the city of Chicago has developed be-tween the two capitalist candidates in-interests of business. Life and happito a gigantic interrogation point. Both are asking questions; each are defying dies are proposed by Mr. Harlan or the other to reply, and it may not here Mr. Dunne? Let us ask them together: be awiss for the Socialists to ask Do they believe in the profit system? their questions of both Mr. Harlan and Yes. Do they believe in rent? Yes.

In a few things they will probably agree with the Socialists. They will perhaps agree that we live in the largest dirty city in the world; that our country; that the streets are filled with necessity of rubber boots or a canal boat, or even life preservers are proper equipments in many places; that the schools are inadequate and do not furnish sufficient accommodation for theusands of children; that during the onths of July and August thousands of children die from the heat in the baking ovens which their parents call homes, and in the winter shiver and freeze; that over one-half of the people of Chicago are burning coal oil in this age of electricity and gas, and that thousands of mer and women are almost dead from o' erwork, and, on the other hand, there are thousands who almost dead searching for work that the city, in drawing its contracts. tankes no provision for an eight-hour day or a minimum wage; that there are throughout the city, and in most wards there are not even playgrounds for children. Children are forced to play in the streets and dodge the trolley cars; that the city builds a magnificent building for books and permits its citizens to live in hovels. It has beautiful parks near the Lake Shore drive and Drexel boulevard, and fails to provide for a single blade of grass to delight the children of the poor, where the

The reason for this is self-evident. We are living in a great factory. The streets are the aisles and the wealth of the working class of Chicago, who are producing millions for those who live on Fifth avenue, New York, and spend most of their time in European travel, revelry or stock gambling. The law having been brought by the Compades: In accepting the nomi cation as candalate for Mayor of the ity of Chicago, on the Socialist Party ticker, I wish to thank you for the confidence placed in me. And I consider the nonlination on the Socialist ticket as one of the highest honors that can be given to a comrade in the party. If I am defeated in this election I will be more satisfied than if elected on the Democratic or Republican tickets, because the Socialist party stands for the liberation of the wage working class and all other par-ties stand for the enslavement of that I want to say that if the working en understood their class interest and put me in the Mayor's chair I would represent their interests only So I give warning to the capitalist and middle classes that if elected I will further the interests of the working class, who produce all the wealth of the nation. They till the soil, build the factories, and make the tools. But under this system, known as capital-ism, they don't own these things, and by not owning them they are dependent upon the people to whom these things belong to let them live. Those to whom the hard, factories and machines belong are known as the capitailst class. This class produces nothing useful, but they live on the sweat the working class. That means that the capitalists rob the workers and the workers let them rob them. Why do I say that the workers let the capitalists con them? Because the Democratic and Republican parties believe in the system that compels a to work so bard that they can hardly go outside the door after they reach home at night. And these parties stand for the private ownership of the land, factories and tools with which the working class most work in order to live. Now, I say to you working men; Just ask yourselves what have you got to lose by voting the Socialist ticket? Nothing chains, masters and their flunkles, capitalists, fandlords, usorers, brokers, real estate dealers, insurance n drummers, jobbers, wholesalers, retallvants, officials, policemen, detectives, lawyers, sports, gamblers, criminals and their keepers. Socialism will do away with all these barnacles that Both the Democratic and Republisites should live on the backs of the ing to the hunco game the old party politicians have been giving you for many years, and at every election they have something new so as to fool yen. the working class. So this time they are trying to fool you once more with municipal ownership of street cars. Harlan says, "Wait for a few years and we will take them." Dunne says: "Let us buy them now. We will pay Se coo coo dellars." Working me they will try and make you believe all this is for your interest. But whether it is Dunne or Harlan you put lupower, your condition will remain the

for an example. Dr. Taylor, the main-spring of the Democratic party, says that the water department gave one million and one-half dollars to cut down the taxes. We will admit that. But what good did it do the working class? That is what they intend to do when they get the street cars.

Yes, we have the water department, fire department, public schools, and police department owned by the city. But Fisk at the department stores, factories, cotton and silk mills, mines and sweat shops. The child workers of the above places belong to the working class, and are not in school, where they should be. Poverty compels their parents to send them to work. And this is all that Dunne has to offer us. We will let the working class ride cheaper to these factories and sweat shoes. That means less wages for the worker, believe that all improvements should and will be for the benefit of the working class if you workers elect the Socialist candidates. Every vote that is counted at this election for the So-cialist party is a ball in the coffin of capitalism. So working men, think be-fore you vote. Read the Socialist platform, and if you do, and do it estly, you will vote for the Socialist party, which means to do away with blood of men, women and children of the working class. Vote for your own interest. Vote for Socialism.

