Morkers & Dreadnought FOR THE ABOLITION OF WAGEDOM.

Vol. X. No. 37.

December 1, 1923.

WEEKLY.

What Are You Working For?

By TOM MANN.

(Answers appearing under this title commit only the writer, and are not necessarily in agreement with the Editorial policy.)

I have pleasure in replying to your query as to the "sort of society for which I am working."

In my speeches I am often saying: I am striving for conditions where we shall produce with the highest efficiency and distribute the products with the truest equity.

This fairly expresses what I am after, and it involves relatively perfect organisation of all forms of work, as I consider we should require to consume largely and therefore to produce largely.

This necessitates supervision and direction of industry, in order that the required percentage of the population shall be engaged in the various occupations, to admit of a sufficiency of production in all departments, on a basis of similar

The standard could be, and should be, very high compared to present standards; because it would be a gain individually and collectively to apply the most perfect methods, and to be continually searching for, and applying, still more efficient methods. Individual and sectional ownership of the means of production would yield to communal ownership. With no vested interests to prevent the application of the highest form of production, I conclude the hours of work and the working period per year, and per life, would be subjected to repeated curtail-ments.

I consider that by the time we had a year or two to organise and thoroughly equip ourselves in scientific production, during the working period of the year not much more than twenty hours a week would be required, and this for only some two-thirds of the year. I think it probable that on reaching fifty or fifty-five years of age retirement from productive work for upkeep would be general, and no one would have a lower standard of retirement than that they had experienced when fully participating in the hey-day of full vigour.

The organisation of industry would devolve upon the ordinary citizens working always for the common good to provide general requirements, as would be shewn by the statistical departments.

How far work should be directed from a centre would be decided by experience. Agricultural communal areas would, I imagine, work under perfectly free conditions, always providing the respective areas for the various crops were under central control.

Something corresponding to the Legislative Institution would doubtless be necessary, and yet so different to that we are familiar with as to be most unlike. The industrial administrative departments would naturally be of the greatest importance, but as the basis of all activity would be genuinely CO-OPERATIVE, there could be no conditions analogous to those we are for ever hampered by where exploitation prevails.

Parliament, if it continued to exist, would grow of less and less importance, industrial regulation would be systematised to the full, and education would soon come to occupy its rightful position; included in one's education before and after reaching the adult stage, would be TRAVEL FOR ALL, under leisurely conditions of easy affluence.

Such a condition of Society would in my opinion be communistic, and therefore I am a Communist.

The dominating idea would be to enable mind to increasingly triumph over matter, to develop man's powers increasingly, and finding and receiving the greatest honour by being of the greatest real service to the community.

We Shall be Free

By ERNEST JONES.

Base oppressors, leave your slumbers,
Listen to a nation's cry;
Hark, united, countless numbers
Swell the peal of agony.
Lo, from Britain's sons and daughters,
In the depths of misery,
Like the sound of many waters,
Comes the voice, "We shall be free!"

Winds and waves the tidings carry;
Spirits, in your stormy car,
Winged with lightning, do not tarry,
Spread the news to lands afar.
Tell them, sound the thrilling story
Louder than the thunder, go,
That a people, ripe for glory,
Are determined to be free.

By our own, our children's charter,
By the fire within our viens,
By each truth-uttering martyr,
By their sighs, their groans, their pains,
By our right by nature given,
By our love of liberty,
We proclaim before high heaven
That we must, we shall, be free.

Tyrants quail, the dawn is breaking,
Dawn of Freedom's glorious day;
Despots on their thrones are quaking,
Tyrants' bands are giving way.
Kingcraft, priestcraft, black oppression
Cannot bear our scrutiny;
We have learnt the startling lesson,
That we must, we shall, be free!

Soviets or Parliament?

Soviet is a Russian word: it means Council.
In practice Soviet has come to mean Workshop Council.

The Parliamentary Government of this country includes:

The King.

The King's Privy Council.

The Prime Minister.

The Cabinet—chosen by the Prime Minister.

The Government Departments—War Office, Admiralty, Foreign Office, Post Office, etc.

The House of Commons

The House of Lords, as a Legislative Assembly and as a Court of Law.

The various Courts of Law, Police Courts, etc.

The Local Governing Bodies, including County, Town, Borough and Parish Councils, Boards of Guardians, etc.

It is a complicated system. It is only partially a representative system.

The people have no voice in electing the King, Privy Council, Prime Minister, Cabinet, Officials of Government Departments, including Army and Navy, House of Lords, Judges and SPECIAL FOR THE ELECTION!

"Christianism or Communism" will be sold at

FOUR COPIES FOR A SHILLING During the Election Period

Apply—

"WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT," 152, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

other officials of Courts of Law, Police Courts,

The people have some share in electing the House of Commons and the Local Bodies, County Town, Borough and Parish Councils, Boards of Guardians, etc. The Local Bodies are merely administrative and work under the regulations of Government departments.

Although there are so many branches and departments of Parliamentary Government the main business of the community—the production, distribution and transport of the necessities of life—is not done by the Government, but by private persons. The Government is merely a costly, cumbrous and inefficient expedient for protecting private property and for regulating and inspecting the work of the private firms which supply the needs of the community.

The most important Government appointments are made either by the King or in conjunction with the King, behind closed doors.

The elected persons in the Parliamentary governing system possess only an indirect power which cannot be constantly exercised.

The electors have only an indirect and very remote power over the elected persons, which can be exercised, if at all, only at election times. It is impossible for the electors to give instructions to the elected persons or to enforce the carrying out of instructions.

If Parliament were to take over the industries the House of Commons could neither administer them, nor represent them.

A Member of Parliament elected to represent a constituency of say 20,000 people, cannot have a knowledge of all the industries practiced by his constituents. In attempting to represent the needs of any industry the most he could do would be to read a paper provided by the workers in the industry to the other Members of Parliament, most of whom at least would know her day's takings at night or at the end of

Go look at the great glittering, brilliant win-

At many places the employer, in order to ob-waitress as small a wage as possible (sometimes

"We are highly delighted, and appreciate the 'good work' of the L.C.C., and in future

Upon the case of the prisoners convicted in Centralia, whose sentences run from 25 to 40 years, the convention emphatically resolved:

all other power and resources to secure the release of the victims of the Centralia conspiracy, and further pledge ourselves to get the facts of their case before the world, so that the hideous injustice can be righted and the real criminals

November 7th, commenting upon the permanent injunction issued by Judge Busick, of the Cali-

The Agricultural Workers' Union Bulletin, of

"The I.W.W. is only the starting point from which the judiciary in California will move forward to the suppression of all Labour organisations, A.F. of L. and independent, craft and industrial unions. Indeed, combinations of working people that might engage in demanding outright social changes, as, for in-

We pledge ourselves to use our economic and we shall obtain our waitresses from this train-as little about the rights and wrongs of the An Adventurous and Eventbusiness as himself.

The Soviet or Workshop Council system is built on industrial lines. It is built for the administration of production, distribution and transport by a community of co-workers for a community of co-workers.

The rank and file workers in the workshops are the basis of the Workers' Council system. The councils are linked together on the lines of community need, industrial efficiency and practical utility. A workshop delegate sent to another workshop or to meet a group of delegates from many workers, could be instructed in detail by his co-workers and could report to them what he had done. He could represent them both by the completeness of his instructions and by his knowledge of their conditions, as no member of Parliament could represent his constituents.

The Workers' Councils could administer with industry and efficiency born of intimate knowledge, and with a freedom from officialdom and coercion which no Parliament could achieve. We are anti-Parliamenturians, cils must replace Parliament.

Because we believe that the Workers' Councils must be built from the outside independently of Parliament.

Because we believe that participation in Parliamentary elections turns the attention of the people to Parliament which will never emancipate them, away from the workshops where they should build the workers' councils.

is in effect to say that the workers can be eman- Kisans. The secret of his success lay in his and abroad. cipated through Parliament and only through freely and cordially sharing their wild merri-Parliament.

tory of our own time, and observe that in the language and customs, and in the uncommon Moulvie-a learned Mohammedan scholar and majority of the great constitutional upheavals hardships and privations which he disinterestedly teacher. that have taken place the Army and Navy have suffered for the furtherance of their cause. He Vedant-the monistic philosophy of the Hindus. ment which happened to be in power at the two years. During the greater part of this - God, and everything.

