there they can do? I suppose you say municipalise the trains. Well, there is no trains down here. I suppose you say do it with the buses; but it wouldn't make much difference. There is places where they done it to the trams, and the gas, and the electric light, and it don't make any difference to speak of. There is poverty there, just the same: you can't alter it, and you can't help one without taking it from another to give them. Even if you was to take consolate. over all the shops, there is the shop-keepers The country about him teemed with the to be thought of. Are they to starve? What wealth of husbandry. The porch where he sat would my sister do without her little shop, and was covered with climbing roses, their luxuriher a widow with six children? Do you want ant blossoms sceming almost to jostle each other that you think there is not enough food in the Pigeons cooed in their cote, peacocks strutted question of the woman's morality obviously reworld for every one? Do you mean to tell me the lawns; on all hands were signs of comfort. quired investigation. The same interloper as we couldn't grow and raise more food than Yet Old Morality was disconsolate; his occupa- before again intervened, contending that the people could eat? Mrs. A: No, I do not, Mrs. B. I'm not so ignorant. I know very well there is plenty of food could be got-if it would pay to do it! I know there is milk that is give to the pigs, and I know there is fruit left to rot and fish put back in the sea. I have been brought up in the country, Mrs. C. I know something about it; but it doesn't pay, Mrs. C. There is so much coming in from abroad, it doesn't pay the farmers to grow it. Mrs. C: Do you think there aren't enough men and materials to build the houses? Do you believe the men out of work couldn't be taught to build houses? Mrs. A: Indeed, they could, Mrs. C. I would lend a hand myself. Mr. Potter has been in Hungary, and he told me the women are building houses there. Fancy that now! Would you believe it? But I wouldn't be backward: I'd take a hand at it myself. I wouldn't starve with work to be done. I'd soon get something to do if my husband was out of work, I tell you, Mrs.

Mrs. C: What's the good of talking to me when I'm out of work myself? Haven't I almost tramped my shoes off? Nothing to be had! Some people is always so clever: they could almost make a pair of trousers out of a pocket handkerchief!

Mrs. A: I'm talking to Mrs. B. There's plenty of work we know to be done, Mrs. B; but who is to pay for it? You can't expect people to lay their money out to make work if it isn't going to pay them. You can't expect em to give their money away.

Mrs. B: Oh, I'm not concerned with work; I'm concerned with food, and clothes, and chap: what's the tale? I see myself winning houses. I want everyone to have plenty: that's back popularity at last! what interests me; plenty for all: that's what

Mrs. A: Don't talk silly, Mrs. B. Things like that can't be had without working : you don't suppose the loaves and fishes is going to my lord. It was in the year 1914 I first obgrow on the trees! And how is a man going served the unmistakeable signs of it. In the to work to produce them without his wages- first year of the great war committees were or a woman either-don't talk silly! Wages! Why I want to do away with them!

Mrs. C: Do you think you're going to get the unemployed to do it? I tell you you're not! was a clamour for something of the kind and They won't blackleg! If they can't get a Trade we acceded to it. All sorts of persons git on to Union wage, they won't work at all. Don't you make any mistake.

mean anything to do with blacklegging. Sup- that there had always been the handican of pose you could have all the food, all the clothes, the election. Without a strong party machine all the books and pictures and things like that and liberal funds no one could surmount that. you wanted, free of charge; suppose you could It was fully effective against all pioneers. That choose your own house, and pay no rent, and go on the railways and trams free of charge, and the same with everything else you wantedwouldn't that be more good to you than your husband bringing home a Trale Union wage?

Mrs. C: Well, of course. Mrs. B: Why don't you agitate for it then, instead of wasting your time over what don't matter?

"DREADNOUGHT" £1,000 FUND.

Brought forward, £128 11s. 6d. F. Haughton, £1 10s.; S. N. Ghose, 5s.; C. Cole (pro- the point of deciding to discontinue her relief. ceeds of play), 5s.; W. Peasnell, 1s. 6d.; Collection at Finsbury Park, 2s. 5d.; Bazaar, £11 17s.; H. Hersey, 10s.; P. Hopkins, £5; J. A. Kershaw, 5s. Total for week, £19 15s. 11d. Total, £148 75. 5d.

Old Morality

I am asking you: Is there any sense in it? ripe plums hung within reach of his hand. Mrs. B: Do you mean to tell me, Mrs. A, The well-kept flower beds were gay with blooms. tion was gone.

"What is the matter, Old Morality?" said a young girl pausing to speak with a gaze of trouble and surprise. A lovely creature she was, still in her middle teens, with long bare legs and sandled feet and a short holland smock embroidered with many gay coloured silks.

Morality shrugged his shoulders and turned away from her; but she laid her hand carressingly on his arm.

You look so sad: indeed it hurts me. You are the only sad-looking person I have seen for more than a year. Why are you always grieving? I beg you not to! '

She dropped upon the seat beside him and Then Old Morality smiled: her touch was pleasant. His arm closed round her, but with a startled cry she dashed away. Old Morality cursed and ground his teeth:

eyeglass from which the glass was missing, stays who didn't understand how to amuse themselves and padding and clothes of a by-gone pattern and took a pleasure in making themselves unmade him look a curious figure indeed.

sport?" he queried.

Old Morality replied.

It's a rotten life!" Nobility observed, pulling Morality: "For a time that was so; when I up the knees of his trousers before he sat. 'An saw the position was changing, I tried to safeiniquitous shame that men of my class should guard it by the advocacy of such expedients as be simply ignored. The beggars absolutely don't cheaper divorce." notice us: but as to their immorality, I hadn't observed it. It might be important; by Jove, one might start a crusade! Cough it up, old Morality, skilled in the arts of propaganda; assumed an air of anxious sorrow: "The disintegration of the moral fibre of the working classes has been a long and progres ive growth, formed for the alministration of relief to those Mrs. B: What do people want with wages? who were unemployed through the war. I myself approved the relief and the committees, mistakenly, no doubt, as it appears now. There those committees. It seemed to give the rabble a taste for intruding into public administration, Mrs. B: Look here, Mrs. C, you know I don't which was to have serious consequences. Before was as it should be. It was a sad pity we departed from it. In spite of the guiding hand of the central executive the administration of those mixed committees became woefully lax. A faithful disciple of mine, Mr. Pry, of an East End church, most properly reported to his committees that a woman in receipt of food and coal tickets from the Prince of Wales's Fund, had actually been observed in a state of intoxication in the public street. The experienced administrators upon the committee rightly realised the danger of condoning such conduct in a woman of that class, and having uttered a suitable reproof to the woman, they were on "One of the newcomers, however, a woman, mark you, which made her attitude the more objectionable, raised an absurd outcry, declaring that the committee had no right to take the food tickets from the woman's children. This per-

Old Morality sat hunched up in the sun, dis- son, one of the rabble who were called "Reds" at that time, so threatened the members of the committee with exposure that it was decided to overlook the woman's offence for the time being.

"On another occasion, Mr. Pry, a most zealous administrator, reported to the committee that her to go to the Workhouse, Mrs. B? Now for a place to show themselves. Grapes and the Relieving Officer had reported to him that a certain widow, who was receiving food tickets: was said to have a man calling at her house. The committee had no right to exercise the customary moral supervision over persons in receipt of relief. Again her insistence and threats of exposure induced the committee to capitulate.

> "The same sort of thing was going on all over the country: the morals of the people were being steadily undermined, and they were developing the most absurd, not to say impudent, notion that there should be an equal moral standard for all."

> Nobility: "Some of your administrators began to set 'em an example you didn't want 'em to follow; didn't they old cock?"

> Morality: "My lord, that was always the case. as you will certainly agree, when you remember that the administration of public affairs was at one time almost wholly confided to members of the ar stocracy."