Good campaign material can be as quired by comrades if they will only earefully peruse the speeches of Democratic and Republican candidates and spellbinders. So far they have all estified that each of their parties is full of grafters, boodlers and bribers who are not to be trusted so long as there may be any franchises or other means of gratifying their greed for graft and gold. Before the end of the campaign it will have been firmly es ished that many of the leaders of both sides have long since carned reerved seats in the peritentiary, if not in hades. But if all of these were con vieted of their crimes the State would have to build many more peniten-

VALUE." Stuttgart. Deets, 1880. Schmidt seeks to reconcile the details of the formation of commodity prices with the theory of value and with the average rate of profit. The industrial capitalist receives in his product, first. a compensation for the capital advanced by him, and second, a surplus product for which he has not paid anything. But m order to earn this surplus product, he must advance capital for its productionthe most employ a certain quantity of materialized jeher for the purpose of appropriating this surplus product. For the capitalist, the capital advanced by applies to every industrial capital Now, since commodities, according This to the theory of value, are exchanged for one another in proportion to the scial labor required for their production and since the labor necessary for th nanufacture of the capitalist surplus pr act is accumulated in the capital of the empiritiest, it follows, according t Schmidt, that surplus products are ex-cleanged in proportion to the capital required for their production, and not in proportion to the labor actually embodied in them. Accordingly, equal capitals yield equal profits in equal times, and this is accomplished by adding the cost price of the surplus product, figured on he basis named, that is to say, the av erage profit, to the cost price paid for the commodities. And the paid and unpaid product are listh sold at this in-creased price. Thus the average rate of profit arises, in spite of the fact that, according to Schmidt, the average prices

This is a very ingenious construction It is made entirely after the Hegelian model, but it has this in common with model, but it has this in common with the majority of the Herelian construc-tions that it is not correct. It makes no difference whether the surplus pro-duct or the paid product is considered if the thesery of value is to be applied directly to the average profit, both of these products must be sold in proportion to the socially necessary labor en-bodied in them. The theory of value aimed at the very outset against the idea derived from the capitalist mode of thought, that the accumulated labor of the past, embodied in capital, not only represents a definite quantity of finishes values, but is also the creator of values a source of more value than it has itself seeing that it is an element in produc-tion and in the formation of profit. The theory of value demonstrates that living labor alone has this faculty of creating surplus value. It is well known that the capitalists expect to reap equal profits in proportion to the magnitude of their capitals, that they regard the capital advanced by them as a uses this conception as a means of har monizing the prices, figured on the basis of the average rate of profit, with the theory of value, he suspends this theory altogether by embodying in it a determining factor which is at variance wit

SOCIAL CONDITIONS.

A Graphic Contrast Between the Luxurious Life of Factory Owners and Pactory Workers

The last lecture by Comrade Minnick was a study of "Forty-Seventh ist vote. The oncoming tide of So Street." It is safe to say that even cialist sentiment is the only thing those who had lived near that street for years and traveled its length many how much was to be seen in that locality.

The luxury of the Lake Shore end gradually faded into the horrors of Judge Dunne, who wants to pay $80. manufacturing conditions. The mur-000,000 for a lot of old scrap iron and derous surroundings of the Stockyards were shown as they could not have been seen by any number of conven tional "visits" to that locality. came a set of such startling illustrations of the 'dump' and "Bubbly you would be most likely to get it Creek" that one could almost smell or Harlan? the foul odors that we knew must come from such messes, In the midst of this mighty capackeeping the part of the city where Mr. are turned into pack-horses, and it Harian, Mr. Dunne and their class live doubtless came as a surprise to those Harlan, Mr. Dunne and men classifier who are not familiar with making the such nice shape? Just consider who are not familiar with hard read who have their campaign existence with horror of the conditions in some classifier where women are haras well as living labor, and in that case the theory of value is not valid. Or, accumulated labor does not create or value is not valid.

Or, accumulated labor does not create any value. Then Schmidt's demonstration is question was Dr. Connad value.