Unemployed Workers Organisation.

governing boards, the U.W.O., upon its ir ception, retire into the jungle and play rustic games till Swadeshi-literally, of one's own country; hence definitely stated that it was an anti-Parliamentary midnight, when the companions retraced their Indian, and Indian-made.

organisation.

and has refused to take any active part in the before the visitant had dragged him a couple of Patels-village officials of a certain rank. Election, notwithstanding the fact that our help steps that Pathik awoke and taught the intruder has been solicited by the various so-called revo- a fatal lesson with his unerring revolver. On lutionary parties.

capitalistic institution made for the preservation into a sugar-cane field and lived there for two of Capitalism, and that it is folly to think it rainy months, with a drizzling canopy of straw possible to administer Socialism with an instru- overhead and a coped cot without any beading ment or a machine primarily made for the use underneath. The simple village women would of Capitalism. We refrain from taking any action in the couple of days than be detected by the officials Election.

on Thursday last.

organising committee was set up.

men an organisation numbering over a thousand the prison, and returned after cheering the fiftyhad come into being in a few months, and still seven leading Kisans of Bijolia who were waverthe U.W.O. is growing.

This alone speaks volumes for the U.W.O. throughout Poplar by the U.W.O., and in spite weapon in the hands of a subject people. The of the Election fever we still manage to get destructive side of Pathik's programme included new members.

(Continued on page 3, column three.)

ful Life

(The following account of the life of Mr. B. S. held for trial by the British Government, co-operative shops. will interest our readers.)

(See glossary at foot of article.)

B. S. Pathik received what education he has at home at the hands of a pandit and a Moulvie. He left home for good at the age of fourteen and wandered to distant places, now reading Vedant with a Sanyasi, and then learning athletics with some Pahalwan.

He lived with a Rajput landlord of Ajmer Merwara for several years in the first half of the last decade. During that period he contributed to Rajput papers and composed poems in Hindi. He also completed his training in arms there. He was later on disgusted with the plans of Rajput supremacy, then being hatched, and proceeded to Mewar in 1914. Here he tried Because we believe that the machinery of to bring about reforms among the Jagirdars by Parliamentary Government is ursuited to means of persuasion, and devoted two years to Communism and that the Workers' Coun- the task. He founded the Vidya Pracharini Sabha at Chittorgarh, and later on at Bijolia of the Mewar Kisans and the remnants of an- and during the four years of struggle no more cient bravery in them, he took up their cause than ten civil suits were filed in the Jaghir in 1917. He is perhaps the first man in India courts. Criminal complaints were even less. to apply Non-co-operation on a popular scale. Obscene songs became a matter of the past, and Thus he soon made the Bijolia officials his ene- there was considerable decrease in extravagance mies. They fixed a price for his arrest, and child marriages.

We look at history, and especially at the his- frugal fare in his intimate knowledge of their of learning. period he passed his days, shut up in friendly Pahalwan—an athlete (literally, the first; hence houses, and his nights in dark caves or lonely the strongert). for his followers, draft petitions on their be- triva caste. half and give instructions to the chief among Sepoy—an Indian soldier. Realising the futility of Parliament and local from his retreat with a few well-chosen youths, loom. steps to their homes and Pathik to his rock or Mahita Mandal—a gathering or society of ladies. our principles and convictions to the test. asleep in his mountainous abode he was visited So far, the U.W.O. has been true to its word, by a tiger who gripped his ankle, and it was not another co:asion, when the police were close We of the U.W.O. realise that Parliament is a upon his refuge in a farmer's hut, he slipped taking food to him. The first conference of the U.W.O. was held Equally extraordinary was his skill in disguises. He would pass now for a Rajput Sepoy is unpaid. The rules were revised and amended, and an armed to the teeth, and then for an ascetic with ashes besmeared all over the body. Once, dis-It was reported that from a few determined guising himself as a Dhaker, he actually entered Monthly, 2d. ing under inhuman tortures.

rather allow their benefactor to starve for a

Pathik believes that, if judiciously employed, Some very interesting meetings have been held the force of social boycott is the only effective such items as boycott of foreign cloth, courts, The U.W.O., to say the least, is going on very titles and abstention from liquor, opium and other intoxicants, and abolition of child mar- WANTED, a copy of "Theatre Craft" (No. 3).

riages, obscene songs and ceremonial extravagance and finally suspension of taxes. The constructive portion consisted of the spread of local Khadder, village and district arbitration courts both on communal and representative lines. national schools, village protection societies, fe-Pathik, the well-known Indian agitator, now male Sabhas and young men's associations, and

It is noteworthy that substituting Swadeshi for Khadder, the whole of the above programme. divided into stages, was conceived and put into operation by Pathik at least two years before the non-co-operation movement was launched.

The success of the programme can be estimated by the fact that in the two districts of Begoon and Bijolia, inhabited by about 35,000 people, scarcely a village, prior to the recent forcible disbandment operation by the state, was without a Mahila Mandal, village protection society and Punchayat court. Important villages or groups of villages had their independent day and night schools for boys and girls, and each district had a co-operative shop to supply pure Khadder and other necessaries to the people. The spread of Khadder was a unique one, and not a few marriages were held up until the bridegroom from a neighbouring State would part with his mill-made clothes.

No less than ninety per cent. of the rural population took to pure Khadi, while liquor totally disappeared among them. Having seen with his own eyes the deep misery Patels resigned their official titles in a body.

Pathik's effort was to rouse the peasants to Mr. Pathik has been active in organising the build up a self-reliant movement of their own. Jhiri Thakurs and the peasants of Mewar, It is said by some who advocate participation The hesitation of the peasants to believe in their Gawalliar, Athana, Indore, Bundi and Jaipur in the elections that whilst the workers cannot own efforts was deep beyond measure. against the oppressions of landlords and Governbe emancipated through Parliament we must But Mr. Pathik, who is nothing if not ment. He held inquiries into the massacres of nevertheless capture a Parliamentary majority tenacious, clung to his purpose and in a few the Bhils, organised relief for the sufferers, in order to control the Army and Navy. That months carned the unquestioning filelity of the and circulated a report of the tragedy in India

ments and exploits, their coarse clothing and Pundit-literally, a learned man; hence a title not obeyed the constitutionally elected Govern- lived a life of self-imposed concalment for about Sangasi-" one who has given up "-the world, recks on the neighbouring hills. In the day he Rajput-literally, son of a king; hence one of would write articles for the press, compose song; the communities forming part of the Kshathem. At night he would emerge with his gun Khadder-a coarse cotton cloth woven on a hand-

The time has quickly arrived for us to put cave. One summer night while he was fast Punchayat—"a gathering of five"—a body, say, of the village elders, who decide matters brought before them by the villagers.

IMPORTANTI

We urgently suggest that comrades should endeavour to secure new subscribers to the "Workers' Dreadnought" and that they should collect at meetings and from their friends whatever is possible. However small the sum you can collect, it will be welcomed. Send it in stamps or postal orders. The "Dreadnought is not self-supporting: the editing and managing

"THE WORKERS' FRIEND,"

I am sorry that I only see you monthly. I hope you will wake me up and then I shall be with you weekly. I was not tired, but you made me tired. Your sufferings which I could not bear to see woke me and I shall go hand in hand with you till we shall be free from slavery and starvation.

A Review of the Struggles of the Catering Trade Employees

By W. McCARTNEY

(Late Vice-President, United Catering Trade

Under the Stars and Stripes

The late President Harding, on July 19th, California Criminal Syndicalist law, and de-

1922, promised to review the cases of U.S. poli- manded the release of those workers who have tical prisoners within sixty days and to release been convicted and imprisoned under its provi-

VI.—THE WAITRESS.

The waitress has gone through an evolution the week. waitress of years ago.

To-day after years of patient suffering, tyran- to see. The employer wants the waitress to v. persecution, etc., she is really worse off than believe that she is so superior to the porter or her sister of past years, although she has great- the cleaner-yes, perhaps on ten shillings per displaced the waiter by getting into "high week wages, with hardly any decent food from class" hotels, clubs, restaurants, etc. The week to week. waiter will shortly disappear altogether.