Nobility: "You're right there, old fellow. I own. Of course we had to leave the setting of a proper example to the lower orders to such Old Nobility sauntered up. Spats and an cranky fellows as the Socialists and Atheists, comfortable. Those chaps did it well; they were By Jove; what is the row with you, old so anxious to avoid being censured for one particular little bit of rebellion, that they tum-I deplore the immorality of the times, my bled over themselves with anxiety to toe the line

Nobility: "The devil you did! The divorce courts should have been reserved for people of my class. Your pandering to the lower orders was the beginning of all the mess!"

Morality: "You do me wrong, my lord. With very great respect, I must insist that it was your lack of caution and failure to consult me which led to disaster. Since the governing class was small, and the governed class large, and growing, it was inevitable that individuals from the governed class should occasionally pass into the governing class. It was necessary to ensure that the new recruits should speedily and thoroughly be acclimatised to their new environment. It was my privilege to assist in that desirable task. As the minor duties of Government devolve upon many persons whose humble origin was apparent, it was my policy to surround them with a halo of importance and to weave about them the atmosphere necessary to place any peccadilloes they might commit outside the judgment which applied to the ordinary commonality. You, my lord, I say it with great respect, mistakenly adopted the policy of attacking instead of assimilating the raw new-comers and would-be entrants to the ranks of the Governing classes. In your zeal, you evoked dangerous comparisons between the governing and the governed, and you thereby rendered my task of maintaining a suitable moral standard for the lower orders even more difficult."

"Oh, chuck it, old Jawbones," Nobility muttered with impatience, "I don't want to be bored with a recital of ancient history. Figure out this crusade of ours, or I shall be off!"

At that moment a man and woman, accompanied by a tall youth, and a child of three, came gaily across the lawn. The baby was trying to put a garland of daisies about the neck of a puppy, but the animal cluded him and bounded away whenever his purpose seemed all but acplished, then waited slyly for him to approach again. All four were enjoying the fun. The woman was knitting some garment of golden silks, the man was carrying painters' sketching tackle for himself and the woman, and the youth had a bundle of books under his arm

The elders threw themselves down on a grassgrown bank at the edge of the lawn and settled to their work, whilst the baby began to knock about croquet balls with a miniature mallet and the puppy frisked around him.

Old Morality eved them with an air of malice. 'Detestable creatures," he growled. "They defy all my precepts. They behave as though they were privileged persons above all my laws. They have escaped from my control. They have cast waitress, page boy and chambermaid, housemaid off my influence. I will recapture my power. I and all the so-called "lower" staff. will rule over them. I will dominate them. I will go forth like another Jeremiah and terrify them by my preaching. That trio of iniquitous merry-makers shall be the first to hear me.

"I'll be with you, old boy, but I can't start without a bottle of champagne; my throat is so deuced dry. The grape in its natural state never appealed to me, and so few drink the fiz nowadays that I'll have to walk a beastly mile and a half to get to the nearest place where it is. Wait till I get on the stump with you, old boy! proprietor also to be a lowed to work. I'll soon get a body of admirers to wait on me! ences I used to address in the good old days.

punishment shall be visited upon ye."

elders regarded Morality in surprise.

our sketches before the light changes; we have for the privilege of being allowed to obtain no time to see your acting now.'

"Abandoned woman! Morality cried, and heedless boy? Thy mother is living in sin with- Continental importation. This is how it works: clock calls him up at 5.30 or 6 next morning.

"My father's in Africa, enjoying himself immensely," the boy answered. "I had a letter from him the other day. Please don't be silly, the boy protested.

At that moment Morality threw up his arms with a shout and held up one foot as though it had been shot.

Old Nobility, who was hiding behind a rose bush, had gathered up a handful of little stones and was throwing them at the trio Morality was reproving. He had hit Morality by mistake. With his next aim Nobility struck the puppy, which began to back furiously, and rushed at Morality. Old Morality at once took to his heels crying out that he had been stoned for his virtue and that a savage dog had been set upon him for his efforts in the cause of public morals.

1MPORTANT!

We urgently suggest that comrades should endeavour to secure new subscribers to the 'Workers' Dreadnought" and that they should collect at meetings and from their friends whatever is possible. However small the sum y 1 can collect, it will be welcomed. Send it in stamps or postal orders. The "Dreadnought" is not self-supporting: the editing and managing

FROM OUR BOOKSHOP. LEON TROTZKI: The Bolsheviki and World

Peace. 5s. WINSTEN: Chains (Poems). 3s. 6d.

C. H. BRETHERTON: Rhyme and Reason. 4s. HENRY KITTREDGE NORTON: The Far Eastern Republic of Siberia. 6s.

GERHARDT HAUPTMANN: The Sunken Bell.

JACK LONDEN: The Iron Heel, 28. C. K. STREIT: Where Iron is there is the Fatherland. 2s. 6d. W. J. TURNER: Landscape of Cytherea. 3s. 6d. SIDNEY OSBORNE: The Saar Question. 8s. BISHOP BROWN: Communism and Christian-

PIO BAROJA: The Quest. 6s.

From "Dreadnought" Bookshop, 152, Fleet St.

A Review of the Struggles of the Catering Trade Employees

By W. McCARTNEY

(Late Vice-President, United Catering Trade

V.—THE WAITER AND WAITRESS. The "staff food" is for the waiter and commis" boys out of the amount.

the waiter and the rest as well as on the kitchen dinner at 6 or 6.30 till 8 or 9 p.m., and for

In the majority of hotels and restaurants a waiter has to find, at his own expense, an ordinary size is as follows: If he sleeps at home, evening dress suit, sometimes a white waist- some distance from the hotel, he has to get coat, patent boots, starched shirts, fronts, col- up, say between 5.30 to 6 a.m., to go on duty

After paying the agent for the job, he some-By Jove, if I only had a servant to send. times finds that he has to pay the manager or

The waiter has to trust to the charity of his They can't resist my intonation. Ah, the audi- customers for tips to enable him to live. The proprietor has got his customers waited on free Old Morality rose and approached the busy of charge and even pocketed a sum from the party upon the bank with threatening metre: waited besides. The waiter has to pay for 'Woe unto ye unhappy sinners," he cried in laundry, agent, and proprietor before starting hollow tones. "Ye are living in iniquity and work, and has to trust to luck whether he gets it all back and a bit on top after he has worked. The baby continued his game, but his three Many waiters have worked hours and find at the finish of the day's or evening's work that they "It is very funny," the woman said to him, are out of pocket. What they have done is "but please, dear comrade, we want to finish to obtain profits for the Boss, and pay him, Many hotels and restaurants have what is turned to the youth: "Where is thy father O called a Trone System. This was originally a > is, two, three or more tables; he has one or the exception of what is called half a day off two young lads to help him called "commis" a week. This half-day is generally after lunchwaiters. There is a box on a table or fixed on eon, about 2.30 or 3 p.m. As a matter of fact the wall. Every waiter receiving a tip from the waiter only really gets three hours off weekly his customer is not allowed to keep what has though it is called a half day, because he is off been given to him. He is compelled to wrap it any day from 3 till about 6 p.m. I have in up in paper, write his name or number on it, mind a certain hotel in the West End, where and place it in this box. Now there is the head the waiter could not eat his dinner. He sent waiter, who very rarely does any waiting, there out for eggs, got them cooked and eat them may be superintendents and the manager, they in his time off duty. At the same hotel the are all "waiting" and watching for a waiter to waiter had been on duty from 7 a.m. The put the tip in his pocket, then, when caught "master" had gone out to a party; he arrived doing so it is generally the sack for the waiter. home at 4 next morning. The waiter had to The box or "trone" is generally opened once stay up to let him in, and to be on duty again a week-on Saturday-by the head waiter. No next morning at 7 a.m. waiter; commis, or glass-washer or pantry-man Another waiter, a lad, employed at the same is present at the opening of the "trone," so the hotel, could not eat the staff food so went home, others have got to take for gospel what the head and his mother gave him a good wholesome feed, waiter says is in the "trone." More often and he got back late for duty. He told them than not, the total amount of tips put in the he had gone home to get some food. This is 'trone" during the week by the waiter is not quite recently.