Schmidt, in his pamphlet entitled "THE AVERAGE HATE OF PROFIT, BASED ON MARX'S THEORY OF VALUE," Stuttgart, Dietz, 1883. find as nearly as possible a mathematical formula, which would permit him to harmonize the average perice of any individual commodity with the theory of value. But though he strayed into a by-puth, when he had gotfen so close to his goal in the man are the second of the strayed into a by-puth. in this one question, he nevertheless proves by the other contents of his namphlet that he possessed the faculty of drawing very intelligent con-from the two first volumes of ' TAL' He deserves credit for He deserves credit for having found the correct explanation for the hitaerto inexplicable decreasing tendency the capitalist, the capital advanced by him represents the quantity of material-ized labor which is accially necessary for the production of his surplus product, has also shown by what means the commercial profit is derived from industriat law, such, for instance, as the com-curplus value, and he has made a series mand of a federal judge. The late of statements relative to interest and Judge Jackson made a careful distincground rent, by which he anticipated many things, which Marx developed in the fourth and fifth section of the third volume of "CAPITAL."

In the "NEUE ZEIT" 1892-93, Nos. 5 and 5. Schmidt later on tried a different way to solve this question. It amounts to this. According to him, it is competition which results in the aver age rate of profit, by inducing capital to emigrate from branches of production with profits below the average to other branches with profits above the average. Now it is not a new idea that competi-tion is the great equalizer of profits. But Schmidt now tries to demonstrate that this equalization of profits is identical with the reduction of the selfing prices of commodities, produced in excess, to of commodities, produced in excess, to a price level which society can afford to pay for them on the basis of the they of value. The statements of Mary volume III, show clearly enough, why ory of value, s attempt cannot lead to any solution, After Schmidt, P. Fireman attempted solution (Conrad's Jahrbucher, third eries, III., page 793). I do not enter discussion of his remarks relate other points of Marxian economics. He argues in most of them from the mistaken premise that Marx is defin-ing in certain places, when he is in reality only deducting, and that we may look in the works of Marx for perfect definitions which are valid under all cir cumstances and at all times. But it is a matter of course that so long as things and their interrelations are not regarded as fixed, but rather as transient, their reflexes in the human mind, the human conceptions of them, must also be subject to change and transformation; that conceptions must not be incarcerated in rigid forms, but must rather be developed out of their historical, or logical, pro

If we keep this in mind, it will be plain, why Marx, in the beginning of his first volume, takes his departure from the simple commodity production, why he makes this his historical starting point, in order to arrive further along at capital—why he begins with a simple commodity instead of a form which is logically and historically a secondary pro-duct, such as the capitalistically modified Fireman does not grasp "Christmas on the Dump" was a cut that caused a choking sensation to come up in the throat, as the audience looked upon the pitiful picture of the helpless children of the workers who were compelled to pick their Christmas trees and presents from that unsavory locality. VULGAR TO BE HUNGRY.

W. J. Ghent and the editor of the Nebraska Independent, the Populist organ, are having a scrap over Ghent's Mass and Class." The quarrel has an amusing aspect.

Mr. Ghent proposes a very simple plan, viz., Socialism, where mankind may feed itself properly.

The Independent worries itself almost insane over Mr. Ghent's plan, not on the ground that it would not work, that poverty would be abolished by it, but because it is "materialistic." is such a vulgar thing to talk about your stomach when you have not yet saved your immortal soul, is the gist of the Independent's argument.

I suspect that the trouble with the Independent is its fear that Socialism does not promise a future where the farmer has all the world at his feet begging for bread.

Mr. Ghent wants neither beggars nor masters, not even "Independent" But we do not think the farmer wants to be a master; he merely wants equality, and this is what Socialism promises him -Wilshire's Magazine. The Standard Oil Company, against to observe in a factory or mining tow the number of maimed and disabled the number in hospitals, to say noth ing of the vast number of workingmen worn out and case aside at 30 or 40 years of age, in order to appreciate the guaranty of personal security Even the right to reputation, specifically mentioned by Blackstone as protect ed by the law, does not avail the workingmen at the time he mest needs it. When in search of a "job" he often finds that his name has been put on a blacklist and he has no remedy, although no offense has ever been proved or even charged against him.