The waitress is, generally speaking, easier to dows, entrance halls, dining-rooms and halls of handle, more docile, less able to defend herself your London hotels, restaurants and clubs. Then against unscrupulous employers than the waiter. look at the careless and happy crowd pouring in She is more "attractive" to certain custom- these restaurants, absolutely unconcerned about ers and therefore more valuable to the employer anything but their own enjoyment. than the waiter.

Above all she is cheaper than the waiter-and tain profits and keep expenses down, pays the enables bigger profits to be made.

The waitress is on her feet racing up and six or seven shillings a week), and induces her down all day long, sometimes seven days per to work hard, and promises to give her so much week, with just one half-day's rest in seven. in the pound extra on her takings. Her conditions of work are in many cases worse A number of catering trade employers said, than those of the waiter. The food is the same after inspecting the L.C.C. training school for old staff muck. She is fleeced by agents just waitresses: like other catering workers. She pays out of her miserable wages for her own cap and apron and cuffs, also the washing bill, and finds her own black dress, etc., making good any "shorts" on ing school."

those not convicted for advocating the overthrow sions.

After reviewing both the Chicago and the Wichita cases of I.W.W. prisoners, he offered to release the entire Chicago group, and all but

The press reported Attorney General Daugherty as saying that the reason Frank Gallager was not offered release from prison last June, when commutation of sentence was tendered all others of the Chicago and Wichita groups, was that Gallager had been active in the organisation of several strikes in Oklahoma during the war.

Frank Gallager is officially supposed to be serving time in prison for alleged violation of the Es-any other alleged offence, his case is of peculiar pionage Act. If he is being held in prison for importance. To send a man to prison for one thing and to keep him there for something else, is inconsistent with every modern conception of law and justice. As a matter of fact not a single strike occurred in Oklahoma during 1917

while Frank Gallager was active in organisation work there. The Secretary-Treasurer of the Oil year of 1917, and up until September 28th.

of that year, was Forrest Edwards, who was sentenced to serve twenty years in Leavenworth.

Edwards was released on a commutation of sentence on June 25th, 1923. He directed Galla-ger's activities up till the time of his own arrest.

and who was convicted and sentenced to serve nine years in Leavenworth, also directed Galla-ger's activities until the time of his arrest.

commutation of sentence on June 25th, 1923.

If strike agitation and organisation work was engaged in by Frank Gallager, and that was sufficient reason for keeping him in pricon, then why

The general convention of the Marine Transport Workers' Union, No. 510, of the I.W.W., which has just concluded its sessions here, pledged the support of the seamen, harbour and dock workers to the I.W.W. in resisting the were Edwards and Anderson released.

Anderson, also, was released from prison on a

W. Anderson, Edward's successor in office.

Workers' Industrial Union, No. 450, during the one, Frank Gallager, of the Wichita group.

of the Government by force.

AMNESTY DAY.

the end of injunctions and start labour to recognising that solidarity is a power which never

The I.W.W. is holding Sunday, Dec. 23rd, as Amnesty Day to work for the release of political prisoners. It calls upon all proletarian organisations to join in the effort. It asks not merely for meetings but for a house to and as a result is not the same to-day as the Of course I know they call the porter "the house canvass and distribution of literature. porter," the charwoman "the cleaner"; but the Now comrades, such educational work will bring She was only employed in coffee shops, small waitress is "Miss Smith," "Miss Jones," not more fruit than the vote-catching superficialities "the waitress," the reason for that being easy of the elections.

FROM THE PUBLISHERS

AN OUTLINE OF ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY. Plebs Text Books. No. 4. 2s. 6d.

This book, written by J. F. Horrabin and revised by the Plebs Committee, contains some really excellent maps. It also comes to generally sound conclusions, though the author has been a little previous; events may prove him a little too previous in putting Germany and Austria into the French group, although it is true France has at present a hold on German coal and iron. The struggle for permanent possession of those forces has still to be waged, and the conclusion belongs as yet rather to the realm of prophecy than of geography. Some other conclusions may also seem a little strained, and the book, as a whole, may appear somewhat scrappy and superficial, but the latter fault is largely due to the small compass into which the work has been compressed.

The following passages are decidedly contradictory. They lead off with that hard-faced coldness which the Plebs describe as Marxian and end up with a run in the camp of the U.D.C.: Nationalism and national ideals are irreconcilable with such an aim. National liberty, like individual liberty, will have to be subordinated to international needs; and the resources of any one area will have to be used, not as the inhabitants of that area decide, but as the needs of the world's peoples dictate.

"But this does not mean that the workers are to support Imperialism when, as ofter happens, Imperialists appear to be acting 1. accordance with this view. American in perialists may, and do, plead that the neeof the modern world justify them in gamino control of the mineral resources of the car. bean area, inhabited by backward people. French Imperialists may plead—as we have ourselves pleaded in this book—that the tence of a frontier line separating hour confrom Lorraine iron is an anachronism in the world of to-day. British and Japanese in perialists may point to the world's need of the unexploited resources of China in just. fication of their interference in Chinese arfairs. The workers will oppose every one of these activities, not because it is wrong to ignore the national feelings of Mexicans, Germans or Chinamen, but because every such activity is a manifestation of aggressive Capitalism, and its success would still further strengthen the oppressors of Americans, French, British and Japanese workers, and prolong the existence of Imperialism and its destructive effects."

stance, the regulation of the employment of women and children, a question which does not pertain particularly to any individual employer or employment, but, realising the industrial relationship as social in character aims at its modification in the interest of exploited labour as a class, would come under Judge Busick's injunction ban-something that ought to be extremely interesting to the Socialist Party, Women's Trade Union Label League, and other such bodies. . . . "The real issue in this fight is whether fornia Superior Court, says:

the organised workers. This fight is of interest to workers in every union fold, not the I.W.W. alone. . . . California labour should select a day upon which every wheel in indussuch a suspension of production as will im- Poplar, E. press them with its power. Action of this kind upon a State-wide scale would begin labour unions shall be run by judges or by

(Continued from page 2, first column.) satisfactory, and our members are wanting the co-operation of other committees who have broken away from the N.U.W.C.M.

We want, and are determined to have, a strong rank-and-file unemployed workers' organisation during this winter.

It is only by the united effort of the classconscious unemployed that this can be possible.

It is up to you to do your duty to yourself, try and every function in commerce would your class and mankind. Get into the organisastop at a certain hour. If the judges will tion. Further information may be had upon issue injunctions labour should meet them with application to the Secretary, U.W.O., Town Hall,

> J. T. BELLAMY, Area Organiser.

Markers' Dreadnought Founded 1914. Editor: SYLVIA PANKHURST.

All Matter for Publication To THE EDITOR . Business Communications — To THE MANAGER. WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT, 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C.4.

Post free. SUBSCRIPTIONS. Three months (13 weeks) 18. 71/2d. Six months (26 weeks) 3s. 3d. One year (52 weeks) 6s. 6d. Subscriptions can start from any week.

Vol. X. No. 37. Saturday, December 1st, 1923.

Our View.

THE FALLACY that participation in Parliamentary elections renders a party immune from persecution is exploded by the The Supposed present action of the German Parliamentary Government. General Von Safeguard Seeckt, the dictator appointed by the Stresemann Government, who remains in command now that Stresemann has resigned has decreed illegal the Communist and Nationalist Parties of Germany, although the Communists have eleven members of the Reichstag and the Nationalists are also represented. The Decree is of such a sweeping character that not only are the party funds confiscated, and the party newspaper suppressed, but anyone giving them money, letting them rooms, displaying their badges, or helping them in any way is guilty of an offence. The penalty for breaking any of these regulations is a fine; if life is endangered by any act in breach of the regulations the penalty is penal servitude for life;

if life is lost the penalty is death. -For the moment the actual members of the lagislature are immune, but their immunity vanishes if the Reichstag is dissolved.

A PLOT TO OUST POOR MR. BALDWIN on the part of Messrs. Lloyd George, Winston Churchill, Austen Chamberlain and Daily Hera'd Lord Birkenhead is announced Unearths a by the "Daily Herald." The Political Plot object, according to the 'Herald," was to form a coalition against the Labour Party. We do not think the "Herald" version of the situation quite hits the nail on the head; for in spite of the "Herald's" sometime flattery of Mr. Baldwin, we believe him to be quite as much opposed to the Labour Party as any of the others.