Now comes the sharing out. Who does that? I have previously mentioned "extra waiters" Why, the head waiter, and he comes first with When a manager or head waiter has a big the biggest share, although his name may not dinner or banquet on he usually 'phones up an be once found in the box. Then comes the agent thus: superintendent, if there is one, with the next biggest share. Sometimes the manager also has 6 p.m. for special dinner?" a bit. Then comes the waiter next in rank, with just what the head waiter chooses to give paying: him. After all the waiters come the "commis" waiters, with a very small share. Then the lings and tips" (he does not forget to mention pantryman and one or two porters who may the tips). Half a dozen waiters are ordered have helped to keep the dining or coffee room clean during the week.

So the proprietor piles up profit from this system of "trone," or charity and generosity customers. I have known waiters keeping account of what they have placed in the box during the week, reach a total of over £4, and have received from the head waiter the magnicent sum of £1 as the weekly share of the trone. Even in the height of the "London season" £3 per week from the box is considered by the waiters a large amount to receive from the trone, beside their miserable wages of 5s. to 15s. At Im ome places waiters have even to pay their Many hotel waiters have to be on duty at reakfast from 7 a.m. till 10 or 11 a.m. Then they lay tables, wash and comb up for luncheon The same fraud by agents is perpetrated on at 12.30 or 1 till 2.30, and are on duty for theatre suppers, etc., till 12 p.m. The day's work of a waiter in an hotel of at 7 a.m. He works till about 8.30 or 9 without food, then goes down to the staff hall, where the man in charge, called the "usher," dishes him up a staff breakfast. If he cares to give the "usher" a tip he will save him the most tasty morsel; if not, he has got to be content with what has been given him or go without. There is generally no remedy. The usher usually makes a nice little sum weekly and of these poor wage slaves of waiters. Half an hour is allowed for breakfast. Then the waiter goes to work till 12, when the staff hall is again visited for dinner, and after half an hour he goes back again to work till 2.30 or 3 p.m. Then, if it is not his turn on duty, he can go out into the fresh air. He comes back at 5 or 5.30. During the time off duty generally he has gone to get a good feed. Then he must wash and dress, to start work at 6 till 9 p.m. He does not wait for staff supper. If he is not on late duty he can now go and amuse himself till the

Every waiter has what is called a station, that This is repeated seven times per week, with

On Sundays there are no workmen's trains These waiters absolutely depend on these tips and no early trains. The catering worker who for their living, because the miserable wages "sleeps out," with his work a long way off, paid to them range only from 5s. to 15s. per generally has a nice long walk or cycle ride on week-barely covering their travelling and other Sunday mornings. He is already tired before he starts work.

"Can you send me half a dozen waiters at Agent: "Very good, sir. What are you Head waiter: "Oh, about three or four shiljust as one would order half a dozen plaice or

Yes, sir; how much will you pay for the

The agent then says: "I want six waiters, smart, for special banquet; good pay, plenty of tips. I want three shillings for the job.' So the agent pockets 18s. for nothing. The waiter has to "wait and see" the forthcoming of these "plenty of tips and good pay." At many restaurants in the West End, and more so in the City, the waiter has to do a

(Continued at foot of col. 1, p. 5.)

Warkers' Dreadnought Founded 1914. Editor: SYLVIA PANKHURST. * * *

All Matter for Publication - To THE EDITOR . Business Communications — To THE MANAGER. WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT, 152, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.4. SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Six months (26 weeks) ............ 3s. 3d. One year (52 weeks) ...... 6s. 6d. Subscriptions can start from any week.

Our View.

WE ADVISE comrades to go to the election meetings to ask the candidates "what they will ish the capitalist system."

The question and the answer, es- The Coming pecially if followed by pointed sup- League of plementary questions, will awaken at least some Nations War of the workers who flock to the election meetings to the futility of the whole business.

enable us to publish free literature.

grammes of all the parties.

THE LABOUR PARTY is valliantly declaring that it means to help agriculture, but its proposals still remain in the vague. Out comes the Tory Party with a Agriculture promise of a subsidy of £1 per acre on arable land to any farmer paying not less than 3os, a week to ablebodied adult workers. This vote-catching pledge will doubtless play its part in determining the result of the election. The Labour Party cannot condemn the Government proposal as unsound economics, since it has also been dallying with talk of State subsidies to employers of

With the Tories demanding State subsidies for private industry and agriculture, and the Labour Party seconding these demands, the outlook grows decidedly interesting, and an enormous inflation of the currency may be pre- else." dicted. Nevertheless it must be remembered that election promises often prove of fragile substance.

SIR J JAGADIS BOSE at University Col- The Fascist of his invention for recording the millionth part of a grain. The throbbing pulse on either side. that goes on behind the placid exterior of a tree can be ascertained, and the increase in assimilation caused by infinitesimal traces of certain substances can be detected. More astonish- Athanas Nikolev, the assassin of Daskaloff, Bul- Trade Union officials and partly manned by ing still, the plant, said the lecturer, can be used to turn on a light in the dark, or to turn it White Terrorit valia under Stambu'is i, Pre- Trade Union organisation has control of them.

off in the daylight. Telephotography, and tele-autography which re- Acquited produces actual handwriting and drawing, both by means of the telegraph wire and also by the murder of Stambuliski and the overthrow Being built territorially and mixed with purely wireless, are making great strides. Television, of his Government by the reaction. political organisations, they are not essentially the submarine and the miner working in the Pulunin was his ac omplice. Nevertheless a ma- arrive at our conclusion.

bowels of the earth will be kept in communication with their fellows on the surface.

has not discovered how to feed its members -at any rate in Switzerland. and keep them free from want.

The Growth force. The abolition is des- class and political prejudices alone account for of Dictatorship. cribed as a reprisal because this phenomenon. the Presidents of the Senate and the Chamber approached the King, asking him to convoke Parliament. The Spanish Directory announces that as the Parliament buildings are unlikely to be used again for a long period, Three months (13 weeks) ....... 1s. 71/2d. if ever, they will use them for whatever purpose they think fit.

Well might Mussolini, in the course of the ten days' celebrations of the anniversary of his assumption of power in Italy, declare to the Vol. X. No. 36. Saturday, Nov. 24th, 1923. Press that Parliamentary institutions are declining. The King and Queen of Italy took part in the Mussolini celebrations. Oh, these paternal royalties!

WE HAVE MANY TIMES PREDICTED that or can do in Parliament to abol- the next war would be a League of Nations war. To bring the people of Britain and the United States into the last war with any degree of heartiness it was necessary to call it a "War to End War." To produce the same enthusiasm We advise comrades to seil anti-Parliamentary a new veneer of idealism must be created to flogged to death in Rhodesia and Kenya, now and Free Communist literature outside all the mask the next war, and the pretext that the election meetings, and we invite donations to war is fought not in defence of British Capi- "British talism but in defence of the League of Nations Justice" We also advise comrades to hold meetings will be used next time. Viscount Grey of Fallo- and the of their own side by side with the candidates' den, one of the craftiest and guiltiest of diplo- Natives meetings to expose the futility of the pro- matists, in his speech at the Guildhall, Bath, has already announced the new war slogan:

> "Turning to foreign policy Lord Grey said very certainly, for a new war. He saw the tle or nothing to choose between them. time getting closer and closer. Unless the French Government could meet us, British public opinion would become so convinced that the interest of Great Britain was to keep outmight try and cut ourselves adrift from the suffer, but France would also suffer. There Federation was one policy in which alone he saw safety, of Trades and that was to continue to press what he Councils" called the policy of the League of Nations.