The second of these absolute rights of individuals is that of "personal liberty." According to Blackstone, it con sists in "the power of locomotion, of banging situation, or moving one person to whatsoever place one's own idelination may direct without impris oment or restraint unless by due course of law." And here it must be conceded that the workingman has amopportunity of moving about, ever if he must travel by freight train; he ai o "changes situation" as often as he likes (or oftener); his liberty is not restrained except by due process of law, such, for instance, as the comtion between persons who were "known as professional agitators, or ganizers and walking delegates" (such as Mother Jones and others) and "quiet, well-disposed people who do not want to be disturbed.' The formér he regarded as "vampires" and "busybodies." Against such it is conceded that the common law affords no protection but the power of a court of "equity" can be invoked for that The workingman is, under the law, given the same rights for travel and enjoyment as the employer. He, too, can take a trip to California or to Plorida when it is cold and to Alaska or Hudson Bay when it is hot. He is in no danger of "imprisonment or restraint." The only restraint is in usually not having the price. The third absolute right inherent in every Englishman is that of property, consisting, according to Blackstone, "In the free use, enjoyment and disposal of all his acquisitions." Regarding the origin of private property Black-stone guardedly states only that it is "probably founded in nature," adding that "the method of conserving it in the present owner is, however, entirely derived from society." Under the natural rights theory the original conception of property seems to have been that ownership rested on creation or production, by which it would of course vest in the worker. However, by some subtile reasoning "creation" came to mean "acquisition." Applied to the workingman, Blackstone's definition of the right to property contains a fine piece of irony. The workingman "cre ates" p operty, but he does not "ac quire" it. Property having been "cre ated" by the workingman is "acquir ed" by the capitalist. "Acquisition" and not "production" appears to be the foundation of property rights un der the law.

It is scarcely necessary to say that "protection to property" means ection to the property of the capitalist class." The personal property in the hands of individual workers seldom exceeds the legal minimum, viz., that allowed by the exemption laws, and hence reeds no protection (the theory of the exemption law being that the minimum is allowed in order to limit the burden upon the taxpayers of poor rates and pauperism).

Labor is, however, regarded as property, and in the protection of this the workingman is carefully defended, not only by the common law but by constitution and statute. For instance, a law of Wisconsin prohibiting a corporetion from discharging a man be-cause of membership in a labor union was held unconstitutional as destroy-A law of Indiana requiring payment of wages weekly was held to be an "arbitrary invasion of personal rights and tended to degrade the workingmen and place them under guardianship."

A statute of Kansas requiring ment of wages in cash was held to "invidiously distinguish the working man from other citizens, infringing upon the free exercise of his right to trade his labor for whatsoever he may see fit." A law of California providing for enforcement of wage claims by a lien was regarded as "class legisla tion" and was said to "treat an intelligent workingman as an imbeclie." A law of Ohio preventing a company from requiring a waiver of claims for personal injuries in the acceptance of benefits from a relief fund in the opinion of the United States Circuit Court, "took away from a large number of citizens a privilege which is dear to all, namely, that of making contracts concerning their own labor."
It deprived them of "liberty" and "of the right to exercise the privileges of manhood without due process of law." Such is the watchful care of the courts for the real interests of the working.

Such has been the working out of the doctrine of natural rights and liberties in a society in which adminis-tration is carried on by the capitalist class. It need hardly be said that laws made and interpreted by workingmen, based on their conception of what is natural and right, would be vastly diffecent. M. H. CITY PLATFORM.

Platform Adopted by the Socialist Party of Chicago at the City Convention, Heid March 8th, 1905. for the Ensuing Municipal Election in Chicago.

The Socialist Party of Chicago, in convention assembled, reaffirms its allegiance, the principles of Socialism, its adherence to the national platform as adopted by a Socialist Party of America, at the convention held at Chicago, in May, 1904, and clares fiself to be in entire accord with the program adopted by the representates of the International Socialist movement, at the International Congress, held at insteadam, Holland.

declares itself to be in entire accord with the program adopted by the representatives of the International Socialist movement, at the international Congress, held at Amsterdam. Holland.

We reassert our convictions, that as a result of prevailing industrial conditions in the United States, as well as throughout the civilized world, society is te-day divided into two distinct classes with diametrically opposed and irreconclable interests. That we have, broadly stated, on the one hand, the property owaing and non-producing class, while on the other, the non-owning and producing class. That this condition is a result of the private ownership of the means of production and distribution.

We declare that the Socialist Party has for its aim the abolition of classes in society, and the establishment of a system of society, where every individual will be guaranteed equal rights and opportunities, and that this can only be brought about by the abolition of private ownership of the means of production and distribution, and the establishment of the co-operative commonwealth.