The personally motived intrigue of the professional politician to get himself and his clique into office must not be forgotten. At the same time another important point must be borne in mind. Lord Rothermere is stated by the Labour daily to be one of the prime movers in the plot to secure a Churchill-Lloyd George-Chamberlain-Birkenhead Coalition, and he is quoted as saying that he is a Protectionist but wants to give Free Trade another chance.

A striking point to observe, however, is that the most outstanding feature of Lord Rothermere's propaganda is that it is pro-French. Whilst foreign politics are the last to be dealt with openly and frankly in this or any election, foreign politics are nevertheless bulking very largely in it, and are at the root of its being called at this particular moment.

THE FRENCH COVERNMENT having obtained the upper hand in Europe and being disposed to let all the world, including the British Govern- bound to grow. Governme t's meet know i', the British lion, at the Lidding of his capitalist Scarba d matters, has taken to lashing his who were used as a convenient stalking horse, for the purpose of doing things gracefully, the Bri- The tish Government held the greatest naval review Expulsionit has had since a similar display, with a similar of a Mother object, in 1914. The air arm was also paraded. did the lion observe:

Ostensibly to impress the Imperial Premiers, which the New Tabernacle Congregational Society

"We are not to be trifled with."

France, nevertheless, continued unmoved. Mr. Baldwin then declared a General Election, with Tariff Reform as the issue, tions. Secondly it shows the narrow tyranny of picturesquely disguised as Imperial Preference a legal system in which such a case can be arand Empire Development.

The threat of the election is a tariff wall of the plight of uncertainty in which the mass of against French goods.

A POINT OF GREAT INTEREST must now be observed: the Party of all others which, by its utterances, declares itself anti-French is the MacDonald faction Anti- and Pro- of the Labour Party and the French Parties Right Wing of the Labour Party in general. The Baldwin faction of the Tory Party, which is the faction that was led by Bonar Law, who came to power on this issue, is also supposed to be anti-French. This is the Party which threatens to introduce the anti-French tariff. The Labour Party, which accuses Mr. Baldwin of not being aggressive enough in his opposition to French policy, opposes the tariff. Labour Party resolutions might sound more bellicose, but the Labour Party is used to contenting itself with resolutions. The Baldwin Party is moving towards war with France, quite methodically, and neither the Asquithians, nor the Lloyd Georgians, have the dove of peace in their bag of tricks.

As to the Labour Party, it is only too clear that it lacks the power to withstand the imperialist current making for war.

THE PLEDGE by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald that the capital levy would only be imposed once and could only be imposed once may be reassuring to the capital-Capital Levy ist. To the worker who believes that the Labour Party is really for an equalitarian society the pledge must be disappointing. We do not believe in the practicability of dispossessing the capitalist by piecemeal levies. If we did we should suggest a frequent succession of such levies; we certainly should not pledge ourselves only to perform the experiment once.

WE CONGRATULATE the anti-Parliamentary Communists of Paisley on making themselves heard during the Anti-Parliamentary elections. Their running fire of heckling at Mr. Asquith's meeting and final capture of the platform no doubt had its propaganda effect in bringing before thousands of people the question of Communism and the Workers' Councils as the alternative to Capitalism and Parliament. The Paisley comrades made it clear that they were not part of the Labour Party. It seems to us that the one point in which their propaganda was apt to be misleading was the unfurling of a banner "Hail Bolshevik Russia!" Bolshevik Russia is not Communist: it has adopted the new economic policy, and the Bolshevist Party advocates Parliamentarism and affiliation to the Labour Party. The banner of our Paisley comrades would have seemed appropriate enough in 1917-18: it is inappropriate now. Nevertheless, we cordially appreciate their demonstration. We hope they will repeat it at the meetings of the Tory and Labour parties also, and that other comrades will follow their example throughout the country. This is an excellent mea s of bringing before the people the fact that there is an alternative policy to that of the reformers.

Keep it up, comrades! The movement is

ON THE LEGAL ASPECT of the case in attempted to expel and deprive of benefit an unmarried mother we do not desire to comment. The human aspect alone interests us. The case reveals, firstly. Thus, in the time-honoured diplomatic fashion, the hypocrisy of a religious body which professes to worship Christ for his comforting of a prostitute and yet attempts to deprive a woman who has merely disregarded the marriage law of the benefits for which she has paid contribugued in Court at all. Thirdly it is a reminder people live under the private property system.

MR. OLIVER BALDWIN, son of the Prime Minister, is boomed as a supporter of the Labour Party; but what is the first of his utterances reported in the Labourism? "Daily Herald" from a speech in support of a Labour candidate?

"Abroad the Baldwin Government has given Turkey more than she had before the war, and more than she expected under the Treaty of Lausanne."

Is this Labour Party-ism? It is certainly not Socialism, but jingoism.

THE PRISON COMMISSIONERS admit that unemployment is one of the chief contributory factors to the prison popula-Unemployment tion to-day.

It is of course obvious that when people have no means of existence save by stealing they are driven to steal. As we have often pointed out, the main purpose of the penal system is to prevent those who have not enough from taking from those who have something to spare. The number of receptions of prisoners under sentence during the year was 60,832, as compared with 56,922 for the preceding twelve months, an increase of 3,910. Of this increase no fewer than 3,728 were debtors, although many comfortable people believe that imprisonment for debt has been

IN BROODING DEPTHS OF NIGHT, when all the air

Is teeming close with thought, In Brooding a cry arose, And we in voiceless agony did

Echoing in tears what seemed our own heart's pain. What is this cry that pierceth with afright; What grief unbearable, no rest allowing The burdened soul that sends it wildly forth: This that hath waked the dark and banished

Eight years of prison life behind her lie, A month of freedom nestles in between, Ten further captive years stretch out before. She that had nothing, born of the "Have Nots,"

She from the "Haves" had taken something

Those numerous hordes who toil no wealth to

THE USELESSNESS of the German Social-Democratic compromises, in entering Coalition Governments with the bourgeois parties, in supporting capitalist measures, in helping to suppress revolutionary elements, is now fully apparent, for the Social-Democrats are out of the Government, which daily grows more completely reactionary, whilst Parliamentary Government is virtually suspended and Germany bears the heavy yoke of a dictatorship.

The compromises, "boring-from-within" and political manœuvring of the Third Internationalists have proved equally futile. They now find themselves with their backs to the wall, compelled to fight to save themselves from the White Terror. Even abandonment of the struggle for general betterment would no longer save them from persecution.

What will happen? In so far as the Third Internationalists have relied on Parliamentarism and boring from within the Trade Unions, they are utterly powerless; and that applies to every other movement.

They can succeed only in so far as they have epared a body of people able to carry on proaction, distribution and transport, independently of, and in opposition to Capitalism; only in so far as they have prepared a body of ersons able to repel the force which the reaction will use to crush them and to main-

If the proletarian revolution of Germany is not made now; if it should be made and fail; the delay or the failure will be due to the fact that the independent revolutionary movement, the workers' council movement, is not yet strong enough to be effective in industry, agriculture, ransport, distribution, army, navy, and so on. lack of Communist teaching, lack of understanding and faith in Communism.

ils. It will be the failure of the parties of round upon it and make no progress. nard which has attempted it.

The worth of the various German proletarian About 1820 Rastrick, of Liverpool, built an a better engine could be made.

All the stunts and the intrigues have failed. Told realities rule and only the work that went to the root will count in Germany to-day.

CUTTING OFF RELIEF.

WORKLESS CONDEMNED TO WORKHOUSE IMPRISONMENT WITH THE OP-TION OF STARVATION.

Camberwell Guardians have decided to enforce 'Modified Workhouse Test" in the following cases, the Guardians acting as prosecutor, judge, and jury in all cases :

.- Men who are not putting forth reasonable efforts to obtain employment.

-Men who have been receiving relief for years or more with short intervals. -Men who have been receiving relief for one

-Workers whose income is uncertain, but with no prospect of verification.

5.—Undesirables who rarely do any work and do not admit earnings.

SUBSCRIBERS.