Hitler of the Bavarian Racial-National Commit- progressive ideas than the Trades Union Execulege the other night was demonstrating the work International ered through the arrest of Dr. tives have long become. The bureaucrats of the assimilation of plants. The appa- which the reaction is organising across the fron- the membership of the Trades Councils is par-Extremes ratus records the production of tiers. The agreement specifies the assistance in tially drawn from the rank and file who are still carbo-hydrate in the plant to the men, money, munitions, and food to be given in the workshops. Nevertheless the Trades Coun-that is to say actual vision at a distance by wire- Still more startling was the acquittal in Swit- bodies for action but for passing resolutions. less, is nearly and soon will be an accomplished zerland of Conradi and Pulunin, who murdered They will always prove impotent. fact, said M. Edouard Berlin in a paper read Vorowsky, the Soviet Government's delegate in The Workshop Councils are the key to the before the Royal Society of Arts on November Lausanne. The jury were not in doubt as to situation. the facts. They were unanimous in declaring When comrades have exhausted all the wrong Marconi says that before long the sailor in that Conradi committed the murler and that methods of organisation, they will eventually jority of the jury found the prisoners not guilty: it is an amazing contradiction and an invitation The marvels of science grow but still society to other reactionaries to do likewise without fear

Assassins

Switzerland has not passed through revolution and counter-revolution; Swiss order has not been disturbed. It is therefore the more THE SPANISH PARLIAMENT is now abol- remarkable that a Swiss jury should thus overished. The deed has been done by the Direct turn judicial precedent in order to protect a pair tory which took power by of reactionary assassins. The strongest possible

THE RUHR MAGNATES are presenting the world with a striking example of what patriotism means to Big Business. The Patriotism Ruhr industrialists have all sung: "Deutschland, Deutschland Uber Alles." They have all proclaimed their antagonism to the French. but now that business interests seem to call for commerce with France they have thrown themselves into it with zeal. They are now said to be bringing pressure to bear on the Berlin Government to open more railway lines to communicate with Lorraine and other parts of

The British authorities of course dislike this prospect, especially as these railways, under French control, would hem in the British Army

THE HORRIBLE REPORTS of natives being published, are a reminder of the hypocritical pretences of the late war that the good kind British capitalist desired to save the native races from German cruelty and of the Boer War pretences that the natives were to be saved from Boer cruelty. British hypocrisy is a by-word in Europe, but he wished to impress it clearly that things in as a matter of fact all the Governments of to-Europe were going from bad to worse, and day practice the vice of hypocrisy. The war prowere shaping, not perhaps immediately, but paganda of the various belligerents revealed lit-

THE ATTEMPT to form a "National Federaside this welter which was going on that we tion of Trades Councils," which has resulted in the holding of a "second an-Continent altogether. He thought we should The "National nual conference," in Birmingham, attended by less than a fourth of the Trades Councils, is symptomatic of the growing impatience with Trade Union ma-He hoped never to see this country involved chinery, which is developing amongst the in war again, but if ever it were he would workers. Unfortunately the attempt to build rather it were involved on behalf of the Cove- a new working-class movement through the nant of the League of Nations than anything Trades Councils is doomed to failure, for the very same reason that Trade Unionism fails to emancipate the workers.

The Trades Councils may seem more per-THE SECRET AGREEMENT between Herr meated with rank and file spirit, more open to tce and the Hungarian Racial- tives, because the Trades Councils are not the National Committee, discov- close corporations that the Trade Union Execu-Ulain, shows the manner in Trades Councils are but little bureaucrats, and cils, which are hardly distinguishable from the local Labour Parties, are part of the machinery of the Trade Unions and Parliamentary politi-THE PRAGUE ASSIZE COURT acquitted cal parties, and are almost invariably officered by garian Minister in Czec'10-Slo- them. In the long run the official Labour Party mier in the peasant Govern- Moreover the basis on which the Trades Counment. The murder of Daska- cils are built is not that which can take control loff took place shortly after of the industries and services of the community.

MR. MUSSOLINI'S STATEMENT to the settlers to arrive to-morrow, what should we do Italian Senate regarding the ex-Crown Prince with them?'

one on this question, and continued:

'The request for the banishment is a mis- H. C. Foreman said: take and simply means another deadlock. He ould not leave Germany without still further inplicating the situation."

In enumerating the aims of the Italian Govmment the dictator gave as his fifth point: "No intervention in Germany's internal affairs, but moral and material support for order in the Reich and places her on the path of financial reform."

nany. The hypocrites will protest, as Govern- League. power in Germany.

to the hilt to the Governments that will help cause it advocates a living wage. m to the throne.

stentatiously do to those of Russia.

The Emigration Scandal

Fred S. Spillman writes:-

Labour and Industry, will visit England in Janu- immigrants arrive here they get no considera- necessary as the work of the physician. ary. Farrar has not been elected to the Austion. If at any time I should advise anyone tralian House of Commons, but appointed to to come to Australia, it would be to those who the Upper House, a non-elective Chamber. Gen- can buy land and have experience of land work. erally speaking, the members of the Upper But as matters are at present, I could not give House are appointed in return for Party ser- that advice, because there is no land to be got

Mr. Farrar is a Labour Party renegade. He the Banks, have got hold of much of the best is bringing a staff with him to boom emigra- land. ion. Yet according to the official figures of Farrar's own Department there are nine thousand unemployed registered at the labour bureau. Add these to the non-unionists, and thousands of others who never register, twenty thousand unemployed would be a fair estimate for the State of New South Wales.

In some instances as many as 593 to 877 appli- tion! paper), stated in its leader that the men we most votes! producers from the land; but, says the paper, the ballot-box. not been made available. Under these circum- learn the only way?

(Continued from p. 3.)

catering trade workers can be seen on the rank pamphlet form.

of Germany is very interesting. The tragedy, comrades, is that shiploads of It seems to indicate that the immigrants are continually arriving, and after British and Italian Govern- spending what money they possess, they drift German Prince ments may be seeking to place to the soup kitchens and Salvation Army shelhim on the throne of Ger- ters, or sleep in Sydney Domain.

nany. He said that Britain and Italy are at At the annual meeting of the Central Methodist Mission, held in Sydney Town Hall, the Rev.

> "I conceive that there must be something wrong when men who have worn the King's to come for a free bed to a city night re-

Mr. Farrar, on the 24th of September, asked any German Government which re-establishes a number of Churches to send representatives to come to his office to discuss with them his nomination system. He urged them to nomin-Reading between the lines one sees that Bri- ate persons through their respective Churches ain and Italy will be disposed to cry "hands in England, to arrange emigration, and asked to France should France seek to prevent them to look after those immigrants they bring the re-establishment of the monarchy in Ger- out, in co-operation with the New Settlers'

ments do, that this is interfering in the affairs The New Settlers' League is a kind of Emof Germany. They, on the other hand, will pire League. Its officers meet immigrants and grant moral and material support to the ex- send them to farmers, who are the allies of Crown Prince in his efforts to obtain dominant the League, to jobs at £1 a week. The New usually means cleaning toilets, scrubbing floors, Settlers' League stands for child labour on farms, and taking care of stables or hauling offal of No doubt the Prince is pledging himself up cheap labour, and opposes trade unionism be- various kinds, is done by some of the most com-

One must expect monarchic Governments like ally advertising in the papers: "Farmhands and has to be done. There is no difficulty in getting the British and Italian to show sympathy with Labourers available waiting employment." Yet someone willing, but many of those who would the dethroned royalties of Germany as they the booklets issued by the immigration authori- do the work are tied up with other jobs quite ties declare there is work, at good wages, im- as important. There would be nothing gained mediately on arrival here.