We recognize that under conditions as they exist to-day, the working class is the class whose historic mission it is to establish a society having for its foundation the principles of co-operative social production in order to guarantee prize distribution. That every class struggle is a political struggle, and that while society is divided into classes the administration of novernment is exercised by the class holding the reins of government, in its own interests and acainst the interests of the class dominated by it. That the Republican and Democratic parties have been the arms through which the capitalist class has been exercising the governmental powers of Nation, State and Municipality, in its own interests and acainst the interests of the class dominated by it. That the Republican and Democratic parties have been the arms through which the capitalist class has been exercising the present; and that the working class has been entirely unrepresent measures:

First—The city to acquire municipal ownership of the means of transportation, and to operate the same with a view to rendering improved service to the community, and improving the condition of the workers engaged in the transportation industry.

Second—We are unqualifiedly opposed to the granting of any franchise to any musity, and improving the condition of the workers engaged in the transportation industry.

Second—We are unqualifiedly opposed to the granting of any franchise to any person or corporation for the purpose of carrying on any industry for the operation of which a franchise is required, holding that such industry is to be carried on by the city itself, for the benefit of its inhabitants.

With this as our program of action for the municipality and with Socialism as our final aim and purpose, we repeat our call to the working class to recognize its true interests and the important part that is assigned to it in history, to be the emancipator of mankind, and to establish a system of true freedom and brotherhood among men, to enroll under the banner of interpoational Socialism, and to work for the establishment of the co-operative commonwealth.

they nave been elevated long ago, and in the when the Socialist Alderman in the free gi City Council asked that the railroad be compelled to pay the city what was due on account of not elevating said tracks, the amount running into mililons of dollars. You remember how the Democrats and Republicans enforced this law. They simply laughed at the idea; they thought it was only a joke to compel a railroad to obey the law. But supposing some of us that own our two by-four houses failed to pay our taxes of about twenty dollars, do you suppose they would excuse us? Not on your life. You would either have to pay up or they would take your lifet'me saving away from you, and the Democrats and Republicans

It is up to us workingmen to show want, and we are learning very fast how to get it. The firemen, the men who piace their lives in danger, that risk them every day saving life and property, are snubbed when they ask for reasonable hours of duty and de-cent living conditions, which would m to spend some time with their families,

Our street car service is about as bad as anything under capitalism. What care the politicians about how workingmen get to and from work The men riding on the various lines are The men riding on the various lines are packed, pushed and jostled along any and every old way. But that, as had as it is, is not any worse than the fact that 96 per cent of what we cat or drink is adulterated, prepared with different kinds of preparations, poisoning our families by degrees, so that if the railroads don't kill you, or if they don't smother you by compelling you to work in an atmosphere in a factory that isn't fit for the roughest kind of animals to live in, why, then they shorten your lives by poisonous foods.

TWELFTH WARD WORKERS AT- The average life of a workingman today is very short. We hear so much about the prevalence of consumption and the medical profession knows that the only way to combat or prevent it is to give mankind more time to spend in the open air and bask in nature's free gift of the rays of the sun, and eat nothing but pure, wholesome food, and avoid adulterated food of all descriptions.

We ask the workingmen how they expect doctors to cure them of disease or prevent ill health when they are locked up in illy ventilated factories see the sun, except on Sunday?

The Socialists point out to the work ers that with all of our wonderful labor-saving and modern productive ma chinery that the only thing that stands working a few hours to provide the material necessities of life-food, clothes, houses, books, clean and decent entertainment and ample time to enjoy these flings, and develop our possibilities to their fullest capabilit, is the fact that all the means of life are to-day privately owned and the workers have no access to them exthe present owners who operate the great wealth-producing plants only for the fact that there is only one reason why the workers create abundance of wealth and live in poverty, live miserable lives in the midst of plenty, and that is the lack of intelligent undergradies of scales.

that is the lock of intentigent under-standing of working class interests by the workers themselves. Once the workers come to understand their class workers come to understand their class interests and cae power of their united ballot there will soon be an end to this system that makes slaves of the class who produce all wealth.

We call upon all workers before rot-ing April 4th to carefully read the So-cialist platform and other Socialist campalgo. literature.

THE PARIS COMMUNE AND RUSSIAN REVOLT.

A Partial Report of Speech Delivered at the Commune Celebration at Brand's Hall. Sunday, March 19.

(By Thomas J. Morgan.)