A certain number of subscribers have fallen arrears with their payments, and as we need funds very urgently we urge them to pay up at once. Their papers are marked each week with the date when their subscription expired. Rates: 18. 72d. three months, 3s. 3d. six months, 6s. 6d. twelve months.

Some of our is, a week subscribers, too, need a reminder that their subscriptions are due. Election time is the time to push the "Dread lought" and anti-Parliamentary literature at all meetings. Send for a 3s. bundle at once. Do not forget "Communism and Christianism," copies for 1s. during the election.—Norah Smyth.

"DREADNOUGHT" £1,000 FUND.

Brought forward, £148 7s. 5d. J. A. Kershaw, 5s.; G. Sargent, 5s.; S. N. Ghose, 1s. "We don't get on: we only get off." Horses ; G. Sear, 3s. 1d.; per Miss Hodson, 5s.; M. Powell, 10s.; total for week, £1 9s. 10d. Total, £149 17s. 3d.

PROLETCULT.

A monthly magazine for boys and girls, edited by TOM ANDERSON and published by the Proletarian Bookstall. 39, Shuttle Street,

ONE PENNY.

Lessons for Young Proletarians

GEORGE STEPHENSON.—III.

first railway locomotive on the Merthyr Tydvil off when the engine was in motion terrified tramway in 1804. He was discouraged by the passing horses. So much complaint was made breakage of the cast-iron plates of which the that the owner of the engine gave orders to road was formed, which were crushed under stop whenever a horse-drawn vehicle came in the load of the engine.

ment and experiment. The owners of the line would not re-lay it with better material to give the locomotive a fair trial.

The inventor depended on the capitalist, and If there should be failure it will also be due to the capitalist being reluctant to come to his aid, the invention made no progress.

It was mistakenly believed also that a heavy If there be failure it will be the failure not of weight behind the engine, the "grip" or "bite" the advance guard which has stood firm for of its smooth wheels on the smooth iron rail, clear-cut Communism and the Workers' Coun- must be so slight that the wheels would whirl ompromise, which have failed to do the neces- wheels of Trevethick's engine were therefore sarv propaganda and organising work and have made rough by projecting bolts or cross grooves, rown difficulties in the way of the advance so that their adhesion to the road might be interested in Trevethick's locomotive. Blackett's pal partner, readily advanced the money recoal was transported by horses on a wooden quired. wagon-way between the colliery where old Rob- Stephenson's chief difficulty was in finding ert Stephenson worked, past the college where workmen skilled enough to assist him, in the work George was born to Lemington, where the coal and obtaining the requisite tools. The tools was embarked for Newcastle or London. Five then in use about the collieries were rude and wagon loads only were transported by a horse clumsy, and there were not then the present and man in two days. In 1804 Blackett got a facilities for turning out machinery of an encopy of Trevethick's patent and had it made tirely new character. John Thirlwall, the colliery by a Gateshead firm who employed John Steele, blacksmith, was Stephenson's principal assistant. a clever mechanic, to superintend the work. The The engine took about ten months to build and engine was, however, considered too light for was tried on July 25th, 1814. Its wheels were drawing coal and was never put to the test: it all smooth, Stephenson, like Hedley, having satisnever left the foundry.

In 1811 Blenkinsop, of the Middleton Col- adhesion between the rail and the wheels of a liery, Leeds, aided by Mathew Murray, a Leeds loaded engine would be sufficient for traction. mechanic, made another patent locomotive. It The engine drew eight loaded wagons of 30 tons weighed five tons and consumed two-thirds of a weight up an ascending gradient of I in 450 at hundredweight of coal and 50 gallons of water about four miles an hour. The want of springs an hour. It drew 27 wagons weighing 94 tons was seriously felt, and at the end of a year the on level ground at 31 miles an hour, or 15 tons steam power required for this engine and the up an ascent of 2 inches per yard. When lightly horse power which would otherwise have been loaded it did ten miles an hour. It cost £400. employed were found to be equal in cost.

useful work. adhere to the rails and progress was still current. Blenkinsop's engine had a toothed driving wheel which worked into a rack on the side of the railway—a cumbrous expedient. Brunton, of Butterley Works, Derbyshire, patented a "Mechanical Traveller" in 1813; this went upon legs, working alternately like those of a horse. The boiler burst on its first journey, killing a number of people. Chapmans, of Newcastle, tried stretching a chain from one end of the locomotive to the other to overcome the same imaginary trouble, but it proved expensive and difficult to repair. Blackett, of Wylam, made another attempt at a locomotive in 1812, but on its first journey it blew up and "flew all to pieces." Blackett directed his engine-wright to make him a third engine. This travelled at little more than a mile an hour and frequently went out of order so that the driver said: were generally sent after it to drag it along when it gave up, the neighbours laughed, and the workmen called it a "perfect plague."

Blackett decided to make a fourth attempt and got Foster, his engine-wright, and William Hedley, the viewer at the colliery, to make him work on a smooth rail, and by thus exploding tion. the fallacy which had handicapped all previous experiments and baffled the civil engineers, this tives an important stage. The distrust of a Tredegar and district.

smooth wheel on a smooth rail had been so general that men had even been sent to walk before the engine, scattering ashes on the track. How ludicrous that seems in these days of rapid

The new engine was soon on the Wylam road, Trevethick had already experimented with the but the jets of steam from the piston, blowing sight. To the workmen this was most trouble-Money stood in the way of further developsome. Therefore the clever men who had designed the machine constructed a reservoir behind the chimney, into which the waste steam might pass after performing its office in the cylinder. From this reservoir the steam escaped gradually without noise.

> This invention was to prove of great importance when adapted by George Stephenson, not to prevent the steam blast as at first intended, but, on the contrary, to increase its power.

George Stephenson went over from Killing-The worth to see Blackett's engines working. He also watched one of Blenkinsop's Leeds engines introduced at Coxlodge in 1813.

On seeing the locomotive constructed by others, Stephenson had observed that he thought parties is now being tested. Have they prepared engine for Trevethick which was exhibited in In 1813 he approached his employers at Kilthe masses to throw off Capitalism? Have they London. A circular track was laid down and lingworth colliery with a view to getting from prepared the understanding of the masses for the engine was run in competition with a horse: them authority to build a locomotive. He had whichever made the longest mileage was to win. made such improvements in the engine above and Blackett, a colliery owner of Wylam, became below ground that Lord Ravensworth, the princi-fied himself by independent experiment that the

It was employed for twenty years and was the Stephenson, however, commenced work on anfirst locomotive engine regularly employed at other engine, and on February 28th, 1815, he had already taken out a patent for it. Writing The idea that the smooth wheels could not of this engine in 1856 Robert Stephenson said:

"In 1815 my father had succeeded in manufacturing an engine which included the following improvements on all previous attempts in the same direction: simple and direct communication between cylinder and wheels, the wheels rolling upon rails; joint adhesion of all the wheels, attained by the use of horizontal connecting-rods; and, finally, a beautiful method of exciting the combustion fuel by employing the waste steam which had formerly been allowed uselessly to escape. It is perhaps not too much to say that this engine as a mechanical contrivance contained the germ of all that has since been effected. It may be regarded, in fact, as a type of the present

(To be continued.)

GOOD BUSINESS WITH GERMANY.

London bankers are negotiating a credit of £750,000 for the Deutsch Vekhr and Credit Bank for the purchase of half a million tons of coal. Nominally the credit will be £3,000,000, but only £750,000 will be available.

Terrorism has given a majority to the Govern-Hedley discovered that a smooth wheel could ment parties of 185 seats to 62 for the opposi-

"The Dreadnought" may be obtained from workman advanced the task of making locomo- Oliver Morgan, 22, Main Street, Sirhowy, for DOWN WITH THE SPANISH INQUISITION.

(From the I.W.M.A.)

The terror carried out under the savage dictatorship of Dato has driven one of the persecuted to take revenge upon the man directly responsible. Dato was killed by the revolutionist Casanellas, who has admitted the deed, and is now in Russia.

In spite of this two revolutionary syndicalists, Pedro Mateu and Luis Nicolau, are being accused of the act. Their trial was conducted by a drum court martial, and even though many a capitalist paper admitted that have been exiled:the two accused were quite innocent of the deed imputed to them, the Spanish hangmen condemned our two innocent comrades to

An injustice committed against one is a threat against all.