In England the Empire League, Dreadnought loss of efficiency. Lads, Scouts, Salvation Army and others, acting So workers are appointed to do this. They with their friends here, and in conjunction with are not offered any inducements and they rethe Agents-General of Australia, and the staff of ceive no higher pay. Neither do they receive Australia House, are endeavouring to popularise less than other workers. In fact, pay has nothimmigration here. The officials concerned are ing to do with it. Such work is regarded as Mr. E. H. Farrar, Australian Minister for highly-paid for their activities, but when the sanitation work, which it is, and is entirely as on reasonable terms. The big corporations, with

CORRESPONDENCE.

A. B. Howie writes from Glasgow: "The Red Republicans are an enthusiastic band of workers, and do an immense amount of Official figures show that in nine months forty propaganda. I wish there were the same numblocks of land were made available for appli- ber of Communists with their fighting spirit. cants, and there were 4,889 applicants for them. What good work could be done for the revolucants applied for one block. The Sydney "Daily "The result of their campaign in votes, in-Telegraph" of August 2nd, 1923 (a capitalist dicates when we will get our emancipation by needed are those who can be turned into direct "It is a pity they do not see the fallacy of

"if we want men for the land, we must provide "If they would only go upon the straight road land for the men. This is where our present im- for economic power, leave the political field nigration system is fatally defective. . . . alone, the governors would always be trembling, Empty spaces yawn on every side, but they have not knowing their number. When will they stances, were a big draft of the most eligible "Bread for all, work for all, no mastershigh or low: Communism. Leave the Moderates and Labour Party to fight each other, patch up the rotten capitalist system, only expose them, lot of work besides waiting, such as cleaning and keep on the road towards Revolution—it is silver, sweeping carpets, cleaning mirrors and the only way! I have been asked by friends windows, polishing cruets, dusting chairs, etc. and comrades what is your policy. I tell them All this is shoved on to the waiter to save the to read the article 'Our Policy,' which appeared expense of a proper staff and to increase profits. in the 'Dreadnought' of September 1st. It In the City, just behind the Mansion House, would be a good idea to enlarge it and get it in waiting to be called to a job by any messenger "Your article 'What is Socialism?' in the from City restaurants in times of emergency. July 14th and 28th issues, would be very good word Communism to the front all the time. Even this is better than being bled by agents, for a pamphlet, but the name ought to be In the issue of October 20th, The Putty although one may stand (like a cab) on the rank 'What is Communism?'-leave the word Social- Users,' and 'The Wage Slaves Past and Prefor hours, cold and hungry in the winter, weary ism to the movements that have done it harm. sent,' October 7th, 1922, Comrades here have and thirsty in summer, and never get a call. I I notice the same mistake by Clara Cole in told me they would do good propaganda in have stood there with many others from 7 a.m. 'The Westminster Windmill' of June 30th pamphlet form. The articles 'Lessons for Protill 12.30, eagerly waiting for the job which and July 14th. It would make another good letarian Schools' should also be reproduced in pamphlet. Our motto ought to be keeping the book form."

Spice

A BUSINESS TRANSACTION. Herr Krupp Von Bolen has been released; but who expected anything else?

* * * *

SHAKING HANDS OVER THE WHITE

Mr. Lloyd George met Count Apponyi, one of the reactionary statesmen of Hungary, and uniform, and fought for their country, have promised to lecture there in the spring. He said: "During the Peace Conference we stood against each other as foes; now we can shake hands as friends and renew the traditional friendship of the two countries."

Is this also a business transaction?

FROM A CO-OPERATIVE COLONY.

Query: Who does the dirty work in the Colony? Is this penalty for failure to obey rules? Or is it more highly paid than other labour? Or is it performed by those who lack efficiency or skill?

Answer: The so-called "dirty work," which petent members of the Colony. They are asked Mr. Farrar's Labour Department is continu- to do the work-not forced to do it. The work in changing them, and there might be some Query: What incentive have members to stay in the Colony? If they cannot make wages, and if they cannot accumulate anything, and if there are some discomforts, what benefits do they receive that keeps them there?

Answer: Again we have the old question of incentive. If the parents were to keep books on the children, they would be appalled by the expense, and it would not take very long for them to decide that it is a losing proposition. Few parents ever get anything back from their children. Frequently the boy who has cost thousands of dollars in rearing and education is a total loss. He is worthless. He is lazy. He is a waster. He may even be worse. He may be a source of growing expense.

Yet parents take this risk, continue to rear families. There is an urge that they cannot explain. It is so in the Colony. There is an urge to build a community which offers more than other communities. There is the desire to achieve something, to make the Colony a success. The desire to make profits is soon lost sight of. The desire to accumulate is changed into a social concept. The Colony is a social accumulation, safer than individual save ings. The discomforts are lost sight of. Always man has willingly given up ease and plenty and voluntarily elected a life of privation, even danger, to carry out an ideal. The Llano colonists are idealists, very practical ones, yet with that vision which is given only to the idealist. This is the only explanation we can give of why people are willing to work as the colonists do. In the last analysis they are well off, in most respects better off, even materially, than most workers are, but the real reason is the satisfaction of spirit.—From the "Llano Colonist."

John Scurr's Defence

defence-I have nothing to defend and nothing is so far as that question is concerned. to attack."

deputation asked to be received: that deputation we believe we have reached a limit. . . . came in and it put its case. First of all, its case the Board, asking for certain increases in relief, and secondly, particular items, regarding individual cases, and the deputation put its case quite reasonably.

contrary to being able to increase any relief, the the burden of the others. Board had been compelled to reduce its estimates "I would not mind putting the rates up was force used. We went there at the invitation by £28,000, and a reduction in the scale of ten shillings in the pound or another twenty of one of the Guardians, Mr. George Lansbury, relief had to be made accordingly. The individual cases, he said, would be investigated.

"The Board adjourned.

colleagues. The information was brought up- have fallen on people who at the present time we go more often, he said; then the people the stairs that there was a dispute downstairs, and on are only earning 35s. to 5os. per week, and other end would know we were doing something.

that kind.

"Then the police arrived outside.

be given by any individual member of the Board. us. . . .

"Some time went on. he said we ought to authorise the entry of the to know if that is true.

that motion was never put, because before it chair and heard nothing at all, but the noise at be on the deputation. We appealed to George rould be put, and before any discussion could the doors downstairs. I know that Mrs. Scurr Lansbury and the rest to go out and stop the When in 1801 George Stephenson went to take place, two or three ran up from downstairs said, "There is no need of any batoning," and batoning. Which is worse, being locked in or saying: The police are already in, and we could the inspector assured us that no one would be calling the police in? hear the knocking on the doors downstairs.

"So far as I am concerned, and so far as the Party are concerned, there was never any written authorisation. "There was a written authorisation given by an individual. [Cries of "Name."] That is not from Poplar or Bow and Bromley. (A number Question.—I should like to ask Mr. Scurr if At the Dolly Pit Stephenson's wages had George, who was growing famous as an engine my business; if you ask me if I did it, I tell of voices: "Then I will put the question.") it was a coincidence that the hose-pipes and one

Now then, that happens to be the actual facts of the whole case, without trying to reprewho were there will know this is so.