The historic event we comm known as the Paris Commune, occur ed in 1871. The first the world knew of this occurrence was the story that a mob was robbing, burning public mildings, descrating the church murdering the priests in Paris; that ifter a great struggle law and order had been re-established and the mot suppressed and justly pumshed. This story was believed because it was told by Washburne, the American minister in Paris, and other equally prominent persons in the world's affairs

The real story was told later by th Socialists and others who were participants in the Commune, and is now known by all the people in France and by millions in other nations. This story tells us that the word Commune means a political division which in cludes Paris. That on the capture of Emperor Napoleon by the Germans. and the collapse of his government the citizens of Paris by a vote of 285. 000 elected a city government and declared for a republican form of government for France; that a seif-appoint d government of capitalists condemned this republican government of Paris, destroyed it by force of arms. and after every armed "communist" had been killed or made prisoner, the victors murdered 30.000 men, women and children. These victims of French capitalism were marched through Paris to the cemetery and there ar ranged on the brink of trenches, sho by the hundred at a time and nurled dead and alive into the trenches which served as graves.

This horrible slaughter was indorse by the governments of Europe and United States for the purpose of terrifying the discontented workers of the world and to prevent the rise of So dalism in Europe. From this sacri fice of the workers of Paris there ros an influence which is linking the work ers in class conscious array; has armed them with such knowledge and mean of information that misrepresentation such as that which hid the truth of the Paris Commune will be impossible in

The activity of 30,000,000 of Social ists has changed the thought of the world; the falsehoods of government officials and priests are quickly made known to willing ears ready to hear

Twenty-three years ago the civilized world was shocked BY THE KILL ING of Alexander the good. Now the news that a Russian minister, a grand duke and a hundred lesser Russian offi-cials and aristocrats have been killed and that the Czar had to hide away to save his life, is received with compla-cency, if not with approval, as the logpenalty which tyrants must pay for their criminal oppression.

A few weeks ago prominent Americans in Chicago noted for their respect for law and order, opened the doors of the Auditorium for the revolutionist, Madame Breshkovski, introduced ber to a great mass meeting of Americans who appleteded her declaration that she was a revolutionary Socialist and was seeking with other revolutionists to destroy Russian despotism. I ad dressed the same meeting and made the following remarks, which are appropriate to the present occasion:

The principles and aims of Socialists same the world over. All So cialists agree that to be free the workers must understand the principle of workers must possess the means of life by possessing the means of labor for one short minute. "Would grant me a not the results of their states of the short minute." and the results of their toil. That while the right to speak, meet, write and vote is essential, yet freedom is not attained till the means of labor and of life are owned and controlled by the people organized into a co-op erative commonwealth. The means used by Socialists to at tain this end necessarily differ under the dissimilar conditions in different nations. In the United States, where the masses need but to exercise their political power to attain the desire end. Socialists rely on intellectual agi tation to develop this power and there fore refuse to countenance the advo-cacy of physical force. But in Russia conditions are different. To advocat Socialism there is a crime; there the agitator is hunted, caged and killed ence when we Socialists here learn of the capture, imprisonment and mur olutionists in Russia we grieve. And when we learn that one or more of those who are bunted have turned and killed the hunters, we rejoice, progress is made on the road to free dom only by the intellectual progres es, therefore where workers are free to organize and edu cate, and to freely express their thought, derrorism is a crime. But in where, in the name of relig ion and law and order, the ears of th workers are stopped, their eyes blind folded, their tongues tied and their limbs bound, when in their efforts to elease themselves from these bond they kill some or all of their tyrants we American Socialists will rather rejoice than condemn. The pages of history glow with the names of those who, like Washington, cut less gailing bonds with the sword. The Fresident of the United States is closer to the hearts of the American people because as a Rough Rider he helped to kill the tyrunny of Spain in the island of Cuba, Therefore consistency requires the American people as citizens of a republic created by a revolution to reoice over the rising revolution in Rus sis, and to strengthen the hearts and bands of the Russian revolutionists, and to ask the members of Congress and the President of this nation to sus pend all official relations with Russia,

So while we Socialists meet here to evere and honor the memory of the revolutionists that died in the Comnune of Paris, we also give our ready sympathy and encouragement to the living revolutionists in Russia wish them complete success in their efforts to destroy Russian despatism.

A Talk with Life.

Bp Maxim Gorky.

Two men who had been deceived by Life, so wild and so pitiless, once stood before her face to face.

"What do you want of me?" asked

One of them answered in low tones is follows: "The cruelty of your contradictions appears revolting to me my mind tries in valu to solve the riddle of existence; and my spirit is velled by the darkness of doubt. But my reason tells me all the time that man is the most perfect being in all crea-

"What do you seek from me?" interrupted Life, with sphinx-like face.
"I want happiness." And in order that I may be able to realize it, I must conciliate the two opposed principles want' agree with 'You ought.' "

"You have simply to desire what you ought to do for me, answered Life in rather barsh tones.
"No: I cannot desire to be your vie tim." cried the man. "I who would like to rule you. I am condemned to ive under your laws. Why?"