Sacco and Vanzetti

The Sacco-Vanzetti defence news service reports that charges that some one had tampered with the exhibits in the Sacco-Vanzetti case marked the third week of argument on motions for a new trial. A photograph of Vanzetti's revolver had been made to show that a certain screw had never been taken out of the gun. The photograph showed the screw fitted in place, and unscratched. The gun, when brought into court this week, showed the screw slightly raised from the level of the revolver handle and seratched with a screw-driver. The photograph was made to show that the gun had never been taken apart to put in a new hammer. The scratch on the screw would prove it had. The District Attorney resented the imputation of tampering. Unfortunately he resented it before it was made, which seemed serious to the court. The court immediately ordered the exhibits to be removed from the custody of the Sheriff and put into the hands of the Clerk. The Clerk was ordered to let no one see or touch them without a court order.

Three days of hammering on the photographic and microscopic evidence has given the defence so much confidence that they believe firmly they will get a new trial. For three days the judge and defence attorney stood on the bench and were shown the numerous file marks, defects and scratches that proved the mortal bullet and Fraher shell were not fired from Sacco's gun, as development. the State claimed. The Fraher shell was found at the scene of the crime.

The fact that the judge and jury had been deceived by some of the expert testimony in the original trial is held to be a strong argument for a new trial. The judge himself seemed to attach great importance to it. He asked several questions which indicated that he thought the action of his District Attorney and his expert knowledge in formulating pre-arranged questions and answers to deceive the jury were near perjury and subornation. The defence claimed that such deception was responsible for the verdict of guilty, and that without it the sian (looking apprehensively at the early stoutertwo Italian workers would have been freed. William G. Thompson, arguing for the defence, said the jury which tried Sacco and Vanzetti had the right to know the true opinion of this expert. Captain Proctor of the State Police, and demanded a new trial on those grounds.

Fred H. Moore took up the argument after the expert evidence had been completed. He argued on the motions based on the perjury of three witnesses at the trial. He said that if it had been but one it would be a small affair, but here we had three of the Government's most important witnesses convicted of perjury by their own statements. He intimated that psychological ment; they live in plenty, comfort and elepressure from the District Attorney's office was garce. responsible for their perjury. He showed what the witnesses had to gain by standing with the State Attorneys, and that they had yielded to this pressure, without any direct coercion being used. His argument was that such witnesses should not be allowed to appear at a murder trial, and demanded a new trial that they might be shown to the jury for what they were.

From the Fourth International

A PROTEST.

The Russian Communit Workers' Party (Revolutionary Opposition of the Workers) protests that the following old Worker-Communists, who have been excluded at different times from the Russian Communist Party on account of their opposition, have now been arrested and some > G. Mjashikow, N. Kuznezow, P. Ssorwin, Demidow, M asnikowa.

The Russian C.W.P. protests and demands, in the name of the world proletariat, the immediate liberation of these comrades.

* * * RUSSIAN COMMUNIST WORKERS' PARTY.

The comrades of the Revolutionary Workers' Opposition in Russia, who are in contact with the Communi t Workers' (Fourth) International, have sent to the Fourth International a manifesto of the workers' group of the Russian Communist Party (Bolshevik), typewritten copies of which at the beginning of the year were circu- Aid, 2s.; War, 2d.; Modern Science and Anarlated all over Russia.

The manifesto shows that the opposition of priation, 2d.; The Wage System, 2d. the workers in Russia lives, develops and moves De Leon.—As to Politics, 9d.; Two Pages ahead towards the formation of a large Com- from Roman History, 4d.; Socialism v. Anarmunist Workers' Party. The manifesto is in chism, 3d.; Who Pays the Taxes? 2d.; Burning some respects halting and unclear, but it proves Question of Trade Unionism, 2d.; Marx on Malthat the revolutionary spirit is growing.

Fourth International as real, true revolutionary 2d.; Berger's Hit and Misses, 9d.; Fifteen Quesworkers' organisations, and demands that the tions, is. 6d. Moscow leaders cease to build a united front with the social-democratic traitors, but with re- Memoirs of Marx, 3s. 6d. volutionary organisations.

MANIFESTO OF THE WORKERS' GROUP OF THE RUSSIAN COMMUNIST PARTY (BOLSHEVIK).

Every thinking worker, who knows the suffering and misery of his class and its titanic struggle, has surely more than once considered the fate of our revolution in all its stages of Everyone knows that its fate is closely connected with the world-proletarian movement.

When the anxious question as to the fate of the results of the October revolution is put, the workers' eye traverses other countries, where the objective conditions for a revolution are already existent, but the revolution still does not come. The proletariat asks what is to be done that the revolution may come.

Turning again to his own country, he sees the Russian working-class, which has made the Social Revolution. He sees that the Government here has decided to go over to the "Nep" (new economic policy). The Rusgrowing heroes of the "Nep," whose situation they compare with their own) says: "Where are we going? Bitter thoughts awake in the Russian worker who has borne the whole burden of the bourgeois and imperialist wars; he, who is celebrated in all Russian papers as the hero, who sacrificed his blood in this struggle, he lives miserably on bread and water. On the other hand, they who sowed frightfulness and misery; they who have only just laid down the arms with which they fought against the worker; they are welcomed by the Govern-

Where are we going? What will be the final

Is it in reality possible, that the "Nep" (new economic policy) is changing into the "N.E.P. (new exploitation of the proletariat)?

What are we to do, to prevent this danger? When these questions arise before the worker, he looks reluctantly backward, to find the con-

SOUTH AFRICAN NEWS.

A petition had been organised throughout South Africa by the Communist Party, for the reprieve of the nine men who are still in gaol in Pretoria as the result of last year's Rand strike.

'Communism is much more active among us than people think," said Sir Julius Jeppe, in support of the candidature of the Rev. W. Mc-Culloch, South African Party Provincial Counthat recently a cotton farmer in the Rustenburg | States industrial affairs by declaring that a trade were taken away!" district, approached a native chief for labour. slump and unemployment in America had been the chief's reply to the request, "and when it heard of considerable wage reductions in the is finished, you can apply to the Secretary, who will tell you on what terms labour can be ob-Another speaker said that he had repeatedly referred to the dangerous character of the propaganda of the unpatriotic Communists, who know no nationality, honour, or patriotism. Their operations," he said, "have become particularly sinister in institutions owned by the Government, connected directly or indirectly with the Natives." He hoped that the Government would put a stop to this dangerous organisation.

FROM OUR BOOKSHOP.

Peter Kropotkin.—Conquest of Bread, 28.; Fields, Factories and Workshops, 2s.; Mutual chism, 1s.; Appeal to the Young, 2d.; Expro-lock, 2d.; Preamble of the Industrial Workers The manifesto recognises the C.W.P., and of the World, 2d.; What Means This Strike?

> Wilhelm Liebknecht.-No Compromise, 8d.; E. Lipson.—Economic History, Middle Ages, Lissagarry.—History of the Commune, 1871 (translated by Eleanor Marx Aveling), 4s. 6d. Jack London.-Michael, Brother of Jerry, 28.

Mutiny of the Elsinore, 2s.; Revolution, 2s.; The Human Drift, 2s.; John Barleycorn, 2s.; The Jacket, 2s.; The Red One, 2s.; War of the Classes, 2s.; The Night Born, 1s. 6d.; When God Laughs, 1s. 6d.; The Road, 1s. 6d.; The Scarlet Plague, 1s. 6d.; The Strength of the Strong, 1s. 6d.; Before Adam, 1s. 6d.; The House of Pride, 18. 6d.; Love and Life, 18. 6d.; Children of the Frost, 1s. 6d.; The Valley of the Moon, 2s. and 6d.; He Renounced the Faith;

128. 6d.; The Paris Commune, 23. 6d.; Value, Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Price and Profit, 6d.; Wage Labour and Capital, Massachusetts, shows how far the employers of 3d.; The Gotha Programme, 3d.; Critique of U.S.A. are at one with Mr. Frank Hodges Political Economy, 6s. 6d.; Poverty of Philo- on the subject of high wages: sophy, 6s. 6d.; Revolution and Counter-Revolution, 2s. 6d.; Civil War in France, 3s.; Civil War in France (Kerr's edition), 1s. 6d.