"I did not see what was happening downstairs. I don't know. I did not go down this; I only know what trans- Another Questioner. I have to disagree, as us in for a week, and not one night," we asked pired in the Board Room in front of me, and I you said you knew the man, but would mention him for rations, and he said "You will have have said what happened there. I only want to no name. say this, however: that when force is used for Answer. If I said that, I was wrong. I have come to us a week or two beforehand and exa certain specific purpose, by whoever it is used, heard plenty of remarks, and even names men- plained that a reduction had to take place, if must be accepted that people are going to re- tioned, and if I knew who it was I would tell this event might not have happened.

"I think most of you have known me through- he would do so again on another occasion.

Under the auspices of the Unemployed Work- concerned, I have always been opposed to the on himself he stands by what he said. That ers' Organisation, Mr. John Scurr, ex-Mayor of use of force under any circumstances or condi- Mr. Watts will of course himself justify. Poplar, addressed a meeting of the Unemployed tions, and I still am. I believe in arguing out a in Poplar Town Hall on Tuesday, 13th inst. question; I believe in discussing questions. I The Chairman, Father Groser (St. Michael's don't think I am such a wonderful person that Church) said he wanted them to listen to Mr. everything I say or do is right, neither do I Scurr carefully and not interrupt, because that think that with other people everything they say afternoon they were going to try to get at the or do is right, but it is by discussion between us has always been opposed to force. Seeing he truth, and if they acted fair and square they that we are able to arrive at working agreements or at a course of action which is beneficial to Mr. Scurr said: "I noticed outside that this the mass. But at the same time, whenever you meeting is announced as John Scurr on his deget the exercise of force, it will always be opfence. Well, I am not here on any question of posed by force-force begets force. Now that

"Now, I suppose the thing that is passing in things. I hold, as I always have held, that there were three J.P.'s and a clerical genyour minds is the thing that has been passing assistance which is given to the unemployed man tleman there? through a great many minds, that is, what hap- and the unemployed woman should not be a Answer. So far as they are concerned, I can pened a month or two back when the demon- charge on a locality at all; it should be a only speak for one who raised her voice all the stration took place at the Board of Guardians. national charge, it should be in every sense of time. (Voices: "When it was too late.") I There have been a good many people having a the word a national obligation. A place like want to say that the Party, as a Party, did not considerable amount to say concerning that, and this cannot afford to undertake the responsitions take charge, there is no stopping be perpetual. Stephenson often lamented the copper wire he had bought at a brazier's shop they have also been very careful to throw a large bility of the proper and complete maintenance of the building. On the question of force being number of bricks at various individuals. We those who are in need of it. It is absolutely authorised, after the motion was moved an will go over the incidents as they happened. A impossible. There are limits to everything, and seconded, and before it could be discussed, they concerned what I might call the general policy of have been much too quiet. I want you to or- the doors. Someone had authorised their enganise, and without going into any of your try. differences at all-I don't want to tread on any Question.-I should like to know why the ground which it is not my province to tread on Rev. Langton, as a minister of the Church, did -we cannot (just the same as the Poplar Board not stop the batoning of a man named Robin-The Chairman of the Board replied to the of Guardians cannot) take the responsibility of son, instead of saying it served him right? deputation that the question regarding general the maintenance of the whole of the unemployed, Answer.—You must ask Mr. Langton himself policy could not be entertained by the Board, as if in any individual district the unemployed carry that question.

shillings in the pound if the whole burden fell to use that force. When the Board of Guaron the manufacturers, but if we had kept the dians were locked in on the previous occasion, rates up and not reduced them by 71d. in the Mr. Lansbury said it was silly to lock them in 'I was sitting talking to one or two of my pound by effecting a saving of £28,000, it would for a little while and let them go. Why didn't inquiry it was found that the doors, etc., were putting from 3d. to 7d. on their rates was more I think myself we were there at the invitation than they could bear. Therefore we went very of Mr. George Lansbury. "Certain discussion took place between those carefully into the whole scale; we spent a very Answer.—It is no good putting questions to who came to represent you and members of the large number of hours over it, considering it me regarding individuals. Board of Guardians-sometimes the discussion from every point of view; and speaking for Question. You say you were upstairs and was heated—as it would be in circumstances of every man that sat on that Committee, it would saw and heard nothing. Do you mean to tell not have been possible not to reduce the scale. me that you did not hear the moaning and no one could interfere. You know what the scale is, and I think if you screaming down below? "The question was bandied about all over the examine it, you will see you would have been Answer. All I heard was the breaking of the working for low wages. What about the salarplace as to whether the police would enter the faced with the same problem yourselves, I don't doors downstairs. When I came down I was les paid to the Trade Union officials, of which building. It was said they would not enter the think you would have one very differently your- very much astonished to see the forms on the building without a written authority, which could selves. Now that is the whole position between staircase, as I had heard very little noise.

Question.—A lot of talk is going about that been prominent in the Labour movement. tired of sitting there and wanted to go home, dians could have stopped the batoning of the tion of rates, and the subject of clothing?

Answer (all answers are by Scurr).-The only we had to reduce the scale. "There was no discussion on that motion; thing I can tell you is that I was sitting in the Mrs. Parker.—I live in Bow and happened to us on what authority the police entered the be blind.") I said to the lady that I didn't building—who gave them the authority?

Answer.—I am only going to answer questions see everything.

and Bromley for eighteen months. Answer.—I understand that the questioner does Answer.—I know nothing of hose-pipes. sent either one side or another. Those of you live in Bow and Bromley. The question is, who Voice. I am going to say here and now I am I all Sunday in his pocket and kept taking them of which High Pit was one, at a salary of £100 gave the police authority to enter the building? blaming George Lansbury for the batoning. but to exclaim what a good job he had made a year. A pony was placed at his disposal, that sist by force as well. I want to be quite clear you quite frankly, but not knowing, I say NO. Question.—Is it not a fact that the cause of lenged him to leap from one high wall to to draw plans and sections.

out most of my public life, and so far as I am Answer.—If Mr. Watts took any responsibility Answer.—No. It was not brought about at Question.-I should like to ask who was the mover of the resolution?

Answer.-It was moved by Mr. Watts, and ken away from the N.U.W.C.M.? seconded by Mrs. Scurr.

Question.—The speaker said in his remarks he batoning of the men?

The only power a J.P. has in London is to sign vaccination certificates.

Question.—Has all sense of humanity vanished "I go on a bit further with regard to other from the Labour and Socialist Party, seeing troved, and the banner?

came running up from downstairs saying the which they were able to maintain until 1923, find that it was already known to others. "I think the unemployed a'll over the country police were in, and we could hear the police on

Questioner.—He has put it to you that there

Question.—You say for thirty years you have

"At last a member of the Party said he was Mr. Scurr and two or three more of the Guar- should like to ask your opinion on the reducand if the only way was to have the police in men at North Street that night. I should like Answer.—We went as far as we could go with the limited amount at our disposal, and see her, but she might have done so. I didn't o particular night?

to fill up forms for the rations." If you had From childhood he had been fond of athletic would think he had grown proud.

Questioner.—Mr. Watts said it was he, and the reduction in relief was pressure from the Ratepayers' Association?

uld not afford it.

doors. Is it possible that he has confused the son easily proved the victor. guineas. Gold being then more costly than its atoning on the skulls of the men with the anging of the doors?

ken away till afterwards.

Answer.-No. I have no power of the kind. I in relief resulted from the batoning incident? to earn more money. Answer.-No. It was already decided, and nade no difference.

Answer,—I don't know anything about it at constructed a wooden wheel, the periphery of study, and bring away descriptions and drawings I thought it was broken up in the scrim-

Question.—You had the option of stopping rotated, the quick-silver poured itself down ing electricity, Robert put his reading to the tell us what pressure is being brought to bear on them to cause a deviation from that policy? Answer.—The pressure comes from people out- mother died of consumption. side who are earning such miserable wages that they are unable to pay any more in rates.

the police have orders to come in, and entry is see the man who was batoned down in the boardoom or outside the door, and I believe if Mr. to admit that he knew the police were batoning down the unemployed, and that he would have debts enough influence to go outside and stop the Answer.—I have only to say what I said in my speech. My wife asked and appealed to the inspector when he came that there should be no were up in the boardroom, not downstairs, and Question.—You have been speaking of people the Labour Party consists?