"Don't talk so boldly," entreated his empanion, who stood a little nearer o Life. "Don't talk so boldly!" But without paying attention the

"I claim to have the right to live in armony with my ideals. I do not wish to be compelled either to be the brother or the slave of my neighbor. I want to be either brother or slave at my own sweet will, obeying only my own inclinations. I cannot be happy while Society disposes of me as a kind of lifeless stone which is only good to build up the prison walls of the common good. I am a man, I am a spirit, and I ought to be free!"

"Say no more," remarked Life," with a cold smile. "You have said a great deal, and anything you could add would be simple platitude. You de mand liberty? Why do you not fight for it? Try a battle with me! Sup-pose you are victorious! Become my master and let me be your slave! You know with what resignation I yield to my conqueror! But you must conquer first! Do you feel able to cross swords with me in order to free your self from your chains? Do you feel sure that you will triumph over me! Have you confidence in your own

And the man replied with a very couraged look on his countenance

"You have forced me to an inner battle with my own seif. Your words like a keen blade, it plunges its edge deeper into my soul and wounds me all the time."

Speak to her more boldly," pleaded his companion; "don't begin to whimper!

But the man continued: "Would happiness?

Life had now a fresh smile, like the cold sheen of ice. "Tell me," said she, "do you ask this of me as a favor?

"I ask it as a favor." answered the man, like an echo

"Then you speak as a beggar! But know, poor fellow, that Life never bestows aught from motives of charity. And then, don't you remember, you are a free man, and you can with your own right hand take away my gifts from me! But you—you are only the obedient slave of my will! He alone is free who knows how to give up everything else in order to fix his heart on some chosen goal. Have you understood? * * * And now, go!" The man had understood, and now, like an obedient dog, he crouched humbly at the feet of Life, and licked the rumbs which fell from the table.

But the asture face of Life turned away from the groveller, and sought the man who had not yet asked any question of her. He had a heavy face. but his look was kind. "What do you want to get?" de manded Life. "I ask nothing. I demand some thing as a right."

"What can that be?"

"Justice! Where can Justice be found? Give me Justice; I know afterwards how to get at everything else! At present I only seek for Jusand patiently, out in the night with sleepless eyes! I have waited—but the hour has at length come! Where is

"Take Justice!" answered Life, with the same sphinx-like face.

A committee of three was named to examine into validity of petitions. The secretary was ordered to reut Brand's Hall for use in receiving returns on election night. Reports of meetings from each of the wards were then taken, showing great activity. The following motion was carried: That the campaign com mittee request ward committees not to Issue any campaign documents for the use of wards, but to use those issued by the city campaign committee. The Twenty second Ward leadet was then read and offered for indorsement, but the motion was lost, Meeting then adjourned for week, to meet Friday, March 24, at Jung's Hall 106 K, Randolph streat. C. L. B.

The Socialist meetings held in different parts of the city during the past week have been largely attended by enthusiastic audiences of the Chicago wageworkers. The collections were good and the greatest enthusiasm prevalled at every gathering. Everything at present points to a large Socialist vote on April 4. Many persons have been asking the question, Will the Socialists be able to hold the big vote of last fall? We see no reason why it should not be not only held, but iargely increased, if every Socialist will do his duty in placing the Socialist position squarely before the workers of Chicago during the next two weeks.

Arvid G. Erlando, Socialist candiate for Alderman of the Seventeenth Ward, is by trade a shoeworker and s president of Local 213 of Chicago Boot and Shoewerkers' Union Born in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1870, he became a Socialist sympathizer at the age of 15, through much reading during his school years and listening to speeches by propagandists of the carly Swedish working class movement. His father, who was a retired farmer, gave the boy a liberal education. Intending that his son should be come a scientific farmer, he entered the boy at the Lidsta Agricultural college after be had completed his pri-mary and high school studies.

Two years of studying agriculture convinced the young man that farming was not to his liking. Then he aboudoned his studies and went to work being variously employed in the Swedish capital until he embarked for the United States in 1890, Making his home in Worcester. Mass., he soon received employment in one of the shoe factories, where he learned his part of the shoeworkers trade-that of laster. During his stay in Massachusetts he was instrumental in organizing several Socialist educational clubs among his fellow workers In 1902 be came to Chicago, taking up his trade in shoe factories here. He now is employed in one of the largest factories in Chicago. Upon his arrival here he immediately joined the Social ist party and since then he has been actively identified with the movement for the emancipation of the working class from capitalism.