Marx and Engels.-Communist Manife to, 3d. Olive Schreiner.-Woman and Labour, 4s. 6d.; Woman and War, 6d.; Dream Life and Real Life, 1s.; Dreams, 2s.; The Sunlight Lay Across My Bed, 6d.; Trooper Peter Halkett, 1s.; Story of an African Farm, 3s. 6d.

From "Dreadnought" Bookshop, 152, Fleet St., nection between the present and the past; understand how he could have come to this

But, bitter and instructive as these experiences are, every worker has not learnt to find a way out through the multi-coloured net of historical events, which have passed before his eyes.

Read E R E The Irish Nation Weekly Review of Irish Republican Opinion PRICE TWOPENC

On Sale Saturdays

Unemployment in U.S.A.

AN ANSWER TO MR. FRANK HODGES.

Mr. Frank Hodges, in a recent "Daily 'We are just busy forming a Native Union," was prevented by raising wages. Some of us had period indicated by Mr. Hodges, and now comes evidence that the trade slump he thought America had avoided is on its way. The New York "Freeman" puts the position pointedly:

> fied. The makers of pig-iron can turn out their insignificant dole. ten million tons per year in excess of the maximum consumption recorded since 1916. The boot-and-shoe factories have a capacity of 400,000,000 pairs per annum, but the American people have never yet purchased more than 300,000,000 pairs. The automobile factories are now producing at the rate of 300,000 cars a month, but Dr. Klein doubts if any one expects that the country will buy another three million cars in 1924. With such capacity available, Dr. Klein is of the moved to ask, what next?

duction; but since March there has been an like the blessings of Socialism."

Karl Marx.—Capital (Vols. I., II., III.), each The following statement, published by the about 4,000,000 spindles and the south have over 16,000,000 spindles.

rations find it to their advantage to move to

Occupation. S. Carolina. Fall River. Fall River

-Ay.	hourly	rate- Excess
	$	$
Card Room	0.260	0.414	59 %
Spinning room	.219	.390	78 %
Dressing room	.237	.410	73 %
Loom fixers	.360	.558	55 %
Weavers	.273	.378
Trim'rs & insp'rs	.176	.257
Other employees	.176	.357	103 %
"Southern mill	s are	not 'ha	mpered'
by the forty-eight
'hampered' by the	48-ho	ir week,	which is the maximum in Massachusetts. Women and children can work longer hours in the southern mills."
It all looks v	ery lov	elv-for t	he mill

it all looks very lovely—for the mill

Letter from Holland

Some folks are constantly preaching the gospel of leadership and declaring leaders are necessary. Whenever the man in the stre t seems to lose his belief in the modern saviours they ask him: "Do you imagine everything would go on smoothly without leaders, managers, and authorities? Just fancy what cil candi late for Springs. Spr Julius Jeppe added Herald" article, amazed all students of United would heppen if all the leading personalities

They seem absolutely unable to imagine themselves in a society quite different from the present one, and firmly believe in the perpetual continuance of capitalist society, near his cottage would go out next morning although they are willing to accept some fundamental change.

'In an article published in the 'Magazine of our political leaders, the Cabinet Ministers. other friend who forges and tempers tableof Wall Street, Dr. Julius Klein, director of Even the Prime Minister has failed. Never. knives by the score would continue to forge and the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Com- theless things go on without a single inter- temper them. The knives would still be wanted. merce, points out that the productive capacity ruption. We are being exploited just as be- The power to make them would still be there. of the country is so great that even an abnor- fore, we must pay taxes just the same, and And if at any point combined labour were mal demand can hardly remain long unsatis- those who are unemployed continue to receive needed, as to build a workshop or carry through

Nevertheless, the Queen of Holland is now eagerly looking for the most eminent men in the country, ready and capable to take the empty seats in her High Political Body. very strong man is specially wanted as a Prime Minister just now, because you know the Marine Act was condemned to disappear from the Government's "programme" for the

This was considered a victory for Mr. opinion that production in many lines is now Troelstra, one of the well-known Second Inrunning so far ahead of current consumption ternationalists. Her Majesty, of course, ap- and the needs of human life continually generate that the domestic market will presently be plied also to him. We do not know what saturated. In this situation, one is naturally they agreed upon, but Mr. Troelstra proudly may hope) from the burden of the futile and proclaims in his paper that "we" are pre- idiotic superstructure which they have to sup-"The answer, according to Dr. Klein, is pared to take the empty places, but that he port, will rise to a far finer standard of being simply this: either the export trade must be has no bananas. Which means that things than they can now realise. The cheap and aimdeveloped, or else we shall have idle factories, are not ripe yet, although the whole less types belonging to the mercantile and midunemployment and hard times. If we may machinery is ripe to disappear for ever from dle classes will disappear with the world to which depend upon the judgment of Wall Street, the world's surface. For many years Mr. they belong."-Edward Carpenter, "My Life and as expressed in the general trend of stock-and- Troelstra and his staff have been urging: Dreams." bond prices for the last six months, it is the "You send us to Parliament, and we shall second alternative rather than the first that make the sun shine bright so that it will is to be faced. From midsummer, 1921, to ripen the fruits; and now and then, when we March of the present year, the stock-market give you a hint, you firmly shake the tree in rose steadily on the crest of increasing pro- order to make the nice fruits fall down on you, equally steady decline. From this movement We have got now all kinds of fruit, such as prices one gets the notion that 'the street' the eight hours' day; but one after the other monarchy, the Privy Council, the House of Lords already tolerably well satisfied that we are they are disappearing again, on account of and the House of Commons, and to summon approaching a condition of surfeit from which "these rotten times." I am very sorry for the Workers' Councils? we cannot hope to escape by calling in the Mr. Troelstra, but I fear that he will never Old World to redress the balance of the New." sit down in one of the empty Cabinet seats for which he is longing so badly. It is a peculiar characteristic of this gentleman that he is often near his goal and then gets nervous, so that he misses just when he is eager

There is another gentleman in the Low Clergy At It's Best." "Fifty years ago little or no cotton manu- Countries who declares that he has the facturing was done in the south. Thirty bananas. This is Mr. Verviers, who has just years ago Fall River had more cotton spindles returned from Italy, where he consulted Musthan all the southern States combined. At solini. He wrote to the Queen: "Don't mind the present time Fall River still remains with those fellows in Parliament. Send them home rather than ask their advice. Seek for the Party organ, the "Daily Citizen," is writing right men to put in the right place; appoint a Liberal election puffs for the "Daily Chronicle," 'The following table shows why some cor- strong man as their leader and things will change for the better."

If this is the way to put matters straight the arrangements need only be a question of a few days, for it is obvious that Mr. Verviers is the man the Queen is looking for. However, we do not believe that her Majesty will servative. avail herself of his services, simply because capitalism in Holland prefers to use its mask than to show its pretty face.

So let us wait a little while, gentlemen; we want a strong man here, but it is not your turn yet.—T.W.

manufacturer. That is, should the southern workers continue to submit. Southern capitalists have been made to feel the results of rebellious labour-there was the negro exo-

If this Civilisation Collapsed

"... If the whole of our Banking and Financial system collapsed and fell in, if worldwide Commerce came to a standstill, if the Capital necessary for huge armaments and general ironworks were not forthcoming, if law and government were paralysed, old-age insurance ceased to be paid, and Landlords were unable to collect their rents-if all this and much more happened, my friend who ploughs his fields with his team to his usual work, and scarcely know the difference. If anything, he would de-Here in Holland we are just now deprived cidedly feel more cheerful and hopeful. Some a steel-making process, the men who do these things now in forced and servile toil under the Capitalist system would do them ten times better and more heartily in free co-operation. No, if all this jerry-built cheapjack commercial civilisation collapsed it would not much matter. The longer I live the more I am convinced of its essential pettiness and unimportance. The great foundational types, the real workers of the world-whether in England, or Germany, or France, or Turkey, or Bulgaria, or Egypt-will remain, and indeed must remain because the primal facts of Nature, the sun and the earth them. They will remain, and once freed (as one

ASK YOUR LABOUR CANDIDATE

Will he introduce a Bill to abolish the

"MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING."