Answer.—The question of the salaries of Trade nion officials, secretaries, etc., concerns them

Lessons for Young Proletarians

GEORGE STEPHENSON.—II.

Callerton to become brakesman at the Oolly Pit, he took lodgings at a small farm and local engineers.

all by the Ratepayers' Association. We had another with a deep gap eleven feet wide be- Stephenson determined that his boy, Robert, put 72d. on; and we felt that the householders tween. To his dismay George accepted the should have the educational advantages he lacked, challenge and leapt without fear, though the feat and as he had now to keep his parents, and the Question.—In answering a question relative might have cost him his life. Stephenson was cost of living continued excessive, he fell back to the batoning of the men in the Hall, Mr. never a fighter, but when challenged by a notorion his old habit of spare-time work at shoe Scurr said he only heard the banging on the ous bully and pugilist on one occasion, Stephen- making and so on. In this way he saved 100

After working at Callerton two years Stephen- face value in silver, he sold his guineas for a6 son was engaged to take charge of the engine shillings apiece to the Jews who went about buy-Question.—Was the batoning the outcome of at Willington Ballast Hill, about six miles from ing gold coins. The proceeds Stephenson lent the Communist movement, because we had bro- Newcastle-on-Tyne. The ballast was thrown out out at interest. He had learnt from his masof the ship's holds into wagons which were ters that money-lending is more profitable than Answer.—No. I didn't know you had bro- drawn up to the summit of the Ballast Hill, the most highly-skilled labour. where their contents were emptied on to the hill When Robert was twelve his father sent him Question.—Seeing that there are members and of ballast. In the evenings after the day's work to Mr. Bruce's school, in Percy Street, Newwas a J.P., was it in his power to prevent the non-members of the Unemployed Organisation with the engine was done, George used to go castle, riding on a donkey, and wearing a homely in this hall, I should like to ask if the reduction to cast ballast out of the ship's holds in order grey suit cut out by his father.

During this time, in spite of his many labours, ert used to visit the library of the Literary George was trying his hand at original inven- and Philosophical Institute and bring books home Question.—By whose order was the band des- tions. Amongst other things he tried to dis- to his father; but the most valuable books could cover a means of securing perpetual motion. He not be removed, so the boy had to read and which was furnished with glass tubes made by himself for his father's information. filled with quick-silver; as the wheel Once when Robert and his father were studyinto the lower tubes, to keep up a self- test by giving electric shocks to farmer Wig-Answer.-No. Once the police or military acting motion. The motion did not prove to ham's cows, by means of a kite, half a mile of time he had been obliged to waste for lack in Newcastle, and a few feet of silk cord. Mummery.—Seeing that Labour took over of access to books. Often he thought he had Stephenson was at that time living in a one-

Question .- Mr. Scurr has stated that when ing of one of Boulton and Watt's engines. which moved its arms with the wind. rred, they have no option but to draw their he tramped on foot to Montrose. Whilst there of the watchman who called the pitmen in the truncheons and force an entry. They never asked he introduced a simple, but effective, invention, morning. He made the baby's cradles self-rockthe unemployed to let them in, but simply got which added to the efficiency of the engine and ing by connecting them with the smoke-jack. athority from someone and smashed their way minimised wear and tear. Having saved £28 He contrived a lamp that would burn under Mr. Scurr could not be so blind as not to whilst working at Montrose, he tramped back to water, and by immersing it in the fishpond his home. On arrival he found that his father at night, caught quantities of fish which rushed had been seriously scalded by steam at his work, towards the flame. Scurr wants to be honest himself, he has got and had thereby lost his eyesight. George was During Robert's school holidays George insisted obliged to provide £15 to meet his father's that they should make a sun-dial, and with the George now got work as brakesman at West- it, though their knowledge of mathematics and more Pit. Britain was at war, and Lord Castle- astronomy was put to a hard test thereby. reagh had carried a Militia Act, under which During this period Stephenson made a wind-George Stephenson was drawn, either to be a ing engine to draw coals out of the High Pit, soldier, or to find a substitute. To furnish a a pumping engine for Long Benton colliery, and batoning. (Voice: "It was all over then.") We substitute he was obliged to pay away all that a self-acting incline, by which the full coal wagwas left of his savings, as well as to borrow £6. gons descending drew the empty wagons up the > exceedingly keen. Stephenson's sister Ann emi- of the colliery to see where improvements could grated to Australia with her husband; and George be effected by substituting machinery for horse would have gone to, but failed to raise the need- and man power. He soon reduced the number ful money. Thus hard was the struggle of a of horses required for one pit from too to 15. workman who helped to make the fortunes of Already George Stephenson was busying himmany rich men. In later life he told a friend: self with the locomotive engine. "You know the road from my house at the Westmore Pit to Killingworth. I remember once when I went along that road I wept bitterly, for I knew not where my lot in life would be

In 1808 Stephenson introduced an improvement into the winding apparatus at West Moor Pit, and in 1810 put to rights a new pumping engine at Killingworth, which had baffled all the Answer.—1 didn't see you asking George became engaged to the servant there, Fanny George took the engine to pieces, and made of artistic and moral values. Question (Soderberg).—Can Mr. Scarr inform Lansbury to go out. (Voices: "Then you must I Henderson. In 1802 he married and set up a number of alterations in it. He was com- With "I.L.P. Socialism" and British "stanuse-keeping at Willington Quay, where he pletely successful, and was paid £10 for his dards of taste and morals," what are we coming occupied one room in a small two-storied cot- work-a grossly inadequate sum in view of the to? value of the work to his employer.

mounted to £1 15s. to £2 per week. To prepare doctor, was now appointed engineman at High Soderberg.—I have been a resident of Bow or two other things should be missing on that a home for his marriage, he earned money by Pit during the sinking of the pit, which lasted making and mending shoes. When he got his a year. In 1812 he was made chief engineweetheart's shoes to mend he carried them about wright to the collieries of the "Grand Allies," When George Lansbury said "You want to lock of them. He also took to mending clocks and he might ride from colliery to colliery about his ven cut out the pitmen's clothes. "Geordie work. Later on, when he was given an old Meevie's cut" was famous long after his death. gig, he was shy of using it, fearing that people ports and excelled at throwing hammers, lifting During this period Stephenson worked at Weights, leaping and running: he learnt to ride arithmetic in his spare time, with the aid of the old pit horses. One day a workmate chal- John Wigham, a farmer's son, who taught him

Father and son now studied together. Rob-power in Poplar in 1919, and laid down a policy invented something by laborious effort, only to roomed cottage; but he gradually added to it, and built with his own hands three other rooms. On Cctober 16th, 1803, George Stephenson's This cottage was a curiosity shop of models and son, Robert, was born, and in 1804 the boy's contrivances. The garden door was fastened by an ingenious mechanism that no one but Ste-Shortly afterwards George was asked to go to phenson could undo. In the garden, of whose Montrose, in Scotland, to superintend the work- vegetables he was very proud, was a scarecrow

Leaving his boy in the care of a neighbour, Stephenson attached an alarum to the clock assistance of Ferguson's Astronomy, they did

Prices were high and the struggle for existence slope. Stephenson was asked by the manager

(To be continued.)