His services always are in demand by his ward organization because of his tact, judgment and honesty and sincerity of his convictions. Strong in his defense of the principles of union labor, he also has worked untiringly for the spread of Socialism among his tellow unionists.

In recognition of his ability his loca union successively has raised him from minor offices to the presidency of the ocal, in which capacity he now is serving his second term. Last year be represented his local in the national convention of the Boot and Shoework ers' Union at Cincinnati. He also has epresented his union in the Chicago Federation of Labor Juring two years As the Socielist candidate for State Representative in the Twenty-firs Senatorial District last fall, Comrade Erlando received a larger vote than was cust for an avowed "reformer." whose cause was espoused by two so cial settlements, Comrade Erlando is married and ives at 193 West Huron street. He stands squarely on the international Socialist program and on the manici pal platforin adopted by the Socialist city convention If elected he will prove a valuable representative of the working class in the City Council.

THE REGORDING ANGEL

To-day, March 25, is the last chance to take advantage of the special com-bination offer of the INTERNATION-AL SOCIALIST REVIEW one year and a copy of Brenholtz's novel, THE RECORDING ANGEL, both for a dellar. After to-day the price of either will be a dollar. Letters mailed to-day will be accepted as coming within the time limit.

this advertisement early in the week, and it will therefore be necessary for us to put on till next week the anement of the exact day when copies of THE RECORDING ANGEL will be ready for delivery. Our present expectation is that they will be ready on the 29th, but the promises of printers and binders under capitalism are notoriously uncertain, and we may be disappointed. The advance erders already received amount to over 500 copies, nearly all to separate addresses, so that it will take us some days to fill all the orders after the

THE EVOLUTION OF MAN. This illustrated book by Wilhelm

Boelscher, translated by Ernest Untermann, is fully described in the last column of last week's Chicago Socialist. Type is now being set on it, and we expect to have it ready April 20, The price will be fifty cents. Send this amount now and you will get the book when published, and will also get three different Issues of the International Socialist Review, and four different issues of the Pocket Library of Socialism. Chicago readers are requested to call at our office if possible, instead of sending by mail. Those who call may make their own selection of magazines and booklets under this offer.

"MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP." There is urgent demand just now for some concise statement of the Socialist position on the question of municipal ownership. Nothing better can be had at present than two issues of the Pocket Library of Socialism, No. 16, Socialists in French Municipalities, translated from official reports, and No. 24, What the Socialists Would Do if They Won in This City, by A. M. Simons. These booklets sell for five cents each, and our stockholders get them at eighty cents a hundred by calling for them, or a dollar a hundre I postpaid. Only a few of the ward branches of Local Chicago have as yet subscribed for stock. This is probably because the plan is not yet generally understood, since a very little activity on the part of a branch in selling Socialist books will make enough profit on sales to pay for the stock and turn a surplus into the treasury of the branch. Most important of all, the sale of the literature of international Socialism will strengthen the party far more than giving leaflets

ABOUT LEAFLETS.

If you want leaflets, however, we have them at a small fraction of what they cost elsewhere. We have on haud between forty and lifty thousand fourpage leaflets, of five different titles-Who Are the Socialists? Labor Polities, Why Join the Socialist Party. Socialism Defined by Socialists, and Compensation. While they last we offer them at thirty cents a thousand. if called for at our office or sent at purchaser's expense; sixty cents a SOCIALIST STICKERS. We have these in packages of 200 essorted, 25 each of eight kinds, for 25 cents; 1,000 assorted for a dollar. Stockholders get 200 for 15 cents, or 1,000 for 60 cents. Those who have tried them know they bring results. Local Joliet used 5,000 last fall,

"FORRIDDEN BOOKS." This is the title of a sixteen-page booklet containing a little introduction addressed to laborers, and descriptions of the most important Socialist propaganda books. We can supply these booklets with our name on or with the lower half of the front page left blank for 15 cents a hundred; no cheaper by the thousand. Or we can supply them with a special address printed on the front page at 30 cents for the first hundred and 20 cents for each additional hundred. If to be sent by mail, to cents a hundred must be added for postage. Watch this column next week. CHARLES E. KERR & COMPANY, 56 Fifth Avenue, Chicago,