"Every one was very much in earnest, but many speakers, and most of the audience were at times uncertain as to what they ought to be in earnest about."-Anglican correspondent of the Manchester Guardian" on "The House of

THE VALUE OF A PROFESSIONAL JOURNALIST.

Mr. Dilnot, late editor of the late Labour and helping to smash the Labour Party at the Conservative posters show a workman with hands outstretched in pleading: "Give me work!" Underneath the legend: "Vote Con-

So they would always wish to see you, fellow

Crown Hall Dancing Academy 40, Redmans Road, Mile End, E. 1.

SOIREE & DANCE

In aid of the "Workers' Friend" Saturday December 8th 1923. Good Band in Attendance DANCING 7 p.m. ——— to 1 a.m.

Work for Men and Women

Some months ago, fellow worker, the "Dreadnought" office was disturbed by the fact that one of two men, whom it was easy to recognise, had been seen for some days always loitering about at the corner of Bolt Court and Fleet Street, where everyone going to and from the office must pass.

Several persons observed that the "Dreadnought" office was being watched by police spies. At last the editor, irritated by the daily presence of the supposed spies, abruptly asked one of them: "Who are you keeping under observation?" It happens that next door to the building in which is the "Dreadnought" office, a tailor's shop had been recently opened. When the "Dreadnought" editor spoke thus to the loiterer on the curb, he darted to the door of the tailor's shop, and calling out one of the assistants from inside, cried:

"Mr. —, tell this lady I am not a spy?"

The assistant answered: "Madam, this is our outside representative."

Of course, fellow worker, the editor of the "Dreadnought" apologised profusely. When I heard of the incident, I observed: "Under a proper state of society no one would be content to be a spy; no one would consent to be a tailor's tout, standing on the pavement all day, in the hope of persuading customers into his employer's shop. At nine o'c'ock the other night, fellow worker, I was entering the "Dreadnought" offices, and I turned to look at that brightly-lit tailor's shop next door. I observed the blaze of electric light displayed there unnecessarily; but something else caused the thought again to surge within me in protest:

"Under a proper state of society this would never be."

On the polished parquet floor of the shop window two men were kneeling, elaborately arranging folds of clothing material upon it. When they had finished their foldings and flutings, they carefully proceeded to dress a number of tailor's blocks.

Thus until late in the evening they were wasting their lives in useless toil; their precious lives, all they had of value; their lives that speed away so swiftly towards the grave. They were arranging folds of stuff for the curious to gape at, for the indifferent to pass by unnoticed.

Should not the human race be able to clothe itself, fellow worker, without such senseless waste of human effort? The civilisation which finds such follies necessary should be doomed indeed! It is work, this window dressing at night; work by means of which the slaves of the shop gain bread and shelter. Is it work for men and women, fellow worker?

Is it a fitting manner in which to employ human hands and human brains, night after night, month after month, year after year?

On the polling day, fellow worker, men and women will stand by the polling booths, waiting to take from the voters the mock polling-cards of the rival candidates. They are paid by the rival parties to stand there, as an advertisement, and in the hope of ascertaining in which manner the majority of the votes have been cast before the poll has actually been declared.

The men and women who take the mock polling cards are glad to stand there, in order to gain the paltry shillings they are paid for their senseless vigil. They will be glad to do some other equally useless task next day.

When the poll is declared the candidates will come to the window; the mob will cheer them—the victors and the vanquished. The victor has won, the vanquished has scored a "moral victory." Those men of the hour shake hands and tell the crowd, as gentlemen do, how fairly each has fought the other.

They speak in exalted tones: their words flow on in such a manner as this:

'It is always a source of great pride and great contentment to feel that the Party you are associated with is lifting up the reputation of your nation, not for power and not for wealth, but for those intangible qualities which come from heaven, and which distinguish the men and women of great heart from the men and women of gross soul." Then those who earned their paltry pennies at the polls, with the rest of the disinherited, raise a cheer.

The motor-cars drive the candidates away.

And the poor go home. So it was: so it will be, fellow worker, but some day the Workers' Councils will be sitting, and the great and eloquent of to-day will be waiting an-THE SEARCHLIGHT. xiously at thy gate.

HEAD READING, by an expert phrenologist.— Proceeds to "Workers' Dreadnought." -Apply, H., Box 20.

ENGINEER, married, experienced in I. C., Steam and General Machine Repairs, seeks employment or will undertake auto or mechanical repairs; 17 years experience States and Canada; 2 years proprietor of machine-equipped garage; estimates on reconditioning. -Box 76.

THE RED COTTAGE.

Woodford Wells. For Outings and Week-ends.

Parties catered for. 126 Woodford High Road.

'Buses 34, 40a, 10a pass the door. Opposite "Horse and Well."

BROMLEY PUBLIC HALL, 29th NOVEMBER, 2.30-4.

The Inauguration of the Women's Section of the Unemployed Workers' Organisation. All Ticket Holders are asked to be present.

THE "ONE BIG UNION BULLETIN"

(Canada's Foremost Labour Paper). The One Big Union seeks to organise the workers on class lines. Read about it.

Eugene Sue's marvellous story: "The Mysteries of the People," or "History of a Proletarian Family Across the Ages," now running in serial form.

10/- per year; 5/- six months. Plebs Buildings, 54 Adelaide Street, Winnipeg, Canada.

FOR SALE.—Bound Volume of "The Commonweal," No. 4, 1888, Official Journal of the Socialist League, edited by William Morris. Very rare. Good condition. What offers?-Box 76.

> THE "GERMINAL CIRCLE." 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C.4.

The "Germinal Circle" exists to assist in promoting the expression of modern ideas and aspirations through the medium of the arts. To the Secretary, "Germinal Circle."

I wish to join the "Germinal Circle," and enclose one shilling to cover the annual subscription.

Name

Address

Germinal

ASK for No 2. at your Newsagent.

A Complete play by Toller. Stories by Marsden, Gorky, Grant, and others.

32 Pages—Sixpence

COMMUNIST WORKERS' MOVEMENT, meetings to explain the policy of this movement, can be arranged on application to the Secretary, 152, Fleet Street, E.C.4.

W. McCARTNEY, 26, Pasley Road, Manor Place, Walworth Road, S.E.17, is starting a group of the Communist Workers' Movement. Those desirous of joining should communicate with him.

SYLVIA PANKHURST is booking provincial lecturing engagements.—Apply for dates to "Dreadnought" office, 152, Fleet Street.

To get the address of a good DENTIST apply to the undersigned, who discovered him through the "Dreadnought," and wants to pass on his discovery to other comrades, You will all need a dentist SOME DAY, so write a postcard NOW to R. Scott, Wayside, Capel, Surrey.

FOR SALE. - Engineer's Taper Guage, £1; Radius Guage, 7s. 6d. (Starrett's). Proceeds for "Dreadnought" Fund.

WANTED .- Second-hand copies: "How the War Came," by Lord Loreburn; "Economics for the General Reader" (Clay); "Brass Check" (Upton Sinclair), cheap edition; "Ancient Lowly" (Osborn Ward).

RATIONAL LIVING.

A radical, independent magazine for the workers, devoted to the teaching of rational methods of living in present society, always emphasising the socialeconomical-industrial background of wrong living. Stands for prevention of disease, for conservation of health, for drugless healing, and against all swindles in the healing professions. Special price for the readers of the "Workers' Dreadnought," 1.50 dol. (7/6 for 12 numbers). Our famous book, "The Child and the Home," by Dr. B. Liber, on the radical upbringing of children, special price for the readers of the "Workers' Dreadnought," 1.50 dol. (7/6). Address: Rational Living. 61 Hamilton Place, New

To the readers of

THE WORKERS' DREADNOUGHT.

All you have to do is to cut this coupon out and write your name and address in ink and send it to the "Workers' Dreadnought" Office, 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C.4., when you get 24 coupons.

Name:

Address:

WATCH THE "DREADNOUGHT

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

A blue mark in this space indicates that your subscription is now due.

The high cost of production of the paper necessitates prompt payment.

Published by E. Sylvia Pankhurst, at 152, Fleet Street, London, E.C. 4, and printed by the Agenda Press, Ltd. (T.U.), at 10, Wine Office Court, London, E.C. 4.