THE VAGARIES OF AN INTERNATIONALIST.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, at a film luncheon at the Hotel Victoria, was a fellow orator of the Prince of Wales. Mr. MacDonald said one. reason why he had not been a greater patron of the film was that he was "sick and tired" of the foreign film. He wanted to know why films shown here should not reflect our own standards

AUTHOR versus DEALER.

* * * *

Conrad manuscripts realised £22,000 in a New York sale-room the other day, but who got the money—author or dealer?

* * * * HEARD IN THE BUS.

"Are you going to vote? No I ain't going to vote: voting never did you any good: Government never did you any good: they'd take the blood from y'r 'eart!"

"The Dreadnought" may be obtained from Oliver Morgan, 22, Main Street, Sirhowy, for Tredegar and district.

The Same Old Game

Free Trade versus Protection. Your grandfathers were gulled into believing that that fight was their fight, fellow workers.

But you ought to have learnt better, the more so as all the political parties, even the Labour Party, will accept Protection under the name of Colonial Preference, because the Imperial Conference has voted for it.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald at the film dinner was showing which way the wind will blow, if and suppose he gets into power. He said he doesn't go to the pictures very often because he is "sick and tired" of foreign films and wants them British made.

Take that with a grain of salt, fellow worker; would you go to the picture house if you had £3 a week and a good deal more beside? Not likely, fellow worker; you would develop a taste for the theatre and the promenade concerts under the baton of Sir Henry Wood.

The election is a farce as far as you are concerned, fellow workers; though it is a very serious business for the professional politicians.

"The same old L.G." said the poster of a Sunday newspaper; yes, yes, fellow workers, the same old L.G., the same old weather-cock; the same old company of mountebanks, with hardly a new recruit to vary the monotony: Austin with the eye-glass, though he is not quite an insider, he will be soon; Winston with the lisp and the pose; Asquith with the wife; and all the rest; Baldwin with the pipe is the newest of the lot, and a pallid puppet he is without even the usual dash of colour. Old Omar might have said the potter had produced him during a spasm of national, or shall we say political, economy.

But let us not talk in riddles: plain language is the duty of the Searchlight.

A newspaper poster shows the Welsh Wizard setting forth, as it says, on "THE GREAT CAMPAIGN."

The great campaign—for what?

Why, to get into power of course; but they describe the campaign otherwise.

The Unemployed have starved and suffered through the months that have grown into years, and now the politicians are making a stunt of them.

Baldwin declares he is going to bring in Protection to help them: the Liberals are going to help them with Free Trade. It was a Liberal Government, by the way, which put on a number of existing duties usually called after an ex-Liberal, the McKenna duties.

The Labour Party is going to help the unemployed by providing work or maintenance; but the maintenance is not to be at Trade Union rates, because Mr. MacDonald has said that is impossible.

The Labour Party is also promising the Capital Levy, which it declares will help the small income-tax payer and please the "rank and file bankers."

All the parties promise to help you, fellow workers, whether you are employed, or unemployed; but the promises to you are vague and general. There is nothing definite about them.

The promises to the employers on the other hand are concrete. The Tories say to the manufacturer: Your profits shall be secured by a protective import duty.

The Labour Party says to the manufacturer: We shall give you a State subsidy to develop your industry.

The Labour Party says to the farmer: We shall give you State credit facilities. It sounds a bit vague.

The Tories reply by offering the farmer what the Labour Party offered to the manufacturer—a State subsidy, in this case £1 an acre.

Why are the promises to the workers vague and flimsy whilst the promises to the employers are concrete and definite?

Because the Capitalist System is an employer's system; therefore the employers can be helped without doing violence to the system.

The workers cannot be helped effectively without overturning the capitalist system.

That will only be done by the workers themselves.

When you set up the Workers' Council to take control of production, distribution and transport, you will be masters of the situation, fellow workers.

Free Communism alone can get the workers out of the present mess.

THE SEARCHLIGHT.

Read EIRE The Irish Nation

Weekly Review of Irish Republican Opinion

PRICE TWOPENCE

On Sale Saturdays

ENGINEER, married, experienced in I. C., Steam and General Machine Repairs, seeks employment or will undertake auto or mechanical repairs; 17 years experience States and Canada; 2 years proprietor of machine-equipped garage; estimates on reconditioning.—

Box 76.

THE RED COTTAGE.

Woodford Wells.

For Outings and Week-ends.

Parties catered for.

126 Woodford High Road.

'Buses 34, 40a, 10a pass the door.

Opposite "Horse and Well."

BROMLEY PUBLIC HALL, 29th NOVEMBER, 2.30—4.

The Inauguration of the Women's Section of the Unemployed Warkers' Organisation. All Ticket Holders are asked to be present.

THE "ONE BIG UNION BULLETIN"

(Canada's Foremost Labour Paper).

The One Big Union seeks to organise the workers on class lines. Read about it.

Eugene Sue's marvellous story: "The Mysteries of the People," or "History of a Proletarian Family Across the Ages," now running in serial form. 10/- per year; 5/- six months.

Plebs Buildings, 54 Adelaide Street, Winnipeg, Canada.

FOR SALE.—Bound Volume of "The Common-weal," No. 4, 1888, Official Journal of the Socialist League, edited by William Morris. Very rare. Good condition. What offers?—Box 76.

HEAD READING, by an expert phrenologist.—
Proceeds to "Workers' Dreadnought."— Apply, H., Box 20.

THE "GERMINAL CIRCLE." 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C.4.

The "Germinal Circle" exists to assist in promoting the expression of modern ideas and aspirations through the medium of the arts.

To the Secretary, "Germinal Circle."

I wish to join the "Germinal Circle," and enclose one shilling to cover the annual subscription.

ASK for No 2. at your Newsagent.

A Complete
play by Toller Stories
by Marsder, Gorky, Grant,
and others.

32 Pages—Sixpence

COMMUNIST WORKERS' MOVEMENT, meetings to explain the policy of this movement, can be arranged on application to the Secretary, 152, Fleet Street, E.C.4.

W. McCARTNEY, 26, Pasley Road, Manor Place, Walworth Road, S.E. 17, is starting a group of the Communist Workers' Movement, Those desirous of joining should communicate with him.

SYLVIA PANKHURST is booking provincial lecturing engagements.—Apply for dates to "Dreadnought" office, 152, Fleet Street.

To get the address of a good DENTIST apply to the undersigned, who discovered him through the "Dreadnought," and wants to pass on his discovery to other comrades, You will all need a dentist SOME DAY, so write a postcard NOW to R. Scott, Wayside, Capel, Surrey.

FOR SALE. — Engineer's Taper Guage, £1; Radius Guage, 7s. 6d. (Starrett's). Proceeds for "Dreadnought" Fund.

WANTED.—Second-hand copies: "How the War Came," by Lord Loreburn; "Economics for the General Reader" (Clay); "Brass Check" (Upton Sinclair), cheap edition; "Ancient Lowly" (Osborn Ward).

THE SECOND MONTHLY MEETING

of the

GERMINAL CIRCLE

Will be held on NOV. 28th, 1923, from 7 to 11 p.m. in the Ashburton Restaurant, 28, Red Lion Square, W.C.

EXHIBITION OF DRAWINGS by E. GONDOR and F. S. MANNER, and Poetry Recital.

Tickets . . . Sixpence.

To the readers of

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

All you have to do is to cut this coupon out and write your name and address in ink and send it to the "Workers' Dreadnought" Office, 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C.4., when you get 24 coupons.

Name:

Address:

WATCH THE "DREADNOUGHT"

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

A blue mark in this space indicates that your subscription is now due.

The high cost of production of the paper necessitates prompt payment.

Published by E. Sylvia Pankhurst, at 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C. 4, and printed by the Agenda Press, Ltd. (T.U.), at 10, Wine Office Court, London, E.C. 4.